Specimen Book of Railings sent by Mail. T. F. BAKER. 275 FIFTH ETREET, CINCINNATI, O. IMPORTANT TO THOSE USING STAR CANDLES.

THE attention of the public is invited to the fact, that most of the Star Candles offered for sale are DEFICIENT IN WEIGHT, so that what freeld for a pound actually weight but fourteen or fifteen ounces, and psckages marked "40 lba." fall short two, three and even five pounds per box. This loss does not fall upon the wholesale dealers, who sell packages at Marked William; nor upon he retailers, who sell by Coons, but upon the consumers, who thus pay for about one-tenth more than the receive. enth more than they receive. The subscribers have always made their Can les full sixteen ounces to the pound, and mark paykages at their real weight, which may be ascertained by tes ing them. As their experience in the business enables them to offer an article equal in quality to any in the market, they solicit the patronage schasses who desire to study their own interest, and, at the same time, encourage correct dealing, PROCTOR & GAMBLE, Circinnati.

Is published monthly in the City of Baltimore, M4., BY S SANDS & WORTHINGTON. A new volume commences in July, 1856, which will be the 188th year of its existence; and at no period since its establishment has it enjoyed a greater popularity, and a more powerful influence to good in behalf of the great producing classes of our country, than at the present time.

It is contemplated to make such improvements in the work, commencing with the new volume, as the spirit of the age may seem to require, and the editors must rely on increased support to justify the additional outlays that will be needed for the purpose. needed for the purpose.

A steadily increasing subscription list has been enjoyed by the "Farmer" since the commencement of the present series, embracing the most eminent farmers and planters of the United States; but more particularly has its access been attained in the Middle, Southern, and Southwestern States; the large number of he readers in these sections, has made it peculiarly desirable as an advertising medium, which has rendered it necessary to increase the number of pages during the past year more than 50 per cent, in order that too great an amount of space should not be abstracted from the great an amount of space should not be assirated from the usual reading department.

The editors would most respectfully call upon the old and well-tried friends of their journal, to lend a beining hand in the extension of its circulation, with the full confidence that net only will a favor be conferred upon them, but also that these who may be induced to peruse its pages, will be the reclaiments of the benefits that are mouthly dispensed to all engaged in the cultivation of the soil.
