Yum Yum will be sung by Emma Abbott at the matinee to-day.

Important Notice. A new schedule of extra fare rates on the "New York and Philadelphia Limited Express" via the Pennsylvania railroad, went into effect Monday, March 16th.

Trustees Brooks Censured. The commissioners have addressed School Trustee John H. Brooks the following letter: "Your complaint to the commissioners, that you and your associate trustees have been misrepresented in a newspaper article, is received. You think the article calls for official denial. It would seem that officers appointed by the commissioners and not discharged by them, have all the vindictive character of the article, which enables them when they see themselves misrepresented or criticized in public to believe that the public will not condemn upon such statements and will ultimately do justice. It is therefore unnecessary to give attention to such general assertions appearing in newspapers. Of particular charges are made investigations will be had."

Heaten in a Barroom Fight. A lively fight occurred in a Ninth street saloon Wednesday night. The scene was enlivened with the hurling of beer bottles and glasses, and several cut heads and swelled noses resulted.

Speaking tubes and electric bells. J. H. KUEHLING.

Lightning.—Now have your roofs repaired or new ones.

A Pretty Boy's Horse. Wm. Peters appeared in the police court yesterday charged by Agent Key with driving a horse unfit for labor.

Something We Know!

We are painfully conscious of how little we know outside of the clothing business; but on that and all its requirements we claim to be "up."

We know how dear to the feminine hearts the practice of shopping, and how much ladies would like to examine and price clothing for little Charlie or Frank before deciding where to purchase, yet they are often deterred from entering a clothing house through fear of being importuned to buy when they are not prepared.

Now all we require of our clerks is that they should wait on customers with the same courtesy and attention, whether they come to look or buy; to cheerfully furnish any desired information; to pleasantly show our goods and name our prices, and above and beyond all, never to urge people to buy against their inclination or judgment.

Our instructions are faithfully carried out by them, because, in the first place, being gentlemen, this manner of doing business exactly suits their views; and again, they are not called upon by us to "please explain" whenever they fail to sell a visitor. To ladies who have boys to care for we would say our spring stock of Boys and Children's Clothing is now complete, our styles are varied, our variety is almost endless, and our prices are really low, to prove which we respectfully invite you to honor us with a visit of inspection. We think we can agreeably surprise you. At all events we shall do our best toward making your visit a pleasant one.
