In the rear of the East Main Street Friends' church stands the big tabernacle, which, in a week, will be the scene of one of the most extensive revivals in the history of the city.

The big choir of four hundred voices accompanied by an orchestra of thirty-five pieces will be one of the most inspiring features of the meeting. The choir has been holding rehearsals for the past two weeks.

A large stage at the east end of the building is reserved for the singers and the evangelists. Four hundred chairs have been placed on the inclined platform.

Chairs Not Here.

At noon today a section of the seats had not arrived from Troy, O., but were expected late this afternoon. The Honeywell party concluded its meetings at Troy last Sunday, so the local committee purchased a number of the seats, stoves and other supplies from the Ohio revivalists.

H. E. Speegle, the janitor and tabernacle caretaker of the Honeywell party, arrived in Richmond this morning and after looking over the big building pronounced it one of the best he had ever seen.

Why Go to Church?

We do not go to church primarily to enjoy a good sermon. A congregation is not a mere audience: a crowd met to hear a man talk. It is an assembly for the worship of God.

A sermon may be often unsatisfactory from the point of wisdom, learning or eloquence. Remember this, what you think about God is a more vital matter than what the preacher says about God.

In point of age, world wide extent, membership and influence, the christian church is the greatest institution in existence. It is because it exists to serve.

The churches of our city were not established for themselves; but it is their business to help the people in highest ways. These restraining influences in society are worth more than an army of police.

Your business may be bricks or books, cobbles or collaterals, pork or pictures, farming or finance, machinery or merchandising, house-keeping or hod-carrying, abattoirs or automobiles, but whatever else may be your business, it is also to go to church and think about God.

Take God out of human thinking, and you eliminate the greatest incentive to noble living and the greatest safeguard of society. Play a man's part. Throw your influence with the church.
