

THE DEMOCRAT

ROSE, Editor. FALSE RIVER, LA.

TURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1861. FOR PRESIDENT OF THE U.S. JEFFERSON DAVIS

ALTERNATE, ALEXANDER H. STEVENS, Of Georgia.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS. FOR STATE AT LARGE. CHARLES DERBIGNY, of Orleans.

ALBERT G. CARTEER, of East Feliciana. ALTERNATES. J. G. CAMPBELL, Natchitoches.

G. L. FUSELIER, St. Mary. 1st District, DONATIEU AUGUSTIN, Orleans.

Alternate, ORIN MAYO, Catahoula.

Sergeant W. A. Walker, of the Pointe Coupee Artillery, will be here on Tuesday next to take all articles of clothing, etc., the friends of the volunteers of that company may wish to send to them.

A short time since, in making mention of the battle of Santa Rosa, we stated that Capt. F. H. Farrar, Jr., would soon be promoted for his gallant deeds in that affair. It is with unfeigned pleasure we announce his promotion to the rank of Major of his regiment.

Mr. Fabius Ricord, of Avoyelles, has spent a few days of this week in this parish, getting acquainted with our parishioners. The impression which he produced has been everywhere most favorable. His manners are urbane, and his appearance prepossessing, his countenance indicating modesty and high mental culture. We are not surprised that he enjoys the esteem of the fellow-citizens of Avoyelles, for we have rarely met with a man who glides so easily into the affections of the people. He elected Mr. Ricord will, we are satisfied, enjoy the very highest rank among our legislators as a man of matured wisdom and practical intelligence.

THE MILITIA.—Our citizen militia continue, with unabating zeal, to drill throughout the parish. In fact, men of all ages, though exempt by law, are to be seen in the ranks. Last week, in New Orleans, seven persons refused to drill, in spite of the entreaties of their officers. The True Delta says:

Yesterday Col. Solomon obtained an order for their arrest from Gov. Moore. An officer and file of men from the Chasseurs a Pied were detailed to arrest the mutineers, and they have apprehended the first five named on the list. They went with loaded muskets, prepared for any resistance, but met with none. The balance of them will be arrested to-day if they do not escape from the city. Those arrested are now in a guard room, with a detail of men standing guard over them, and they will be dealt with to the extreme severity of the military law. Every patriotic citizen is supposed to be willing, of his own accord, to learn drill, for the purpose of rendering his services effective if they are called upon, and those who refuse will have cause to be sorry.

NEW COTTON TIE.—In these times, when there is a scarcity of rope for cotton ties, any suitable substitute for it is a great desideratum. The following, from the Richmond (Va.) Dispatch, shows that such a tie has been invented by a citizen of our neighboring State, Mississippi, and that it answers well the purpose for which it is designed: "Quarter of Confederate States Cotton Tie" is a simple band, made of hickory for the purpose of baling cotton. It is made of the same material as the cotton tie, and is made in the same manner. It is made of the same material as the cotton tie, and is made in the same manner. It is made of the same material as the cotton tie, and is made in the same manner.

PREPARE FOR NEXT YEAR.—Every planter should look well to his hogs and see that he has a large stock for next year. If the blockade is not opened, and we cannot see the most distant hope of it, cotton cannot be sold, and but little of it will be raised. Planters must of necessity turn their attention to the raising of grain, pork, beef, mutton, wool, sugar, etc.—articles that will sell, and enable them to pay their taxes. Sheep do well here if they are provided with sheds to shelter them from the wet in the winter when the fleece is heavy. Take care of the sheep, for the wool will be wanted. We must prepare for next year, as every circumstance indicates

This paper has always maintained, from the commencement of the blockade, that before the end of the present year, our independence would be recognized by France and England; or, at least, by one of those powers, and the blockade pronounced to be ineffective. Every point of view, in which we considered the subject, seemed to us to furnish a reason for this conclusion. What has occurred since, and is now transpiring, tends to confirm us in our first, but well-considered opinion.

In the first place, it is evident that the Northern States, viewed as a nationality, apart from the South, could not fail to be regarded, both by England and France, as a commercial and manufacturing rival; while the South, without a conflicting interest, furnished them not only with a material indispensable to their prosperity, but the best market for their peculiar productions—wines, silks, and manufactures. We were aware that British subjects had large interests in certain stocks at the North, which interests ran the risk of annihilation, in the event of permanent separation from the South. But we knew that the English Government would soon be convinced that it was hopeless to think of seeing the old Union reintegrated, and that still more important interests—the cotton supply and the carrying trade—demanded our speedy recognition, and the raising of the blockade.

France, which was not arrested by such considerations, has long since been disposed to hail our new nationality, but wished to act in concert with England. The commerce of France is greatly suffering from the blockade, and it is now announced in the French and English papers, that the Emperor will promptly and immediately intervene alone, if England hesitates any longer. To prove that we are not rash in making these assertions, we submit the following grounds on which they are based:

An envoy to our Government, from our Commissioners in Europe, has reached Richmond. On his way, through Ohio, he was arrested, and his dispatches taken from him. He knew their contents, however, and states positively that they were to notify our Government to look out for its immediate recognition by England and France. Our temperance with this, we have the circular of Seward, addressed to the Northern Governors, warning them of the danger of collision with the powers of Europe, and instructing them to put their seaboard in a state of defense. But to our mind, the most convincing reason for believing that we are on the eve of being recognized, is the departure of Messrs. Slidell and Mason for Europe. We have it from the best authority, that the former gentleman was opposed to the policy of appearing to solicit the intervention of European powers, and that he would not leave until summoned for the purpose of concluding a treaty, in which our national rights would be fully recognized.

These are the reasons for our abiding faith in the speedy recognition of our independence, and the consequent raising of the blockade. If we are recognized, the raising of the blockade will be insisted on. Mr. Seward evidently contemplates resistance. We hope he may resist. A few weeks would suffice to clear the ocean of the Yankee navy, and show up the propagandist of the irrepressible conflict in the light in which many have always regarded him, as a man of irrepressible and unmeasured folly.

and the pleasure, last week of a visit from the Hon. A. M. Gray, of Avoyelles, and formerly of this parish. Mr. Gray is one of the three candidates from Avoyelles, for the long term senatorship of this district. Mr. Gray has already represented Avoyelles in the Legislature, and would make an excellent Senator to represent this district, in each of three parishes of which he has lived, and enjoyed a merited popularity. He is a planter, and intimately familiar with our wants and feelings.

PREPARE FOR NEXT YEAR.—Every planter should look well to his hogs and see that he has a large stock for next year. If the blockade is not opened, and we cannot see the most distant hope of it, cotton cannot be sold, and but little of it will be raised. Planters must of necessity turn their attention to the raising of grain, pork, beef, mutton, wool, sugar, etc.—articles that will sell, and enable them to pay their taxes. Sheep do well here if they are provided with sheds to shelter them from the wet in the winter when the fleece is heavy. Take care of the sheep, for the wool will be wanted. We must prepare for next year, as every circumstance indicates there will be no peace until we conquer the North, and that will have to be done by an invasion of the enemy's country. We must therefore be ready for a vigorous campaign next year. [Vicksburg Whig.]

LATEST TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Augusta, Oct. 29.—The Charleston Mercury's special dispatch from Richmond says that New York papers of the 23d and European advices of the 13th have been received.

It is reported that the Chambers of Commerce of the principal cities of France send pressing memorials to the Emperor, urging the expediency of recognizing the Southern Confederacy and raising the blockade. The London News says this report is obtained from the most trustworthy source, and that the Emperor contemplates an early recognition.

The Shipping Gazette says France and England must act together. Bread riots have taken place in Paris, and the Government has been obliged to issue an assurance that the price of bread shall not be advanced.

In Liverpool the sales of cotton for the week amounted to 120,000 bales. The market closed buoyant, with an advance of 1/4 to 3/4.

The panic caused by Seward's circular at the North is increasing. The Northern journals say that the object of the Federals in crossing the Potomac at Leesburg was to form a junction with the right wing of McClellan's army.

They admit the repulse and utter defeat they met with, and say it has cast a gloom over the entire North.

Correspondence.

COLUMBUS, KY., October 20, 1861.

P. A. Roy, Esq., Editor Democrat: DEAR SIR—In my last communication, I informed you that none of the sick in my command were dangerously ill, (this opinion was, of course, predicated upon the opinions of physicians in the army,) but in consequence of extreme and sudden changes in the weather, from summer heat to almost winter cold, two of our young men were so seriously affected that one of them, J. G. Walker, in spite of the best medical assistance and attention that could be bestowed upon him, expired last night, and his remains will be sent home to his father, in charge of his brother, Sergeant Wm. A. Walker. He had the measles with typhoid fever, but death ensued from congestion of the lungs. This sad event has cast a gloom over our whole camp, not only because we have lost a brave, patriotic and intelligent young man, but one who was universally esteemed and respected by his comrades in arms as any I ever knew.

The other, Peter Boudreau, who has a severe attack of typhoid fever and is now very low; indeed, my own great anxiety for his recovery, probably alone inspires hope. Boudreau's worth and amiability are too well known to your community to require any comment from me. As a soldier he has evinced the most amiable character; and as an officer has faithfully redeemed his trust. In our several engagements, he has distinguished himself, and like my whole command, without a single exception, have shown under fire the most convincing proof of cool and deliberate bravery. Our friends at home may be assured that I shall always furnish them with the most reliable reports of the health, condition and operation of my command, as far as human foresight can determine. I have, on this melancholy occasion, no inclination to enter into camp history. Respectfully, R. A. STEWART.

[Since the above letter was written Mr. P. Boudreau also died, and his body was inhumed at the church-yard in Pointe Coupee on Saturday last. Several military companies turned out on that day, and paid to his remains the tribute of respect due to a brave soldier and patriot.—Ed. Dem.]

A CARD.

To the Voters of the Senatorial District Composed of the Parishes of Avoyelles, Pointe Coupee and West Feliciana.

Edouard S. Boudreau, the candidates for the long term senatorship of this district, in each of three parishes of which he has lived, and enjoyed a merited popularity. He is a planter, and intimately familiar with our wants and feelings.

Fellow-citizens, if the place to which I now aspire was depending only on the voters of the parish of Avoyelles, I might without any interference whatever on my part, have left its wish to be expressed in the ballot-box. I know that I am known by them, and would be very willing to abide by their decision upon the simple announcement of my name. But such is not the case. Being very little known in the other two parishes comprised in the district, hence the necessity of my going out to canvass the parishes) my name to this mode of presenting myself to the voters of this Senatorial district.

All are aware of the importance of the questions and measures which must of necessity come before the next Legislature. I pledge myself, if elected, that my constant and devoted attention, together with whatever experience of public affairs I may have acquired, during many years of executive and practical functions, will be entirely turned to serve those who will have confided to me the high trust of representing them in the State Senate.

It is useless, here, to enter upon any of the public questions of the day. I hope we are now all of one mind; that is, that our legislative body must give all the support that the Constitution of the State will admit, to strengthen the Government of the Confederate States, during our struggles against Northern despotism, and to plant our infant Government upon a firm and elevating basis. And to that end, fellow citizens, allow me to say, in conclusion, all my efforts will tend, if the suffrage of the voters of this district should, by a majority, entrust to me the honor of representing them in the State Senate. To serve them faithfully and to the best of my abilities, will be a rule from which I will never depart.
