

BLIND GIRL PREACHES GOSPEL OF SUNSHINE

Helen Keller Gives Big Audience New Vision of Life.

TEACHER ALSO TALKS

Mrs. Macy Tells Story of Bringing Light to Girl's Brain.

Helen Keller has come and gone. She has preached her simple gospel of joy and sunshine and given hundreds of Richmond persons a new vision of life and a tighter grasp on their own possibilities.

A capacity house at the East Main Street Friends church last night greeted the educational marvels of the age, Miss Keller, the apt pupil, and her indefatigable teacher, Mrs. Macy.

When she faced the audience there was a breathless hush as the crowd awaited her first utterances. At the first, however, her fragrant, melodious, enunciated in colorless tones, came as a shock to her hearers.

See the Real Woman. Conversant with her brilliant mental achievements, the audience had expected too much of her vocal training. Those present who had just heard the story of Helen Keller from the lips of her teacher were unprepared for the real woman.

As she struggled on the reality of the story of how she had triumphed over silence and darkness flashed upon the listeners. Memory of the long hours she had spent in solitude surged over them. She was no longer an automaton, a vaudeville trick, but a real woman, and those uncanny sounds came not as a voice from the dead, but from a warm-blooded, emotional human being.

The thoughts she endeavored to convey had no adequate medium in artificial speech. But as she went on with her talk attention was turned from the voice to her face. Then for the first time the audience knew and loved Helen Keller.

Never Forget Smile. It was a face undimmed by the darkness that enshrouded her and glowing with the radiance of joy and love. The voice will soon be forgotten, but her face will linger long in pleasant memory. The real voice of Helen Keller will never be heard, but none that saw her last night can doubt its surpassing sweetness and beauty.

For over an hour, Mrs. Macy, who made Helen Keller what she is, told the story of her work; how she found the little girl in absolute darkness, blind and deaf and unable to communicate with the rest of her family. She told the story of her long hard work to bring light to the struggling brain; how her pupil responded to her efforts, and finally, after years of patient labor, finished her education at Radcliffe college.

Answers Questions. The most interesting part of the evening was when Miss Keller replied to questions from the audience. The questions asked were almost as interesting as the answers. "Are you happy?" was one question. The smile that spread over Miss Keller's face as sensitive fingers read the question from her teacher's lips was its own best answer to the question. "In what do you take the most pleasure?" was another question. The answer touched most of her hearers: "Next to a good book, I like to walk in the woods and play with children."

There are more jewels in the city of New York alone than in any other city of the world.

INDIANAPOLIS Ind., Dec. 17.

Hogs.—The entire heavy supply was sold within a very narrow range at a general cut of 5 cents in prices. More hogs were sold at 7.70 than any other figures.

Cattle.—A comparatively light run enabled salesmen to check the prevalent decline and the pens were well cleaned out, especially of fat stock. Stockers feeders bulls and calves held steady.

Sheep.—The normal supply was disposed of in good season at prices that differed but little from yesterday's figures.

JOHNSON CHARGES UNETHICAL CONDUCT

Judge Fox and Prosecutor Reller Subjects of Vitriolic Tirade.

Alleged unprofessional conduct of Prosecutor Reller in discussing a delinquency case with Judge Fox when the attorney for the defendant was not present, caused Henry F. Johnson, to deliver a vitriolic tirade against the court and prosecutor while court was in session today.

"Such action is contrary to all legal ethics," shouted Johnson. "It is unfair to me and my client. I will not stand for it."

"No conversation of the kind you mention ever took place," said Judge Fox vigorously waving the gavel.

"Some of my friends overheard it and told me," returned Mr. Johnson. "The prosecutor has no right to do such things."

"I am able to run this court," said Judge Fox.

Mr. Johnson refused to be appeased by the efforts of the prosecutor to explain that his conduct had been proper and continued his monologue until Sheriff Beyer took charge of the situation and restored peace by rapping for order.

MEETS TO RATIFY NURSE EMPLOYMENT

Domestic Science Association Takes Up Report of Directors.

Ratification of the action of the board of directors of the Domestic Science association in the matter of employing Miss Florence Benner of Cincinnati as visiting nurse, was brought before the club at the regular meeting in Garfield school this afternoon.
