

N. O. SUGAR MARKET.—Dec. 8th, 1849.
Sugar.—From 3½ to 4½ cents per lb. Molasses.
—20½ cents per gal.

BOSTON, CONCORD AND MONTREAL RAILROAD.—We understand from the Belknap (N. H.) Gazette that contracts are about to be closed for extending this railroad to Warren Village, 69 miles from Concord, and that the work of grading will be commenced in a few days.—That between West Rummy and Warren, is estimated at only 225,000 cubic yards of earth excavation and embankment costing about $25,000, or a little more than $3,200 per mile.—The masonry is estimated at about $3,200.—It is not likely to exceed $4,000 per mile to prepare the road for the track. The original estimate of this eight miles of the road, as surveyed by Mr. Crocker, was about $170,000, or about $142,000 more than the present line is to cost.—Scientific American.

DARING RUMBLE'S OUTRAGE.—A most fiendish outrage was perpetrated in East Thumston on Friday of last week. A keg of powder was placed beneath a building occupied as a store, and by two families as a dwelling house and ignited. Fortunately but little damage was done and no lives lost, although the danger was imminent. Enmity to temperance men is supposed to have been the instigating cause of this "gunpowder plot." The citizens of the place have held a public meeting, and a fellow by the name of F. H. Farnsworth has been arrested and committed to jail on suspicion.

The Cold Water Fountain remarks that the above is only a continuation of that series of similar outrages which have been committed in other states for the same cause, and for the same fiendish object; and which we predicted two weeks ago, would soon manifest itself in Maine. No other place on earth, but a rum shop, can prepare men for such deeds of darkness. Let the whole community arise, and "lay the axe at the root of this great tree of evil,"—the rum traffic.—N. Y. Organ.

THE FLOATING BEE HOUSES OF THE NILE.—In Lower Egypt, where the flower harvest is not so early by several weeks as in the upper district of that country, the practice of transportation is carried on to a considerable extent.—About the end of October the hives, after being collected together from the different villages, and conveyed up the Nile, marked and numbered by the individuals to whom they belong, are heaped pyramidally upon the boats prepared to receive them, which floating, gradually down the river, and stopping at certain stages of their passage, remain there a longer or shorter time, according to the produce which is afforded by the surrounding country. After travelling three months in this manner the bees having culled the perfumes of the orange flower of the Said, the essence of roses of the Faicum, the treasures of the Arabian jessamine, and a variety of flowers, are brought back about the beginning of February, to the places from which they have been carried. The productiveness of the flowers at each respective stage is ascertained by the descent of the boats in the water, and which is probably noted by a scale of measurement. This industry produces for the Egyptians delicious honey, and abundance of bee's wax.—Dr. Bevan.

THE BLOOD OF AN INEBRIATE.—Dr. George Stevens Jones, of Boston, communicates to the Medical Journal the following singular, though not unprecedented case, of the transformation of the blood of an inebriate:—
I was called in great haste to see a patient who was represented to be in a dying condition and on my arrival at the house I really found him sick, but far from being so bad as was represented. My patient had a severe attack of pleuritis. The symptoms being very urgent, I thought proper to take blood. The peculiar odor emitted by the blood while running from the vein, together with the singular appearance it presented after remaining in the bowl some few minutes, led me to a further examination of it. One half (lateral half) was of the normal appearance, when drawn from a patient laboring under an inflammatory affection, the other half had the appearance of milk upon the surface—so much so that I questioned my assistants as to the fact, although I was quite positive of the vessel being perfectly clean when handed to me. I gave the bowl a rotary motion, yet the fluid would not mingle, remaining the same as when first observed.

What is still more interesting, and to which my attention was attracted, were the fumes of alcohol; which were so strong that one would have supposed the article to have been thrown in among the blood. I did not apply a lighted taper, but have not the least doubt that if I had, I should have seen it ignite—burning with its lambent flame. Is it at all strange that we find in ectoparasites of those persons who are in the habitual use of alcoholic liquors, such depauperation and emaciation? Why should not these be transformed, when their blood is so charged with carbon and hydrogen, which is entirely foreign to its vitality? Disease, with all its concomitants, must needs make its ravages.—The stomach suffering first, the function of assimilation destroyed, the brain, from constant excitement, breaks down, and the creature dies.

My patient, I learned, drank New England rum in large doses, often repeated.
