Capture of Walker's Expedition! Full and Important Particulars.

Gen. Walker and Col. Rudler Shot! THE REST OF THE MEN SENT HOME.

[From the Liberator.] By the receipt of our Havana mail in full, since our last, we have been put in possession of full and important particulars of the capture of Gen. Walker and his Expedition to Honduras, and the probable fate of the leaders, and the disposition of the men, upwards of seventy in number, most of whom are natives of the United States.

Our latest news, it will be remembered, left the expedition retreating from Truxillo, at a place called Linas, or Limon, some thirty miles from the abandoned city, in the direction of Cape Gracias. This was Sunday, the 25th ult. There were then seventy-six men in all, in good health and spirits, as reported, with three or four wounded in late engagements with the natives. It was reported at the same time that the natives had desisted from the pursuit, and that there was no danger of further annoyance by land.

All this turns out to be true. On the 21st instant, however, an expedition was fitted out from the port of Truxillo, for the express purpose of the capture of Walker and his men. This expedition consisted of the British steam sloop-of-war Leurus, Capt. Salmon, and a smaller vessel, name and nationality not given. But she is presumed to have been a Honduran coaster. Both had on board native Honduran troops, under the command of Gen. Alvarez, of the department in which Truxillo is situated, the same who took possession of the city after Walker had abandoned it.

This expedition, thus fitted out, at whose suggestion is not stated, proceeded down the coast to the mouth of the Rio Negro, on or near which Walker and his men were encamped; the troops sent up the river in the small boats of the fawns; Walker and all his men, apparently without resistance, captured; taken down to the steamer, and thence to Truxillo, where they were formally delivered over into the hands of Gen. Alvarez. [There appears some mistake here, as it is stated above that the Honduran portion of the expedition was under the command of Alvarez. It is probable he remained, and sent some subordinate officer on such duty. It would have been more in conformity with military rule.—Gaz. & Sen.]

According to the report before us, there were, at the time of the capture, some seventy men, beside Gen. Walker and Col. Rudler. The exact number was probably seventy-six, including the wounded. "Many of them were sick, and nearly all in a deplorable state," all of which we can well believe.

On delivering the prisoners up to Gen. Alvarez, Commander Salmon is said to have demanded that Walker's followers, both officers and men, except Col. Rudler, should be permitted to return unharmed to the United States. This, however, only on condition that they swear never hereafter to serve in any expedition against Central America.—Their passage home, moreover, was to be paid by the American Consul, Mr. Folin. In the meantime they were lodged in the castle which they had so recently abandoned.

In favor of Walker himself, and Col. Rudler, his second in command, no conditions were exacted. They were delivered up to be dealt with according to the laws of the country, and it is believed, have already been shot.

This important news was brought to Havana by the Spanish war steam Francisco de Assis, which left Onno, Honduras, on the 6th, and Truxillo on the 7th. This steamer, it will be remembered, left Havana on the 2d, for the Central American coast, no doubt to watch this very expedition of whose capture she is the first to report back the news.

The New Steamer IBERVILLE.—The energetic managers of the New Orleans and Bayou Sara mail and passenger line are determined to take the lead of all others in having perfect, safe, swift and elegant boats. They have already built six within two years, and now add the IBERVILLE. In all that pertains to the construction of a good boat, and a comfortable one for passengers, there has been nothing omitted, and no restrictions of money in her outfit. She has a splendid model, ample power, and will prove as fast as any boat in the South. She is designed especially to ply in the regular triweekly mail line, and on her arrival at New Orleans will be in charge of Capt. V. B. Baranco, a very popular boatman, who was formerly captain of the famous clipper D. F. Kenner.

The IBERVILLE combines strength with beauty, comfort with safety, and to Capt. Isaac Hooper, under whose constant supervision she was built, great praise is due for the production of such a perfect boat. The cabin is very spacious and comfortable, and all the rooms are supplied with every necessary convenience, while her tableware, pantryware, silver service, chandeliers, chinaware and all else in that line are of the best materials and most chaste and modern patterns.

The following are the power and dimensions of the IBERVILLE: Length of hull on deck, 193 feet, with 36 feet beam, 31 feet floor and 7 1/2 feet depth, capacity for burthen as well as speed, making her a very desirable boat for the trade. The hull was built by Hill & Payne, of New Albany. The engines by Peter Tilton & Co., of New Albany, consist of two cylinders each 26 inches in diameter with 8 feet stroke. The engines are the same which were in the famous C. D. Jr., one of the fastest boats in the Southern waters. She has six large boilers, each 24 feet in length and 38 inches in diameter. Also, an extra doctor-boiler for the doctor engine, together with all the requirements of the law for safety, and all the improvements suggested by the progress of the times.

KENTUCKY.—"A gentleman from Bourbon informed us on Monday, that at one precinct in that county he knew of twenty-eight Democrats who voted for Coombs at the late election, every one of whom will vote for Breckinridge in November; and at one precinct in Nicholas county, he knew fifteen others of the same sort." So it will be throughout the State. All the Bell Everetts and squatters combined, can never prevent Kentucky from voting for the men of the people's choice—the gallant Breckinridge and Lane.—Ninth Legion.

ALABAMA.—A letter from Springfield, Alabama, to the Montgomery Advertiser says: "We vote at this box about 140, and 139 are for Breckinridge and Lane. Yours, C. M. P."

VIRGINIA.—Says the last Virginia Sentinel: "We renew the assurance to our readers that the news which we are receiving as to the probability of Democratic success in Virginia, is of the most gratifying character. The party Democrats are not going to divide to give the State to Bell—and those Democrats who are strangely urging the party to that course are daily being deserted by the friends who they would thus mislead. We must stick together!"
