

Millinery, Millinery, Millinery. O. T. SCHINDLER, AUTUMN & WINTER STYLES. HOLIDAY GOODS, NOVELTIES, In FANS, SATCHELS, COMBS, ORNAMENTS, TOILET ARTICLES, JEWELRY, etc., etc., too numerous to particularize. Ladies invited to call or address me by letter. Hair Department also complete.

G. T. SCHILLING, 157 & 159 Canal St., NEW ORLEANS.

HEADQUARTERS FOR MILL MEN, LOG MEN, STOCK MEN & PLANTERS

J. W. BRYAN, DEALER IN On the Public Square, At the Old Corner, A Little of Everything. WAGONS, CARRIAGES, BUGGIES, Always on Hand.

STEAM RICE MILL AND CYPRESS SHINGLE MANUFACTORY, LAKE CHARLES, LOUISIANA.

THOS. HANSEN, Proprietor. I AM NOW PREPARED to execute promptly, and in the most satisfactory manner, all orders for CLEANING RICE raised in this section of Louisiana. Samples of rice cleaned at my mill can be seen there, and at the various stores in Lake Charles, and I invite their inspection. The Highest Market Price paid for rough rice; also clean rice exchanged for rough rice.

CYPRESS SHINGLES, The Best Manufactured on the Calcasieu River, ALWAYS ON HAND.

THOS. HANSEN. I RESPECTFULLY SOLICIT ORDERS from lumber dealers and private parties, guaranteeing satisfaction in price and quality. Lake Charles, March 3, 1883.

Educational. LOUISIANA STATE UNIVERSITY, Agricultural and Mechanical College. The next session of this institution begins October 4th, 1883, and closes July 4th, 1884.

Miscellaneous Cards. VEGETABLE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE. A sure and reliable remedy for Torpidity of the Liver, Bile, etc.

UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA, Faculty of 25 Professors. 400 Students in attendance during the past session.

THE PEOPLES DRUG STORE, W. A. KNAPP, Agent. PHARMACIST, (MEXICAN OLD STAND.) LAKE CHARLES, LOUISIANA.

JOS. ECKART, Watchmaker and Jeweler. My watches and jewelry will be carefully repaired and guaranteed. The accuracy of the public is respectfully solicited. Lake Charles, June 23, 1882.

FRANK'S FERRY, NEW HADAM, ON THE CALCASIEU RIVER. The traveling public are hereby informed that I have a strong, new flat, 50 feet long, to be used for the purpose of crossing the river. Passage, stable facilities and a comfortable sleeping quarters free. Any accident occurring through negligence of ferry will be given to the extent of the loss. For further information, apply to the undersigned at Lake Charles, La. D. A. HORTMAN, jan-18-17.

MYRTLE KENNEDY INSTITUTE, WILL REOPEN, January 2nd, 1883. AND CONTINUE throughout the regular school session. My system of instruction is the best in the world. Particular attention given to mathematics. Special lessons in Algebra and Geometry. For further information, apply to the undersigned at Lake Charles, La. M. KENNEDY, jan-18-17.

O. T. SCHINDLER, Ship Builder, Contractor and Repairer, LAKE CHARLES, LOUISIANA.

B. SWEENEY, CONTRACTOR, SHIP BUILDER AND REPAIRER, Lake Charles, Louisiana.

CHEAPEST JOB PRINTING In the South. HENRY B. MYERS' PRINTING AGENCY, NO. 27 NATCHEZ ST., P. O. Box 2668, NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA.

DAVID REIMS, DEALER IN BEEF, VEAL, PORK and MUTTON, RYAN STEERT, LAKE CHARLES.

NEW FRENCH STAR BAKERIES (CONSOLIDATED.) J. M. TAYLOR, Proprietor.

MENSING, STRATTON & CO. Successors to MOORE, STRATTON & CO. S. H. MENSING & BRO.

WHOLESALE GROCERS AND IMPORTERS, Cotton Factors, and GEN'L COMMISSION MERCHANTS, Corner Strand and 22d Sts., Galveston.

CHOICE MILL SITE FOR SALE! TITLE GUARANTEED! THE UNDERSIGNED OFFERS for sale 118 ACRES Timbered Land, located at the mouth of the Calcasieu River, a short distance from the Calcasieu Lumber Company's saw mill, at Grandport. Any one desiring to purchase a mill site will do well to apply at once. MICHEL BENOIT.

PAUL SULLIVAN, HOUSE, SIGN AND Scene Painter, GRADING, GLAZING, MARBLING, PAPER HANGING AND DECORATING.

EXCELSIOR DAIRY, W. M. COURTNEY, Manager. LAKE CHARLES, LOUISIANA.

MORSE'S AGUE MAGNETS. DEY, T. J. YOST, Proprietor of the "MAGNETS" for ague, recommends the following: "Having been afflicted with malaria for years, and having taken quinine till my nerves began to be affected, I began to try the 'MAGNETS' for malaria of every kind, only to be disappointed. I was accused by a business man with whom I have had acquaintance, that if I would use Prof. Morse's 'Ague Magnet', according to directions, they would cure me. I am now prepared to say that I am cured, and I feel that I have never been better. A friend will use the 'MAGNETS' with me to be convinced that they are what I need. T. J. YOST, jan-18-17.

NIX'S FERRY & STORE, ONE MILE ABOVE Lake Charles, On the Calcasieu River. THE UNDERSIGNED wishes to inform the traveling public and stock owners that he has put his ferry and boat on a good site, and is ready to accommodate all who may wish to cross with him, with everything that is generally required by stock men and travelers. He has a large flat, suitable for crossing any kind of stock, also two chain boats for carrying. Passage on each side of the river, free of charge. For further information, apply to the undersigned at Lake Charles, La. NIX'S FERRY, jan-18-17.

FRANCE and China will shortly "mix," so the dispatches indicate. It is said France will have at least one European ally. JOB BRADY has been convicted of the murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Burke, and will swing on the 14th of May.

McDANIEL is the name of the gentleman who will be elected Governor of Georgia in a few days. He was a "dark horse" in the convention.

THERE are said to be about 7000 visitors at Hot Springs this spring. When we take a jaunt it shall be to Kissimmee City. Just because the name is so sweet, you know.

THE mayor of Cincinnati gets on a "high old lonesome" occasionally. He should be given the grand bounce.—Orange Tribune, 13th. The mayor went out of office on the 13th. Strange coincidence!

Kentucky has thirty-five counties in which no newspapers are published.—Exchange. There is not much trouble in those counties in securing a jury to try an important murder case.

ON our beautiful sanatorium wall is where we should like to hang a picture of the fair editress of the Gretna Courier as she waded around in the mud at Goulbaboro, a few days ago, taking notes.

THE officials recently arrested 2000 people in Moscow on suspicion of being engaged in plotting against the life of the czar. About half the population of Russia are engaged in that business just now.

THE end of the star route trials is being hinted at. An acquittal or a hung jury for Dorsey is predicted. Government detectives are shadowing the jury to prevent the poor fellows from being forced to accept a bribe.

LOUIS has returned to the arms of Lorne, much improved by her stay in the Bermudas. The marquis met his lady at Boston, and was nearly scared to death by the bursting of a bomb in the street before the steamer landed.

THE Texas legislature adjourned on Friday last. It has been a very hard-working and generally harmonious body. They all wanted to do as near right as possible but they did not always agree on what was right nor the way of doing it.

BAGGS must go, and who is not glad? This from the latest fashion notes settles the bang: "Girls of all ages above two and under seventeen wear their front hair in a straight Vandyk band, and the back hair slightly crimped and blowing back on the shoulders."

THE Corpus Christi (Tex.) Daily Cricket shows up this week. We don't know whether Corpus needed a daily or not but suppose the publishers of this new paper were satisfied on that point before they started in. It is well filled with ads, and is as neat as a new spring bonnet. Wish it success.

THE resignation of Richard Crowley as special assistant counsel for the United States in the prosecution of the alleged election fraud cases in South Carolina, is a singular freak. It is said that his fees would have amounted to about $35,000. We never heard of a Republican throwing away such a piece of chicken-pie before.

AN exodus of cattle from Texas has commenced. About seventy-five thousand head, will be taken over the railroads from Millers to Wichita Falls, a distance of 360 miles. Two hundred and fifteen trains will be required to move this immense herd. The stockmen have found out that it is cheaper to ship cattle by rail than to drive them.

BOWERS of roses and honey-suckles, boxes of fragrant violets, bunches of verbena, boxes of hyacinths and lilies, beds and squares of floxes, pinks and various other small flowers, greet us with their varied hues and commingled odors each day as we pass out and in, from and to our humble home.—S. E. TEXAS.

Love in a cottage is not so bad with such surroundings. ROBT MARSEY was hung at Fort Smith, Ark., on the 18th inst., for the murder of Edwin P. Clark in the Indian Territory last December. The murdered man was stooping down to drink when his traveling companion shot him in the back of the head in order to get possession of $100 he had on his person. He was convicted on circumstantial evidence.

LOUISIANA GLEANINGS. The orange crop in Plaquemine parish looks promising. Small-pox prevails among the negroes in Caddo parish. Poisonous eels are said to infest the waters at Baton Rouge.

Bayou Sara and Jackson are now connected by telephone. Morgan City has a barrel manufactory, recently completed.

Amite City is to have a new court-house by the 1st of Nov. Alexandria is making preparations for a billiard tournament. Dewberry parties and picnics are in order around Morgan City. The new Baptist church in Baton Rouge will soon be completed.

The Baton Rouge brick company is one of the paying enterprises of that city. The People's Vindicator thinks the fruit crop of that section will be immense.

Since the death of Mr. LeSueur it is the "Capitolian-Advocate Publishing Company." Willie Bourgeois, 2 years old, won a handsome bronche in a raffle at Haberville. The postoffice formerly known as Live Oak, in Terrebonne parish, is now called Dulac.

Mr. Zenon Gremillon, aged 70, died in his chair while smoking his pipe in False river. More corn has been planted in East Carroll this season than any season since the war.

A citizen of Ouachita parish has applied for a patent on a cotton chopper and scraper. Mr. A. M. Brashers, of Alexandria, has invented a hay press and will apply for a patent.

A little son of Newton Reeves, Union parish, was killed last week by a tree falling on him. Fourteen converts were recently baptized by the pastor of Shiloh Baptist church, Alexandria.

President Parkerson, of the Louisiana Western, has purchased the Groose Tete road for $41,000. A skating rink has been opened at Houma; the girls slip up and the modest boys are shocked.

Town Talk says the shafting and engines are being placed in the new lumber mill at Alexandria. The Magnolia Mound plantation was sold recently at sheriff's sale. The taxes amounted to $1,403.70.

Dodley Sanders, white, has been acquitted at Franklin of the charge of murdering Sol. Grimes, colored. At Franklin, Thos. Washington has been convicted of the murder of Antoine Jones and goes up for life.

The Baton Rouge yarn company offers employment to boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 16 years. The Vindicator wants to hear from the Natchitoches school board, and suggests quarterly statements.

Bienville parish has $2296 cash in her treasury, a sufficient sum with which to liquidate all parish indebtedness. The fruit crop of Union parish will be very short. Peaches were killed and the apple crop will not exceed one-half.

Marksville wants some kind of amusements and would be glad to have even phantom parties like Alexandria has. The question of connecting New Iberia and Abbeville by rail is under consideration. The distance is about 20 miles.

Mrs. A. J. Simoneaud died recently at Jeuneville. The last 13 hours before death the unfortunate lady swooned 120 times. J. A. Schuler, of Madisonville, has been exhibiting some samples of jute raised by him, the strands of which are ten feet long.

The Catholic church at Donaldsonville still remains closed by direction of the archbishop. We thought the matter settled. At the recent commencement exercises of the Medical college in New Orleans, a class of about 50 young gentlemen graduated.

Mr. Will Steven, secretary and treasurer of the board of administration of the charity hospital, New Orleans, died on the 20th inst.

The 4th ward of Pointe Coupee parish has a population of 1200 and in the whole ward there is not 200 acres of land out of water.

Hon. Allen J. J. J. is the choice of the Iberville South for governor, the present faithful and competent auditor of accounts. The police jury of Vermilion parish publish G. B. Shaw, the sheriff and tax-collector, as a defaulter to the tune of $3823.21.

Two more of the election cases in New Orleans have been tried and defendants acquitted. Judge Billings refuses to try any more. There were 27 convictions at the recent term of the district court in Opelousas, ranging from manslaughter to carrying concealed weapons.

Minden has a labor-saving machine to work the streets of the town. Just the thing. What is it? Where did you get it? What did it cost? The grand jury of DeSoto parish condemn the old jail as unfit for use, and, as there is money in the treasury, a new jail is next in order, of course.

The Observer says St. Martinville will have, by October 1st, a cotton mill where also can be manufactured cotton seed oil and cotton seed meal. The Sabine Southron says: "Mr. Harvey Ganley of the Bayou Negre, sheared 15 lbs. of wool from one sheep last week. This beats cotton mightily bad."

Mr. C. M. Barrow, clerk of the district court at St. Francisville, narrowly escaped drowning last week while crossing Alexander's creek on horseback. Judge W. W. Farmer died at his residence in Monroe, on the 14th inst. aged 43. He was a prominent lawyer and had held several offices of honor and profit.

On the Keystone plantation in the parish of St. Martin Theodule Roberson, colored, while drunk, killed his step-brother, aged 15, without provocation. Twenty-seven schools have been ordered opened in Terrebonne parish. Owing to the scarcity of funds they can only remain open three or four months.

The Bugle Call goes in with a vim—a column—for Hot casty and Nichols. How would it work to put Nichols first and give Hot casty the second place? Some parishes in this state have had too much rain and others not enough. Gardens and flowers are booming in some of the towns and in others they have barely started.

A picked nine of Rapides parish have challenged the base-ball club of Donaldsonville or Shreveport to a game, for $500, and have put up $50 to show that they mean business. Lafayette parish donated $100 out of the parish treasury to the building fund of the New Orleans charity hospital. While the object is worthy the tax-payers will very likely kick.

A negro preacher at Tiger Bluff loved the dusky females much and wanted to embrace them all. The negro men took him to the woods and gave him 120 lashes on his bare back. The charming ladies of Monroe are giving very successful dramatic and operatic entertainments. The proceeds are doubtless devoted to charitable purposes. Such entertainments are instructive.

The Banner says Pointe Coupee will soon have one and possibly two new school houses, and the people of the parish are taking a more lively interest in the schools than ever before. A band of gypsies are camped near Opelousas. Although they do not work they dress well and keep fine horses. Thos. Sweeney is told to "move on" the better it will be for Opelousas.

Louisiana cattle are being shipped to Texas in large numbers—44 car-loads left Shreveport recently at one time. It looks strange to be shipping cattle to Texas, the state of boundless prairies and cattle kings. The sheriff of Jefferson parish recently shipped a colored man. If the City Item, the source of our first information, had mentioned that fact we should not have mentioned last week that he had left his family behind.

The Sonnet plantation in St. Charles parish, containing 1200 arpents of land, 65 of which is planted in cane, with a good dwelling, etc., was recently adjudicated to Mr. B. Rybisky, for $10,000, so the St. Charles Herald says.

SEVER WONDERS of the World. Joseph Cook enumerates the seven wonders of the modern world as follows: The first is the spread of inter-communication. Boston, London, or any of the large cities of the world, is as near to the ends of the earth as Rome was to the borders of its empire.

The second great wonder is the self-reformation of the human race. Japan has made changes greater than any other nation has made in twenty-five years, and receives missionaries cordially. Some of their pupils have been at the bottom of the recent reformation in the empire. Japan is more largely under the influence of America than any other country.

The third great wonder of the world is the rapid parallel advancement of education and democracy all over the world, and the fourth is the world-wide unity of civilization. If he could see the thing he most desired, it would be a league, not a union, of the world's leading nations. He would have conventions held for the codification of international law. By an alliance difficulties would be settled by arbitration, and not by war. It will be the duty of Christians to lay their hands on the throat of any power hostile to peace and break his throat.

The fifth of modern wonders of the world is the triumph of Christianity. In the first 1200 years of Christianity it gained 100,000,000 of people as adherents. In the next 300 years it gained 100,000,000. In the next 82 years (the present century) it has gained 210,000,000. These people are communicants in the church. At the opening of this century the United States had one in fifteen in its free churches. Now it has one in five. The Bible has fast become the constitution of the advanced nations. A community of text-books is approaching.

Sixth in the wonders of the world is the current fulfillment of Biblical prophecy. Whatever be said of the book of Daniel, it was not written after the beginning of Christianity, and it outlines the history of Christianity. Soon will the lights of Christian ships and the bells of Christian churches be within sight and hearing of each other around the whole world.

The seventh and most marvelous wonder of the world is the establishment on a sure basis of a scientific supernaturalism. It is a thing settled by the best authority of microscopists, physiologists and chemists that the origin of life is not explained by the molecular theory of physics. A theory of evolution may be proved, but the theory, as held by materialistic agnostics, has been already abandoned. Nine out of ten of the best scientific men now are theists and utterly opposed to agnostic atheism. The tendency of science is not now away from Christianity.

Helmholtz looks earnestly for a successor to teach the Christian views of Herman Lotze. Ulrich says that Prof. Brown, of Boston University, has the most philosophic, keenest mind of America.

The Indians. San Antonio Express. Information reached here yesterday that a band of Indians, supposed to be Kickapoo from Mexico, had crossed the Rio Grande at Eagle's Nest and were cavorting around in Texas. About a week ago the Mexican government found that some of the Indians in the Santa Rosa mountains were on the move and detailed a force to watch them. Those who crossed the river at Eagle's Nest are supposed to be the ones, as a Mexican officer and fifty men followed them to the river but did not attempt to attack them as they thought they were outnumbered. The officer came over to this side and sent word up to the Seminole scouts to come down, and it is probable an effort will be made to hunt down those marauding rascals. Their purpose on this side is thought to be stock-stealing. Roy Bean, when he heard they had crossed, became alarmed for the safety of his stock and is taking means to protect them, and other stock owners are doing likewise. At one of the little stations near Eagle's Nest, where there was a work train, the agent, his wife and children and the workmen pulled up the road to a safer place. The sunset train passing through that country are well guarded, and there is a little cause to fear that the Indians will make an attack on them. It is to be hoped these depredators may be caught and made to suffer severely. Philantropists may talk about "Poor Lo" and plead for mercy and pardon for him, but the Mexican Indian has pretty thoroughly demonstrated that the only way he will accept civilization, salvation or anything else the white man has to offer, is by killing him to prove that we mean what we say sometimes.

The following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."

THE following story is recalled by an exchange in illustration of the new Postmaster-General's character: One day when an important case was called the District Attorney announced that it would be withdrawn from the docket. "By whose authority?" asked Judge Graham. "By instructions from Washington," was the reply. "But whose instructions?" The rejoinder was, "It is not yours, unsatisfactory." "We do not recognize the right of any body at Washington, even the president himself," said Judge Graham. "To interfere whether by instructions or otherwise in the trial of a case in this court," returned the District Attorney. "The case," returned the judge, "is a case in this court, and it is for the court to decide."