TO SUGAR PLANTERS.
HEBERT and MES'
IMPROVED
CONNECTED STEAM SUGAR TRAIN.
The simple, best and most economical mode of manufacturing the finest quality
OF BROWN SUGAR.

WITH the use of this STEAM TRAIN the sugar maker can always maintain the proper point of "liming" in the cane juice, and, as it is treated continuously as a boiling mass, the subsequent clarification and cleansing of the albuminous and other impurities in the juice is rendered perfect, previous to its being concentrated to the sugar point in the "battery," dispensing with the use of "Settling Tanks," Steam Pumps, "Bone Black," "Vacuum Pans," "Centrifugals," &c. &c., heretofore required in all other Steam Trains.
Recommended by the officers of the Fair held at Baton Rouge, March, 1859, J. A. Dougherty, Esq., President, "as possessing great facilities, and having advantages over any other on exhibition and worthy the first premium."
Planters, and others interested, are invited to call and examine the working model.
Also, AMES' "Star" PANS, for granulating sugar, the best in use, and having advantages over all others.
The "CONNECTED STEAM TRAIN" and "STAR PANS" are guaranteed to possess the distinctive features claimed for them, and can be furnished at prices lower than any others.

THE TUTTLE HOUSE.
The undersigned proprietor deems it expedient to inform the TRAVELLING PUBLIC in particular, as well as Regular Boarders, that the above House--which has been established about two years, more as a Private Boarding House than a Hotel--has lately, by the advice of friends and the urgent demands of the public, been extended to a depth as great as its former length, and now presents, in the extent and style of its accommodations, the characteristics of a first class Hotel, second to no other in the country parishes, to which he invites the attention of all requiring accommodations of the character which may be expected at a first class Hotel.
The TUTTLE HOUSE is most eligibly situated, both for the convenience of Travellers and the Business Community. It is situated on the corner of Bank and Plaquemine streets, opposite the steamboat landing, and immediately on a line with the late Planters' (Bissell's) Hotel, and about one hundred yards distant from the river. In front of the House there is a handsome portico, above and below, an extensive Reading and Reception Room, in which there is one of the best Safes, for the preservation of valuables, anywhere to be found--a delightful Dining Room and Bed Rooms, &c., that cannot be excelled; in front and partly around the house there is a yard of fine green sward, most delightful for children. In line, the undersigned is confident that Travellers and others will find at the TUTTLE HOUSE every comfort and attention that could be expected at Hotels of the highest reputation, and at prices that cannot fail to be acceptable.
The late improvements being now almost completed, with an entire new outfit of Furniture, Bedding, &c., the TUTTLE HOUSE is confidently thrown open to the public as a first class hotel, to which the undersigned respectfully invites all who desire quiet and elegant accommodations.

DEPARTURE OF THE JAPANESE.--The Japanese embassy left this country on their return to their far-off home, on Saturday last, after perhaps one of the most favorable sojourns that so extraordinary an embassy from one country ever enjoyed within the border of another. The splendid United States steamship Niagara sailed with them from New York about two o'clock on Saturday afternoon direct for Japan, via Cape of Good Hope, and will reach her destination in about 100 days. The preliminaries and preparations for the departure on the previous day was somewhat interesting, as follows:

The embassy left the Metropolitan Hotel and were escorted to pier North river by the Common Council Committee, the seventy-first regiment, and the naval commissioners. After a delightful sail on the Harriet Lane, up the North and East rivers, viewing the Great Eastern and the navy yard on the route, they were placed on board the Niagara, and their escort bade them adieu. Before leaving, the first ambassador had taken off his outer garment or coat, with which he invested Mr. Leland, explaining it as the highest order of Japanese compliment. "Tommy" had also presented Mr. W. W. Leland with the suit of clothes which he wore at the reception of President Buchanan, saying, "I hope you will keep them in my remembrance."

The five princes of the Japanese were present at a wedding ceremony, in full costume, on Wednesday last, at Grace Church. The princes had expressed a wish to see a funeral, a lawsuit and a wedding, and were gratified. This was their only entrance into a place of religious worship in America. They expressed themselves surprised and delighted by the beauty of the edifice.

FOR THE POLAR SEAS.--Dr. Hayes left New York on the 22d ult., for Boston, whence he was to sail some day last week, for the Polar Seas, in search of further discoveries. Dr. H., we believe, attended the Kane expedition, and is therefore versed in the hardships and deprivations to be encountered, and has the advantage of the experience already obtained, in planning and conducting the new expedition.

A PROFANE MAN.--Several years since, on a warm Sabbath morning while the Rev. D. B., of a well known fishing town in Massachusetts, was holding forth, a tame crow which had been taught to utter one expression only, and that a wicked one--flew into church and alighted on the pulpit, saluted the minister with God d--ye, whereupon the frightened as well as horror stricken parson 'drew off' and gave the 'gentleman in black' a winder that sent him to the floor. Nothing daunted by this, however, the crow was soon on his legs and looking up at the reverend gentleman, repeated the salutation with such an emphasis that he took to his heels, and together with his congregation scampered from the sacred edifice in double quick time. One little old woman whose seat was in the corner, did not see fit to follow the example of the shepherd or his flock, but firmly kept her position; upon seeing which the crow advanced to her, and hopping on the seat in front of her, again gave vent to its favorite expression; the old woman, not a little astonished at his impudence, and evidently taking him for an evil spirit in the form of a bird, yelled at him: 'God d--you, too! What you God d-- me for? I don't belong to this church!' And giving him a wipe with her umbrella, she cleared the coast, leaving the church to silence and to the crow.

DIED OF JOY.--A Richmond paper gives an account of the death of a resident of that city from joy. He had succeeded, after long litigation in the courts, in recovering $1,100 from a debtor, which so elated him that on its reception he was seized with apoplexy, and died in less than a day.

ONE OF NATURE'S WONDERS.--The bottomless pit in the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky is suspected by many to run through the whole diameter of the earth. The branch terminates in it, and the explorer suddenly finds himself brought upon its brink, standing upon a projecting platform, surrounded on three sides by darkness and terror, a gulf on right and a gulf on the left, and before him what seems an interminable void. He looks aloft; but no eye has yet reached the top of the great overarching dome, nothing is there seen but the flashing of the water dropping from above, smiling as it shoots by in the unwonted gleam of the lamp. He looks below, and nothing there meets his glance save darkness as thick as lampblack, and he hears a wild, mournful melody of water, the wailing of the brook for the green and sunny channel, left in the upper world never more to be revisited. Down goes a rock, tumbled over the cliff by the guide, who is of the opinion that folks come here to see and hear, not to muse and be melancholy. There it goes--crash! it has reached the bottom. No--bark, it strikes again; once more and again, still falling. Will it never stop? One's hair begins to bristle as he hears the sound repeated, growing less and less, until the ear can follow it no longer. Certainly, if the pit of Frederick shall be eleven thousand feet deep, the bottomless pit of the Mammoth Cave must be its equal.

CURIOUS.--What an unaccountable medley of strength and weakness is man! Bacon, it is said, fell back inanimate at the occurrence of an eclipse. The astute and erudite Erasmus was alarmed at the sight of an apple. Bayle, the great lexicographer, swooned at a noise made by some water as it escaped, drop by drop, from a cock. Henry of France, the third of that name, though he had driven his enemies before him at Jarnac, trembled from head to foot at the sight of a cat. When a hare crossed the celebrated Duke d'Epemon's path, his blood stagnated in his veins. The masculine-minded Mary of Medicis fainted away whenever a nose-gay was in sight. A shudder overcame the learned Scaliger on perceiving cresses. Ivan the Second, Czar of Muscovy, would faint away on seeing a woman; and Albert, a brave field-marshal of France, fell insensibly to the ground, on discovering a sucking-pig served up at his own table!--Notes and Queries.

SUNSHINE.--Sunshine is beautiful and joy-inspiring always. All things animate and inanimate take on a new life in its presence. Not a flower but gracefully recognizes it, not a song-bird but carols the sweeter under its touch. How the rivulets flash, and the broad waters shimmer to its glance, while the valley atmosphere is goldenly a-haze, and the grand old woods and mountains are all a flame with its kisses. Earth, that under the cloud and the night shade seemed like one stricken with a mighty sorrow, now trends her round of space like a new-crowned queen. Who amid the gushing sunshine can think of aught but life, health, joy, music, beauty and splendor? Under the cloudless canopy of heaven, seems there fitting place for grief, or gloom, or death? O, the voices of sunshine are voices of life--glad, exuberant life!--Mrs. Mowatt.

"If there is anything I hate, it is a woman with a lap dog! I always want to drown it and put a baby in its place," says cruel Fanny Fern, forgetting that two often the owners feel the same way, but take the dog because they can't have the baby. Shouldn't be hard on the sex, Fanny, because you've done a little something for your country.--Boston Post.

YOUNG AMERICA WONDERS.--Wonder why mamma keeps Bridget at home from church to work all day, and says it is wicked for me to build my rabbit house on Sunday?
Wonder why our minister bought that pretty cane with the yellow lion's head on the top, and then asked me for my cent to put in the missionary box?--Don't I want a Jewsharp just as much as he wants a cane?
Wonder what makes pa tell such nice stories to visitors about hiding the master's ratan when he went to school, and about his running away from his schoolmistress when she was going to whip him, and then shut me up in a dark room because I tried, just once, to be as smart as he was?
Wonder why mamma tells pa he is cross when he comes home at night and says his tea is weak, and ties a handkerchief over my mouth so that I can neither speak or breathe because I happen to say she is cross?
Wonder what made pa say that wicked word when Betsey upset the ink all over his papers and then snapped my ears because I said the same thing when my kite's string broke?
Oh dear! there are lots of things that I want to know. How I wish I was a man!
