

A clear brain, a steady nerve, and a healthy body is the stepping stone to wealth.

Prof. A. J. DEXTER, THE WORLD'S Magnetic Conqueror of Disease.

The following comprises the ailments and diseases which I am prepared to treat and cure: Consumption, Bright's Disease, Pneumonia, all Kidney and Liver complaints, Paralysis, Rheumatism, Gout, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all affections of the mucous membrane, Dyspepsia, and all gastric annoyances, nervousness and nervous debility, whether hereditary or superinduced by excess, Heart Disease, all spinal affections, Urinary complaints, Epileptic Fits, Spasms, St. Vitus Dance, Protrusion Uteri, Varicose veins, Scrofula, Eczema, Piles, all diseases of women and children, Anchylosis, White Swelling, Gout, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, and Intermittent Fever, Deafness, Weak and Sore Eyes, and all malarial disturbances of the system.

I am also prepared to successfully treat those afflicted with the Alcoholic habit and to destroy the appetite for liquor, and to effect a cure of all those diseases of a special, peculiar, and dangerous character.

At my office I have letters, recommendations, and affidavits from hundreds of Patients of national and local standing throughout all sections of the country to substantiate my claims to public recognition as a successful healer in every feature of disease of which I claim to conquer.

I stand upon the basis which scores of the best people of Washington whom I have successfully treated furnished me, and whose recommendations are in my hands or at my parlors.

Let me be understood, I will give $10,000 to any charitable institution of this city as a forfeit, if any of the affidavits or letters published this morning shall be found otherwise than true, or as represented.

Through the cure of almost all diseases, and too wonderful to be believed, yet they have undoubtedly happened, for this accumulated testimony of well-known business men to my merits as a healer cannot be successfully disputed or cavilled at.

The afflicted all over the world are invited to send for a copy of this paper, which will be mailed free, and to read for themselves the testimony of sufferers whose ills have been entirely cured by my treatment. I am now so busy with patients seeking the aid of my skill that I am forced to make engagements for days in advance.

Let me be understood, I will give $10,000 to the poor of this city if the original testimonials, affidavits, etc., to the names published in this paper are not on file at my office and the newspaper notices published in this supplement are not genuine.

Consultation and Examination Free.

GOOD WORDS FROM THE PUBLISHERS OF THE WASHINGTON CITY PAPERS.

No class of men are so capable or quick to detect deception or unfairness as the publishers and business men of city newspapers, and the following letters of commendation, from the publishers and proprietors of the best papers in Washington, Dr. Dexter takes great delight in placing before the public.

Stamped With the Quality of Truth.

OFFICE OF THE CAPITAL, 1420 Pennsylvania Avenue—WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18, 1884.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER, 520 13th street—Dear Sir: The wonderful success you have achieved in the practice of animal magnetism during the short time you have resided in this city has become a subject of general comment. Some there are no doubt who declare with that emphasis so frequently born of ignorance that you are an impostor and not deserving of respectable consideration.

I have seen many testimonials from your patients, many of whom I know, and all of whom speak in the highest terms of your wonderful cures. If you deal as squarely and promptly with all the newspapers as we know you to have done with us, you will be the "petted child" of the American press, and your name will be known to every man, woman and child in this great city. And if all the folks whom you doctor tell the truth about you, and we have no doubt of it, your cures are miraculous and wonderful. If the world had a few millions of wide-awake men of energy like you, it would move along without half as many troublesome ups and downs.

Hastily yours, J. Q. THOMPSON & Co., Business Integrity and Medical Success Vouched for.

OFFICE EVENING CRITIC, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18, 1884.—Prof. DEXTER: In all our experience we have never had more pleasant business relations with any one than with you. Your bills have been promptly paid, generally paid in advance, and your business transactions have all been liberal, upright, and honorable.

A Good Deal of Surprise. THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN, April 14.—Dear Sir: The many testimonials which you presented to me on your arrival in this city from prominent newspaper men in the west have since found me too strong, and although it seems superfluous for me to do so with pleasure I add my name to the number who commend you for your remarkable ability as a healer, and for your honorable and square dealing in the large business transactions which you have conducted.

INCONESTESTIBLE FACTS.

Testimony from Many Patients in Washington City.

Only a Few Letters Picked from a Multitude.

Below are given a small part of the many letters written to Dr. Dexter by those who have been treated by him. The writers comprise people of the highest national and local standing, and the genuineness of each and every certificate is guaranteed. Read if not already convinced.

No Help from Dr. Dexter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23, 1884.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have been a sufferer from your kind and kind treatment. My case is well known to prominent physicians here and elsewhere. Some of note in this city considered it malignant and incurable or only palliative, but from my present rate of local improvement I have hope of being finally restored to the blessings of health, and more especially do I feel so when I find so many others recovering. This testimonial is given without solicitation on Prof. Dexter's part, but for the purpose of bringing to mind to my co-suffering sisters as a means of help. I am getting very much better and will cheerfully consult with any lady about my case. I have been kindly treated by Prof. Dexter, and have no hesitation in recommending him as an honorable physician. Respectfully, SARA J. WARREN, No. 303 Fourteenth street northwest.

Miraculous Cures.

WASHINGTON, March 22, 1884.—Prof. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have been troubled with consumption of the lungs for fifteen years. When I came to you I was in a wretched, emaciated, and was looked upon by my friends as incurable. After receiving six treatments from you I am entirely well, and never enjoyed better health in my life. I cannot thank you too much for what you have done for me. Respectfully yours, This lady's name and address can be obtained at my office. I will give $100,000 to the poor of Washington if the above account be not genuine. Prof. A. J. DEXTER.

Kidney Complaint.

WASHINGTON, March 22, 1884.—To Whom it May Concern: For over a year I have been troubled with kidney complaint, indigestion, and chronic stomach trouble. After three weeks' treatment by Prof. Dexter, the magnetic conqueror of disease, I now feel first-class; have a good appetite, sleep well, and my general health is as good as ever, and I am now able to go to my work as usual, feeling hale, hearty, and vigorous. D. CRANDALL, Minneapolis, Minn.

Trouble in Side and Head.

WASHINGTON, March 22, 1884.—Prof. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have been a sufferer for twelve years. My trouble was in my side and head. After receiving three treatments from you I am relieved from all pain and feel better than I have for five years. Respectfully yours, This lady is the daughter of the proprietor of Dexter's laundry.

A Daughter of a Prominent Lawyer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12, 1884.—Prof. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have been a sufferer from rheumatism for three years, and I have tried the usual popular medicines without obtaining relief. During the past six weeks, under your treatment, I have steadily improved, and feel confident that in a short time my old enemy will be thoroughly vanquished. Respectfully, MISS J. SIMPSON, 1015 L Street.

McKendree Chapel Convinced.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5, 1884.—Prof. DEXTER: I want to thank you for what you have done in Mrs. Haack's case. She had suffered for eight years with rheumatism, and had tried all the medicines without any number, and until I brought her to you she had received no permanent relief. She now feels better than at any time for years, and says she believes she would have died without your treatment and advice all who suffer from rheumatism to go to you at once. I have also to thank you for your generosity in treating her gratis, as she is poor, having spent her little all for medicines and doctors' fees. Yours, respectfully, Mrs. EDWARDS, 1015 L Street, McKendree Chapel, Residence 621 Mass. Ave., City.

The Son of the Late Hon. Frank Steele, of Minneapolis, Minn.

MARCH 22, 1884.—Prof. DEXTER—Dear Sir: Being an old resident of Minneapolis, Minn., and being well acquainted with numerous patients you have cured, I had great faith in your ability to cure me. I met with an accident about eight weeks ago that caused partial paralysis of the right side and concussion. After four treatments by you I have fully recovered the use of my arm and side and think my cure wonderful and indurable you as being all that you claim.

What a Department Lady Clerk Says.

WASHINGTON, March 22, 1884.—For nearly two years I have suffered with irritation of the spinal nerves and nervous prostration, the result of a fall. During that time I have been unable to walk even a short distance without pain and intense weakness in my back, amounting to faintness and paralysis, and making it impossible to get on my feet. A constant effort of will to keep at my desk and do my daily work. I have been treated by physicians in different parts of the country, and while my general health has been better, still my nervous system has not been regained the same. After a month's treatment by Dr. Dexter, I find myself able to walk a moderate distance without pain, faintness, or much fatigue. I can do a good day's work, not only without pain, but without exhaustion. My general health is improved in every way. I gladly give this testimonial hoping that it will attract the eyes of some one who, while suffering in a similar manner, is as hopeless of cure as I was a month ago. My name and address can be obtained from Dr. Dexter.

Relief for a Printer's Wife.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8, 1884.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have been treated by Drs. Lincoln, Miller, Baynes, and Mariani in the last nine years without receiving any benefit. My trouble was such as to be known, brought on by inflammatory rheumatism. After having received seven treatments of you, my knees is partially moving, all pain gone, and should I receive no more benefit, I consider my recovery thus far very wonderful. My general health, which was poor, is greatly improved. My husband is connected with the DAILY REPUBLICAN as a compositor. Mrs. M. HARFORD, 121 Massachusetts Avenue northeast.

Good By, Crutches!

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21, 1884.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have been a cripple for twelve years, and have used crutches all the time; have been treated by a number of doctors, including two most eminent physicians of this city. Dr. Lincoln, who gave me no relief, for the last twelve months; have not been able to bear any weight on my limb, and suffered intense pain day and night for the past year. You have treated me seven times, and you have removed all pain and crutches, and I have been able to walk on my limbs, and my health, which was very poor, is much better. I reside at 812 G street southwest. REBECCA STOREY.

Paralysis, Head and Wonder.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25, 1884.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: My wife has been paralyzed in her right side for five years. She has been treated eighteen times by you, and has received great benefit. Her case was better, and is improving daily, and she thinks your treatment will cure her entirely. Prof. Dexter has performed many wonderful cures in St. Paul, Minn., my place of residence. Yours respectfully, TREMONT HOUSE, N. Y.

Nervous Debility Cured.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have been under your treatment for my complaint of nervous debility, and I am now feeling well, and my general health is much improved. My age is 73 years. GEORGE LITTLE, 1332 1/2 Street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth southeast.

From a Well-Known Citizen.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have been suffering with kidney complaint for eighteen months, being treated by the best physicians in Baltimore; received no benefit; appetite poor; could not sleep at night; my general health was very poor. I was relieved of my complaint, and I can now sleep soundly; appetite good; suffer no pain; general health first class; gained in weight ten pounds. An employed in government printing office. J. M. RICHARDS, 631 D Street northwest.

From a Daughter of Ex-Gov. Crittenden, of Kentucky.

NATIONAL HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 10, 1884.—To Prof. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have been a sufferer from rheumatism, and was unable to walk for nearly three years. During the three weeks in which you have been treating her she has been entirely relieved from all pain. She has been going up and down stairs a day or two with one crutch, and can walk around the room by supporting herself with crutches. At the time you came to see her she could not raise herself up in bed, take one step or stand for an instant without help. She has a good appetite, and is free from pain. Accept my grateful thanks. Yours sincerely, Mrs. CHAPMAN COLEMAN.

Relieved Entirely.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7, 1884.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I called on you on the 2d instant, having suffered several days with inflammatory rheumatism in the right wrist, it being so painful that I could not use the hand. You have been successful in your treatment. I have a slight relief felt at the time, and at 3 p. m. it was entirely gone, leaving the arm perfectly cured, and it has remained so. Truly yours, C. W. WILSON.

Hear What Another Says.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 21, 1884.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: It affords me pleasure to say to you that after your having treated my limb four succeeding days I walked to your office this morning with much less suffering than I have experienced in walking the same distance in the past year; the discomfort from my limb has been less each day since your treatment commenced, so much so, that I am encouraged to hope for a permanent cure. 1015 Massachusetts Avenue.

From a Prominent Merchant of Washington.

April 12, 1884.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: Having tried innumerable remedies without success for the cure of liver and kidney trouble, from which I have been a sufferer, I was induced to call upon you as a last resort for relief, and I have experienced under your treatment, an improvement in my health, and I am happy to add my testimony with many others to the efficacy of your magnetic treatment. Yours truly, The name of the writer of the above can be had at my private parlors. A. J. DEXTER.

Where Others Fail I Succeed.

MARCH 7, 1884.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: For over two years I have suffered with gout and rheumatism, during which I have been unable to eat or sleep, and I have been treated by Dr. Parsons with his electrical appliances without receiving any help; also by home physicians, but without benefit. When I came to you I was without hope, but after being under your treatment for three weeks, my pain has been removed, and I am now able to go to my work as usual, and I am happy to add my testimony with many others to the efficacy of your magnetic treatment, and think you a great healer. Mrs. ELIZABETH COX, 3421 Street, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Speaker Carlisle Cured and Her Letter to Prof. Dexter.

RIGGS HOUSE, Feb. 14, 1884.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have suffered with inflammatory rheumatism for thirty years. Hearing of your skill, I determined to try your treatment. After the first application I was enabled to sleep profoundly, not having slept for several days. I was enabled to use my arm freely, which was powerless for a long time. It gives me great pleasure to add my name to the many you have cured. My general health is greatly improved. Respectfully, Mrs. JOHN G. CARLISLE.

What Congressman Springer's Wife Says.

WASHINGTON, April 11, 1884.—Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: In the two weeks during which I have taken electrical and magnetic treatment from you, you have, in three different instances, entirely relieved me of acute neuralgia in head and spine after a very few moments. My general health is much improved, and my sleep much more restful than I have experienced for many months. By continuing your treatment a few weeks longer I shall be permanently benefited. Yours respectfully, Mrs. R. R. SPRINGER.

The President and Gen. Grant Will Come Next.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9, 1884.—Prof. DEXTER—Dear Sir: About two weeks ago I called to see you, and was severely afflicted with cold on my lungs and pains in my chest. After ten treatments I am entirely well of the lung trouble and feel better than I have for years. Yours truly, BENJAMIN S. HOOPER, Member of Congress 4th District of Virginia.

From the Hon. H. D. Colvin, ex-Mayor of Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23, 1884.—Hon. GEORGE R. DAVIS, M. C.—My Dear Sir: Excuse me for this liberty. I have written you a letter in my district, prior to a week, as to what you and other representative of the county of Cook. This will introduce to your favorable consideration Prof. A. J. Dexter. He is well known to me, and you will find him everything he represents himself to be. Any favors you may confer on him will be appreciated and will be esteemed a personal favor to myself. Yours truly, H. D. COLVIN.

To All Suffering From Neuralgia Pain.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 28, 1884.—To ladies who suffer from neuralgia pains and headaches, I would like to give my experience with Prof. Dexter's treatment. I came here suffering with one my neuralgia sick headaches, with which I have been afflicted seven years. They came on regularly every two weeks and lasted three days and nights without cessation. I have been treated by various doctors of various schools of medicine, and nothing has done me any permanent relief; but since the first five minutes of treatment by Prof. Dexter the pain has ceased, not to return, and I feel stronger and better in every way. I have had absolutely no pain in my head nor anywhere else since the first five moments of treatment. This is not a mere boast, I hope others will see by my statement that I am fortunate enough to be enabled to try the same treatment, for, from experience, I know how terrible is the suffering and how great the relief. It is to my suffering sisters I address these few lines. HARRIS SHARRER, 605 Twenty-first street northwest. (Mrs. Sharrer is the wife of Lieut. Sharrer, U. S. Navy.)

From a Resident of Ocean Grove, N. J.

Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have been troubled with lumbago for three years; have been under the care of different physicians without receiving any benefit. I am not entirely cured, but I have been benefited beyond my most sanguine expectations, and am sure you have done me a great deal of good. I can now walk with ease, and my general health is much improved. My age is 73 years. GEORGE LITTLE, 1332 1/2 Street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth southeast.

INTEVIEW.

A reporter of THE REPUBLICAN called on several of Dr. Dexter's patients whose names are given by him and without exception their praise of him and the results achieved were unqualified. Below is given a brief synopsis of interviews, which will be read with interest.

Congressman Springer's Wife.

Mrs. R. R. Springer, wife of Hon. W. M. Springer, of Illinois, who has been under the professor's treatment, said: "In the two weeks during which I have taken electrical and magnetic treatment from Prof. Dexter, I have in three different instances relieved me of acute neuralgia in the head and spine after a very few moments treatment. My general health is very much improved and my sleep much more restful than it has been for months."

Mrs. Chapman Coleman.

Mrs. Chapman Coleman was found by a REPUBLICAN reporter at the National Hotel, and when questioned about her daughter's marvelous cure by Prof. Dexter, furnished the following letter, which she had prepared to send to the professor: "To Prof. DEXTER—Dear Sir: My daughter, Mrs. H. W. Gassaway, has been a great sufferer with rheumatism, and unable to walk for nearly three years. During the three weeks in which you have been treating her she has been entirely relieved from all pain. She has been going up and down stairs for a day or two with one crutch, and can walk around the room by supporting herself with crutches. At the time you came to see her she could not raise herself up in bed, take one step or stand for an instant without help. She sleeps well, has a good appetite, and is free from pain. Accept my grateful thanks. Yours sincerely, Mrs. CHAPMAN COLEMAN."

Mrs. Nathan Myrick.

Mrs. Nathan Myrick is a comely, elderly lady, and lives at the Tremont house. She has been under Prof. Dexter's treatment for some months, and the story of her ailment and cure had best be given in her own words: "I was paralyzed for five years, and was unable to move, except when assisted. I placed myself under Prof. Dexter's treatment at St. Paul, Minn., a few months ago, and later came here. Well, you can see the result. I am now able to get up and down stairs at will, and my health has been much benefited in many ways by the treatment. I have great faith in Prof. Dexter's treatment, and hope in a short time to be entirely well. When I first came here he visited me, but I am now able to go to his office once or twice a week, and he has been very kind in treating me by rheumatism a few weeks ago, and I called on Dr. Dexter. He cured it immediately."

Miss Edwards's Story.

A reporter of THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN called at the residence of Rev. Dr. Edwards, of McKendree church, yesterday afternoon, to ascertain some facts in relation to the reported marvelous cure of an old lady by Prof. A. J. Dexter, the magnetic healer. The reporter was not in luck, as the daughter, a young lady of intelligence, said in reply to interrogatories: "Yes, sir, I know all about the case you refer to. The old lady is a member of our church. She had been afflicted with acute rheumatism for many years, and had tried a large number of practicing physicians without receiving any benefit. We knew of the old lady's sad condition, and when we heard of Prof. Dexter's treatment, we had her brought to him. He cured her in a very much better and is now entirely relieved of the painful disease. She still takes the professor's medicine, and declares that she would not be without it one day for anything in the world. Miss Edwards described the cure in a vivid and rather enthusiastic manner."

Mrs. Simpson's Daughter.

The reporter then called at the residence of Mrs. T. Simpson, a 1015 L street resident. That lady said: "Prof. Dexter treated my daughter for rheumatism quite successfully. She had a severe attack of that disease. The treatment has not resulted in a perfect cure, but it has done a very much better than she was. I think Prof. Dexter's system of electricity and personal magnetism is excellent and reliable."

Another Testimonial.

Mr. John M. Richards was next called upon and furnished the following letter: WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15, 1884. Prof. A. J. DEXTER—Dear Sir: I have been under your treatment for several weeks for liver and kidney trouble, and have received great benefit at your hands. (Good appetite, sleep well, and general health greatly improved.) Yours, &c., J. M. RICHARDS, 631 D Street northwest.

Miss Sarah J. Warren.

Miss Sarah J. Warren, of 303 Fourteenth street, was seen by a reporter at her residence. She certainly did not present a very sickly appearance, and to illustrate the benefit she had received from Prof. Dexter's treatment, she walked back and forth across the room, with the remark, "Three weeks ago I could not do this."

Miss Warren said: "During the past ten years I was a confirmed invalid. During that period I had frequent severe attacks of acute internal inflammation. I was confined to a cot in Columbia hospital for six months, and was finally sent away from there to die of cancer. I never had a cancer, though, as my statement, No. 1015 L street, is a witness of my recovery. I attribute most of my suffering to maltreatment by the physicians who attended me. I think Prof. Dexter is a wonder in what he is able to do. No other treatment in the world, I am sure, could do for me what he has done and is doing. My complaint is a serious one. It consists of nervous debility, chronic rheumatism, and the most serious chronic difficulty peculiar to my sex. I consider these disorders the result of maltreatment by some of the most scientific physicians in the United States. One reason that I think so highly of this treatment is that it is the only one I found that could not do me any harm. Heretofore, under the treatment of other physicians, I have not only got no relief, but I got old trouble, but invariably got some new addition to it. I have tried all the scientists and all the fools and am now trying a physician who cannot be classified. The effects of his treatment on me are beyond description. Why just look how nicely I can walk now." (Sitting her actions to the words, she strode across the room with a proud and smiling air.) Concluding she said, "I have suffered so much that I was almost afraid to live, but my friends notice my improvement now without being told of it."

NEWSPAPER COMMENT.

Of course from time to time articles in regard to Dr. Dexter have appeared in the city papers. For the reader's benefit these comments since the doctor's advent here have been collated, and without exception nothing but kind words have been uttered in regard to him by all the press of the city. He has had similar treatment from the press heretofore he has practiced.

Home Testimony.

Home testimony concerning the remarkable cures effected by Prof. A. J. Dexter, known as the world's magnetic conqueror of disease, now at 520 Thirteenth street, is the best evidence of the wonderful power of a wonderful man, and as this testimony can be seen merely by calling at the above number, it becomes a matter of the greatest importance to those suffering with disease to examine these testimonials and consult Prof. Dexter in order that they may be speedily placed on the road to recovery. Many of the testimonials above referred to speak of long suffering of patients who have been treated by many of Washington's most skillful physicians without relief, and to speak of their cure by Prof. Dexter. They speak for themselves, and as they give name and residence, those who prefer ocular proof can easily reach those testifying. A column or more of these certificates will be given in this morning's Post.—Sunday Herald, March 9.

Scenes of the Highly Educated.

It is worthy of note that Prof. Dexter has treated, and is treating now, scores of highly educated men in this city, which include senators, members, their wives and daughters, and many other distinguished and noted persons. This speaks well for the Professor's methods and professional skill.—Chronicle, April 4, 1884.

Beware of Impostors.

Attention is invited to the certificates of additional wonderful cures by Prof. A. J. Dexter since his location in this city, which appear on the third page of this paper. It is said that certain quacks in the suburbs are trying to trade upon the Professor's great reputation by representing themselves as Dr. Dexter, selling bottles of medicine and so on. The public in general should be warned that Prof. Dexter has but one office, on Thirteenth street, where he can always be found at the published hours, and his features ought to be familiar from his portraits.—Sunday Herald, March 30.

The Wonder of the Nineteenth Century.

A representative of this journal, having heard of Miss Kate Dexter's wonderful cure by the celebrated magnetic healer, Prof. A. J. Dexter, called on her at her father's steam laundry, corner of C and Sixth streets northwest, to get the true inwardness of the report. The young lady said that she had been a great sufferer for twelve years from rheumatism and head, and after three treatments she was entirely relieved from all, and to-day feels better than she has before for five years, eat hearty, sleeps well, free from all pain, and the bloom of health has again returned to her cheeks. This journal wishes the professor every success that he so richly deserves, and advises all sufferers to consult him concerning their ailments. He has, since his arrival in this city, relieved many sufferers, who will cheerfully testify to his magnetic healing qualifications.—Sunday Herald, March 30.

Distinguished Patients.

In all fairness, credit must be given to the very positive testimonials accorded to Prof. Dexter by his patients, many of whom are distinguished in their walks of life. Such persons are intelligent enough to know whether they have been benefited or not, and too reputable to allow their names to be used for the deception of others.—Post, March 30, 1884.

Relieving Medicine-Ridden Humanity.

Prof. Dexter presents a fresh lot of testimonials to his skill and efficiency as a healer in this morning's Post—enough from their character and extent to convince the most incredulous that the professor's peculiar "gift" may be, it is nevertheless possessed by him, and can be used in relieving medicine-ridden humanity of the tortures of neuralgia and rheumatism. We do not know that the professor attempts to sell his qualifications in this line. He finds satisfaction and profit enough in possessing and using them.—Post, April 13.

A Grateful Patient.

Yesterday a lady patient of Prof. Dexter, being so well pleased with her improved condition since he began treating her, presented him with a beautiful oil painting, painted by herself and handsomely framed, as an evidence on her part of the appreciation she had for his wonderful skill.—Gazette, April 13.

Glittering Credentials.

Prof. Dexter comes out this morning with a column and a half of testimonials of people of stability and standing of this city that he has cured. The professor came here with glittering credentials, and is substantiating his claim to be the greatest healer of the nineteenth century. He is induced by letters of praise and public recognition throughout the United States.—Post, Sunday, March 9.

Beware of Impostors!

We learned late last night through the police department that a contemptible scoundrel is traveling about the outskirts of the city, representing himself as Prof. Dexter, the eminent specialist now located in our city. He (the impostor), it is said, is engaged in the despicable practice of selling and ignorant people so-called medicine put up in bottles, for which he charges from $3 to $5 per bottle, with a guarantee of a cure in every case, no matter what the disease may be. The genuine Prof. Dexter does business in a legitimate manner, and his name is used in his advertisement elsewhere in this paper. Anyone who calls himself Prof. Dexter that solicits patronage from house to house is simply an impostor. Beware of him!—Gazette, March 30, 1884.

Letters by the Thousand.

In our advertising columns appears the portrait of a gentleman who is widely known for his ability as a magnetic healer, and if affidavits by the hundred and letters by the thousand from persons who have been cured under his treatment are any proof, he certainly is possessed of wonderful powers. As a guarantee of good faith he offers the sum of $10,000 to be given to the poor of Washington, if any of the letters or affidavits he presents shall be found otherwise than true or as represented. To the afflicted his coming will be an interesting event. He has taken rooms at 520 Thirteenth street. All he asks is that he be given a trial.—The National Republican, January 29, 1884.

More Than Marvelously Successful!

Prof. A. J. Dexter has been more than marvelously successful in his physical and physiological treatments at the national capital. Not only has he successfully cured the ordinary subjects under his care, but he has gone further, and in respect of his cures has within the past week called into perfect health Mrs. Carlisle, the first lady of America, being the wife of the speaker of the house of representatives of the United States; Gen. Dent, Mr. Douglas, the well-known Kansas journalist, and in every respect, and especially prominent in the fact that he never attempts a cure that he does
