

National Republican. WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 4, 1866.

Deferred Matters. The following articles and items of news, and others which appear elsewhere in our paper this morning, were in type for yesterday's issue, and were crowded out by the President's Proclamation of Peace.

Personal Rights. Mr. Fugillan was introduced into the House, on Monday, a bill to secure to citizens of the United States the right to sue through, remain, or take permanent abode, or hold property in any State or Territory in the Union, free from excessive impositions or taxation, with the same immunities as citizens of the State. It punishes the deprivation, whether by threats or violation, of these privileges, in any case, by fine not exceeding $3,000, and imprisonment not exceeding three years, or both. It punishes with death the murder of such citizens of the United States, and subjects the principal and his abettors to responsibility for damages to personal representatives of the deceased, and for maintaining or covering up the same for five years imprisonment, and ten thousand dollars may be adjudged against the principal or his abettors. No unpardoned rebel shall have the benefit of this act.

Foreign News. The steamer "Waverley" with Liverpool advices to the 21st ult. has arrived. Recent apprehensions of war had been removed at Vienna, it was stated; but the London "Post" says it has reason to believe that the treaty is not yet concluded, since Sunday declarations of a resounding character have been received from Berlin by the Austrian Government, and that the apprehensions of a war between the great German Powers have been removed, are totally incorrect, and that the relations between the two Powers continue very critical.

The German Journals continue to represent the relations of Austria and Prussia as very threatening. The London Times directs attention to the critical state of affairs. It says that Bismarck has thrown off his mask, and the Ducles are to be annexed to Prussia. Preparations for war are progressing on both sides. In both capitals military operations are being conducted, and the plans of campaign discussed. The funds are depressed in the various European markets by these threatening rumors.

The Spanish Government has raised the state of siege in New Castle. In the House of Commons the Irish Attorney General declared that the late Lord Clarendon had stated that he apprehended a Fenian invasion. Several land owners had applied for permission to arm and drill their tenants, but the Government had refused to issue the necessary licenses. The London Times at last admits that "frightful and unjustifiable" crimes were committed in Jamaica, and that the late Lord Clarendon had stated that he apprehended a Fenian invasion.

A JUST ESTIMATE OF TWO PUBLIC MEN. Harper's Weekly (Geo. W. Curtis, editor), contains the following just estimate of WILLIAM FITZ FENDESS and THOMAS STEVENS. Unquestionably, Mr. Fenness represents the patient common-sense of the Union party in this country. He is a man of a high order of intelligence, and is distinguished by a calmness and moderation that are not to be surpassed in any of our public men.

Nothing is more certain than that the calm good sense of the great Union party has strongly condemned the views and policy of Mr. Stevens, and his own instinct assured him of it in advance, and he said so in the first speech he made during the session, when he declared that he spoke for himself, and for the Union party. He is a man of a high order of intelligence, and is distinguished by a calmness and moderation that are not to be surpassed in any of our public men.

The indefatigable military State Agent of Massachusetts, Col. General Frazar, has recently sent to Surgeon General Dix a list of the names of Massachusetts soldiers killed within the department of Washington, since September 28, 1865. The list is a long one, and contains the names of many brave men who have fallen in the service of their country.

Major Jones, at Alexandria, received a call from a friend who, having been in Washington for some time, was naturally hungry. "Will you take a lunch?" asked the friend. Major Jones, who added, "I have come here to see you, and to see the 'National Republican'." "Don't think I can eat that," was the somewhat indignant reply.

settled and agreed to by the chiefs and headmen of said band. Now, therefore, be it known that I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States of America, do, in pursuance of the advice and consent of the Senate, as expressed in its resolution of the fifth of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, accept, ratify, and confirm the said Treaty with the amendment as aforesaid.

In testimony whereof I have signed the same with my hand, and have caused the seal of the United States to be hereunto affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this seventeenth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and of the Independence of the United States of America the ninety-first.

By the President: WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

ANDREW JOHNSON, President of the United States of America. Satisfactory evidence having been exhibited to me that ISIDORO MILLAS has been appointed Consul of Spain, at New Orleans, I do hereby recognize him as such, and declare him free to exercise and enjoy such functions, powers and privileges as are allowed to Consuls by the law of nations, or by the laws of the United States and existing treaty stipulations between the Government of Spain and the United States.

In testimony whereof, I have caused these Letters to be made Patent, and the Seal of the United States to be hereunto affixed. Given under my hand at the city of Washington, the thirtieth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the ninety-first.
