SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE.

Interesting Exercises at the Season's Year-Ending at the Congregational Church.

The Sunday-school institute yesterday was largely attended, and proved very interesting.

Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, the conductor, occupied the second normal hour with his lesson on "The Bible Lands."

Rev. A. E. Dunning, general Sunday-school secretary of the Congregational church, followed by an interesting address on "The Emphasis of Personal Character in Bible Teaching."

An address in harmony with his title. At night Mr. Ralph Williams of New York, addressed the institute on "The Teacher's Pastoral Work."

An essay full of graphic illustrations from personal experience. Twenty-five years ago Mr. Williams gave up his business and devoted himself to the work he is now engaged in, and has gathered a vast deal of experience.

Following him Mrs. Lizzie C. Roth gave her ideas and methods of primary teaching, after which came the "question drawer," which was managed by Mr. Wells.

Over fifty questions were propounded and answered, and the institute remained in session until 10:30 o'clock.

Today at 3:30 p. m. Rev. R. W. Meredith, who on last Saturday taught a Bible class of 3,000 persons, will conduct the teachers' meeting at 3:30 p. m.

The full programme for to-day is for the afternoon, third normal hour, "The Study of the Pupils' teachers' meeting, lesson, 'The Descending Spirit,' Acts 2:1-7.

Conducted by Rev. R. W. Meredith, D. D. of Boston. Mrs. Roth will hold a reception for primary teachers only in the pastor's study, and not in the lecture room, as stated on the programme.

In the evening the exercises will be addressed by Rev. W. J. Denney of New York, "How Sons are Won," and an address by Rev. R. W. Meredith, D. D. of Boston, "The Book We Study."

Mrs. Roth will hold another reception in the pastor's study for primary teachers only.

THE DETECTIVE SCANDAL.

Investigation by the Grand Jury—Reorganization of the Force.

The fact that the grand jury has actually taken hold of the matter of the theft of Miss Ellis's watch and jewelry and has examined some of the witnesses mentioned by THE REPUBLICAN, and propose to continue the investigation until the true facts of the case are ascertained and punishment meted out to the receivers and handlers of the stolen property, if possible, has caused a feeling of insecurity among the detectives.

They are, it is said, well satisfied that the district attorney and the grand jury mean business, and it is alleged that they are thoroughly informed of all the proceedings taken in the examination, although the sources of their information are not yet known.

It is also reported that all the cases that have been under investigation by the citizens' committee are now being carefully gone over, the extraneous matter taken out, and the evidence systematically arranged for presentation to the grand jury, so that an indictment may be made of them all in regular order at the earliest time possible.

It is understood that the details of privates to perform the duties of the detectives who have been detailed out of office will be reorganized by the first of February, but the plan of reorganization of the whole police force will not be completed by that time.

In regard to those who are to perform detective duty, it is reported that Lieut. Eckloff, who has been promoted to a prominent position, said to a REPUBLICAN reporter last night, alluding to a published interview with that officer, "It is not at all likely that the commissioners will have a man who has had charge of the detectives for the past five years, during which time nearly all of this alleged crookedness has been going on."

A TRIP TO BALTIMORE.

Made by the Ideal Opera Company and Some Newspaper Men.

At the invitation of Mr. John T. Ford a pleasant party, consisting of all the principal members of the Boston Ideal Opera company, representatives of the local and Baltimore, New York, and Philadelphia press, and a few others went to Baltimore yesterday to attend the professional matinee given by Mr. Charles Wyndham in his admirable company at Ford's Opera house in the Monumental city.

The excursionists went in special cars attached to 12:10 p. m. train, reaching the Opera house just as the performance commenced, and remained until 5 p. m. The performance consisted of Broughton's one-act comedy, "Ruth's Romance" and Byron's "Fourteen Days." Besides the excursionists from this city, there were professionals present from Philadelphia and New York, and all expressed themselves as highly pleased with the performance.

On the return trip Mr. Ford furnished a well appointed lunch, and all the ladies of the opera company were presented with handsome bouquets. Mr. James W. Morrill, representative of Wyndham, accompanied the Washington party.

Jansen Juggled.

Vigo Jansen Ross, the body snatcher, was tried in the police court yesterday for resurrecting the body of Charles Shaw from Potter's field. He was defended by E. K. D. Mayne. The witnesses against him were John Mack, the back driver, who testified that Jansen hired his hack early on the morning of the twenty-third instant; a representative of the Star, who identified the body as Shaw's; Dr. F. Shadd, who swore Jansen offered to sell him the body on Tuesday morning at the Freedmen's hospital; Jacob Smith and William Hicks testified that Jansen acknowledged the offense to them at the Georgetown Medical college, and refused to say whether he took it out of the grave. The prosecution had eleven months' imprisonment fixed at $1,000. In default of bail Jansen was committed to jail. From the commission of the offense to the conviction there were only a few days, showing that in this case justice was speedy.

The Late Richard Henderson.

In the death of Mr. Richard Henderson, announced in yesterday's REPUBLICAN, the business community has suffered a severe loss, and society a deep affliction. Mr. Henderson had been a prominent man in business for many years, and the center of a large circle of friends, who are deeply grieved at his sudden and untimely death. In all the relations of life he was an exemplar, and few men possessed, in an high degree, the faculty of winning and retaining friends. He was closely associated with the temperance cause for very many years, in which he was a zealous and faithful worker, and will be remembered for his success in his efforts at reforming the habits of our dissipated youth. He leaves a wife and one child. His funeral takes place to-morrow at 2 o'clock p. m. from his late residence, No. 1730 Fourteenth street.
