PROSPECTUS.

Young Ladies Academy AND CONVENT OF HOLY CROSS, quemine, (Iberville), La.

THIS INSTITUTION is beautifully situated in the centre of the town of Plaquemine, between Court, Church and Plaquemine streets.

The buildings are large and commodious, and the grounds of good ample space for amusement and healthy exercise. The Institution being situated within a few minutes walk of the steamboat landing, enjoys the advantage of easy and frequent access. It is conducted by the Sisters of Holy Cross, who being wholly devoted to the important work of public instruction, spare no pains to improve the hearts of their pupils in virtue and piety; themselves to return the children to their parents improved in virtue and learning.

To impart a thorough education in the highest sense of the word—to train the moral and intellectual being—to develop sound health and elegant manners, is an object of constant attention. The system of government is mild and maternal, aiming to guide rather than to drive the pupils along the path of duty. The comforts and personal habits of the young ladies, receive the same attention as in the most refined family circle.

Religion is the ground-work of education. The Institution is Catholic; but young ladies of all denominations are admitted, provided they are willing for the sake of order and uniformity, to attend the exercises of public worship. The course of Education embraces all the branches usually taught in Academies, with the facility of primary instruction in both the English and French languages, at the option of parents.

KETTLE SETTING.

A Labor of Years Reduced to a Few Days. HAVING been induced by frequent solicitation, to make public the science of Kettle Setting that I practice, I hereby give notice to all persons desiring to acquire a knowledge of the art, that I will give them instructions for the setting of Kettles, for either wood or coal, on application to me.

My system is based upon principles, the plausibility and correctness of which admit of no contradiction, which are quickly and fully comprehended, and therefore not liable to be easily forgotten.

I have models for five different constructions of Kettles, and designs by which instruction is made easy, and the art soon acquired. Copies of designs or drawings are given to those whom I instruct. All those to whom I teach my system, are also assisted by my services, if required.

Instructions are only given to those who have been three or four years at the business of Kettle Setting, and are good workmen.

For further particulars, inquire, by letter or otherwise, of the undersigned. JOHN TOWNSEND, Plaquemine, (Parish of Iberville), La., Feb. 25, 1860.

CHARLES BYRNE, No. 46 Tchoupitoulas st., between Poydras and Gravier, Manufacturer of Copper, Sheet Iron and Tinware, etc., Dealer in Stoves and Stove Pipe.

MAKES every description of Copper Work, including STILLs, of from 20 to 2000 gallons, and Sheet Iron Work and Tinware, etc.; Blacksmithing and General Jobbing and repairing in the metallic line attended to. He keeps a good assortment of TINWARE on hand, which is offered at very low prices, both by wholesale and retail.

CHARLES BYRNE would also state that he keeps constantly on hand a supply and assortment of the best description of both Heating and Cooking Stoves as can be found elsewhere, one description of which, entirely of his own manufacture, the BYRNE STOVE, would cook for from 30 persons to 300, or even up to 800 or 900, according to size, there being seven sizes. This description of Stove is extraordinary for simplicity, strength, compactness and convenience of being moved from place to place without liability to injury, also for durability. No stove can excel it for baking, frying, boiling or broiling; its capacious oven has an apparatus, easily managed, and not liable to get out of order, that when properly used, causes meat of all descriptions, as well as fish, vegetables, fruit, pastry and bread, etc., which may be put in it, at the same time, to be baked, or more properly speaking roasted, in the best possible manner, and to be dry and crisp on the surface, as if cooked before an open fire, and each article is raising its own particular flavor, all the damp sweat and fumes arising from the different articles undergoing the process of cooking, being carried entirely off the moment they arise. It can also be made to have the power to consume nearly its own smoke; it has besides a draft regulator to govern the fire. "THE BYRNE STOVE" will either suit for wood or coal, and besides has the advantage of admitting of another stove being attached, or added on to it, which can be done with very little trouble, and without any alteration or change in its form or construction. When put together the two form a splendid range, and ARE WORKED WITH ONLY THE ONE FIRE, that of the first. The additional stove, serving in conjunction with the first to do all descriptions of baking, as well as for heating purposes, etc. The furnaces or fire-box being lined all round with heavy separate cast iron plates, and separate heavy grate bars, they get warped or burned from the constant action of the fire, all or any of them can be renewed by the maker (who retains all the original patterns) at very trifling expense, which will render the stove as good as new. These guard plates have very seldom to be renewed before the expiration of two years, and from that up to three or four years, and the sheet iron part, if the foregoing is attended to, will easily last for eight to ten years. This stove is now in use on steamships, steamboats, in hotels, boarding-houses and on many plantations, where large numbers are to be cooked for, and in several private families.

C. B. offers the above and all his other descriptions of excellent heating and cooking stoves, and other articles to the public at reasonable prices; he refrains from exaggerating or overrating the quality of his goods. All his goods, and particularly his stoves, being marked at the lowest prices, he cannot allow ten per cent deduction to commission merchants or agents. may5 CHAS. BYRNE.

J. B. SOLARI HAS just returned from New Orleans, bringing a large and well assorted stock of Groceries, of all kinds. Also, just received from St. Louis, a lot of Flour—extra and superfine. Lard, Hams and Butter of first quality.

As it is my intention to keep on hand a full supply of everything in my line, a call solicited from my old friends and customers. Store opposite Nicol's. my16-11
