Marvelous Cures.
[N. Y. Tribune.]
Just now there is almost an epidemic of alleged marvelous cures in response to prayer. No right thinking person would wish to speak scoffingly of that great faith to which the New Testament promises great rewards, even in its modern manifestations, where they are simple and sincere, and unaccompanied by ridiculous nummer-ies. Of course many of the so-called miraculous cures are nothing more than the trade of charlatans, but occasionally there is a case which one hesitates to pronounce mere fraud or self-deception.
For instance, in the spring of 1880 Mrs. Sylvia Thurston, of Camden, Me., stepped into a hole in the road, and fell with such violence that the bones of her foot and ankle were wrenched out of joint, and her back was badly injured.
For two months she was sick of a fever, and at the end of that time could not walk without crutches.
The foot was bent out of position and entirely rigid, and the circulation of blood was so impeded that the skin turned almost black. Finally, after her doctors had abandoned all hope of a cure, Mrs. Thurston and her step-son, who has made an affidavit to the facts, determined to pray for her recovery. This they did with all earnestness and solemnity. That night there was no improvement, but in the morning the foot and leg were completely restored to their natural and healthy condition. Further petitions were followed by a complete restoration of the patient's health in all particulars. This case is well attested, and there are many others like it in which it would apparently be very easy to detect falsehood or deception if either existed. And yet mankind loves so well to father a mystery that one scarcely dares to trust himself.

Night Life of Young Men.
One night often destroys a whole life. The leakage of the night keeps the day forever empty. Night is sin's harvesting time. More sin and crime are committed in one night than in all the days of the week.
This is more emphatically true of the city than of the country. The street lamps, like a file of soldiers, with torch in hand, stretch away in long lines on either sidewalk; the gay colored transparencies are alight with attractions; the saloons and billiard halls are brilliantly illuminated; music sends forth its enchantment; the gay company begin to gather to the haunts and houses of pleasure; the gambling dens are aflame with palatial splendor; the theaters are wide open; the mills of destruction are grinding health, honor, happiness, hope, out of thousands of lives.
The city under the gaslight is not the same as under God's sunlight.
The allurements and pitfalls of night are a hundredfold deeper and darker and more destructive. Night life in our cities is a dark problem, whose dark depths and abysses and whirlpools make us start back with horror. All night long tears are falling, blood is streaming.

Young men, tell me how and where you spend your evenings, and I will write out the chart of your character and life destiny, with blanks to insert your names. It seems to me an appropriate text would be, "Watchman, what of the night?" Policeman pacing the beat, what of the night?
What are the young men of the city doing at night? Where do they spend their evenings? Who are their associates? What are their habits?
Where do they go in? What time do you see them come out? Policeman, would the night life of young men commend them to their employers? Would it be to their credit?

Make a record of the nights of one week. Put in the morning paper the names of all the young men, their habits and haunts, that are on the streets for sinful pleasure. Would there be shame and confusion? Some would not dare to go to their places of business; some would leave the city; some would commit suicide.
Remember young men, that in the retina of the all-seeing Eye there is nothing hid but shall be revealed.— [Baptist Weekly.]

AFTER THE INAUGURATION.—Mr.
Micawber is in town.
He is looking for something to turn up.
He believes he would like a postoffice.
There is no man in his community more available for Collector.

In case he is not appointed Collector, he would make a good Appraiser.
Or a Special Agent.
Or a Storekeeper.
The thing he dotes on is a Consul-ship. In this connection it may be mentioned that his pronunciation of French is said by natives to be remarkable.

But, in case no appointment is available just now, perhaps President Garfield will be so good as to make a note of his case.
Or lend him $10.
Or get him a pass home.
He is not exacting.
—[Washington Republican.]

THE BANISH PARISH.—Another parish has voted to prohibit the sale of liquor within its limits. At the recent election in West Carroll the temperance advocates carried every ward.— [Donaldsonville Chief.]
