ONE BOTTLE OF WHISKY

Causes the Loss of One Life and Endangers Another.

Immediately upon the opening of the criminal court yesterday morning the trial of Beverly Jones, charged with the murder of Robert B. Morris by jabbing him in the eye with the ferrule of an umbrella on the 4th of September last, was entered upon.

Dr. W. E. Foulton was the first witness examined, and testified that death was caused by cerebral hemorrhage. The blood vessels had been broken, the orbital bone fractured and the brain broken, and small pieces of bone found in it. The protrusion of the brain caused death.

Dr. Lachlan Tyler testified as to the autopsy, corroborating the preceding witness. He said that death was caused by shock and hemorrhage of the vessels of the brain.

John Gibson, an employe of Stephenson's Express Company, was in Desmond alley when the trouble started. Morris came to the stable with a bottle of whisky, and had Gibson put it away for him while he went into the office to get some more.

He said that about a half past five on the 4th of September last, he was in Desmond alley when the trouble started. Morris came to the stable with a bottle of whisky, and had Gibson put it away for him while he went into the office to get some more.
