

WHEAT TRADE EASY ON CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—Tarding in wheat was slightly easier at the start today on general selling, and this commodity was 1/2 cent under Friday's close. Strong Liverpool cables and an advance in outside markets were ignored. While there was some buying early there has been heavy selling by the longs. Scattered commission houses sold a little corn early and found the market poorly, 1/4 cent lower early. An easier tone was also a factor. Oats were unchanged at 1/4 cent lower with little standing. Provisions were lower with selling pressure limited.

LAMAR'S BODY TAKEN TO HIS FORMER HOME

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—It is expected that the body of Associate Justice Lamar, of the United States Supreme Court, who died last night, will leave here tomorrow for Augusta, Ga. The immediate cause of death was gradual heart failure, hastened by inflammation of one of the lungs which had threatened to develop into pneumonia. The attending physician declared, however, that the primary cause was overwork due to arduous duties as a member of the supreme court and as commissioner of the United States in 1914 to the mediation conference between the United States and Mexico at Niagara Falls.

INDIANAPOLIS FEARS DANGER FROM FLOOD

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 3.—Outbound Lake Erie and Western passenger train No. 20, was saved from probable destruction this morning when William Christian flagged it in short distance of the fast sinking bridge over Fall Creek on the outskirts of the city. The flood had weakened the bridge and the middle span had sunk two feet. Christian telephoned the operator at the Belt tower. "For God's sake flag it," was the message he got back. "It has just passed here."

Christian was barely in time for the train was brought to a stop within 100 feet of the bridge. White river and its tributaries was on a rampage today second only to the great disaster of 1912. White river was rising this morning at the rate of about two inches an hour.

FAKE SOLDIER STINGS BANKS FOR ABOUT $80

For passing four forged checks, securing $80, B. C. Bowling is wanted by the Richmond authorities. Two local banks and two mercantile establishments were Bowling's victims. One bank was "stung" for $35, the other bank and the two business concerns each cashed a worthless check for $15. The last seen of Bowling was the day following the heavy sleet storm last week when he was waiting for a train, five hours late, to go to Peoria, Ill. He said he had been reported to the police as soon as it was discovered that the checks were forged they would have been able to apprehend him. While in Richmond Bowling wore most of the time, a khaki uniform and represented himself to be military instructor at a school in Lexington, Ky. He said he had money in a Lexington bank. He induced a Richmond barber to cash two checks for him at two local banks. Bowling himself cashed the two checks at the two business houses. When the barber presented the first check given to him by Bowling he remarked to the teller of the bank that he did not know whether the check was a good one.

RURAL CARRIERS MEET TROUBLE

Considerable trouble was experienced this morning by the rural route carriers who made their first trips over the new routes. Not only did the carriers have to meet the problems of a new route but they also had to deliver three days' mail. "It will take several days and perhaps weeks before the system is in good working order," said Frank Wilson, superintendent of mails. "Most of the men got out on time this morning but we are expecting to hear of many complaints until the new carriers get accustomed to the re-routed system."

VOCATIONAL SURVEY BEGINS THIS WEEK

"The vocational survey will begin the latter part of this week with the arrival of R. J. Leonard, director of vocational education for the university. Dr. Leonard's headquarters are in Indianapolis and he has been in conference with Dr. Book, representative of the state board of education. Superintendent J. T. Giles of the city schools said today he expected Dr. Leonard to arrive this week, but was unable to say on what day. The superintendent, too, could not tell just what the director would do upon his arrival in Richmond. It is presumed that during the beginning of the survey he would seek to secure cooperation from the various organizations and civic authorities.

FORD AND BRYAN UNITE TO CONTEST PREPAREDNESS PLAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Henry Ford announced today that he and William Jennings Bryan will unite in fighting the national preparedness issue in the United States. "Mr. Bryan and myself discussed the issue last night and while we did not outline any definite program of action we are in accord on this subject," said Mr. Ford. "I am going to do everything in my power to fight preparedness. As yet I do not know just how I will go about it for all my life I have been doing things on the spur of the moment and I never make a plan except one subject to change any minute."

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Between fifteen and twenty men were reported killed on the Norwegian steam Azen in a mysterious explosion. The ship has been under charter to the Interseas Transportation company. She has been guarded by detectives since she arrived in port and several detectives were on the dock when the explosion occurred. The workmen were in the hull of the ship when the blast went off. So severe was the detonation that it was heard for many blocks. Calls for police and firemen were at once turned in. Detectives expressed the belief that the explosion was the work of a German agent. Fire followed the explosion and it was some time before rescue parties could make their way into the ship.

CHILD IN WEST SAYS FATHER LEFT COUNTRY WITH YOKE OF OXEN

When Harvey Hipsher crossed the western plains with an ox team, taking with him his wife and family, many years ago he severed all communication with his relatives living at that time in Wayne county. Nothing had been heard from him and it is not known now where his relatives are living. This morning, County Clerk Kelly received a letter from a woman living at Portville, Cal., stating that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hipsher had died and that she had just been informed that she had relatives living in Wayne county, Ind. This woman is Mrs. Elizabeth Nanney. "My uncle's name is John Hipsher," she writes. He is a veteran of the civil war, is blind in one eye and is a cripple. My parents crossed the plains in an ox team and had to fight the Indians before they reached the west. My relatives don't know me for I was born in Shasta county, Cal., after my folks moved here. I am anxious to hear from any of my relatives for I know nothing about them."

SICKNESS KEEPS CHILDREN HOME

Colds and sickness of grip accounted for a large number of absences when the city schools opened today after the Christmas vacation. In practically all the schools some of the children were unable to attend the opening, and those who are the more seriously ill will probably be absent for several days. One teacher, Miss Eva B. Johnson of the Baxter school was absent today because of an illness of bronchitis and two or three other teachers were reported ill with slight cases of grip. All high school teachers reported for duty. Superintendent J. T. Giles expressed surprise this morning that so few teachers were ill considering the epidemic of grip and colds which spread in Richmond.

CANDIDACY OF NEW MAY SEE CLUB HERE TO FIGHT WATSON

In the interests of the candidacy of Harry S. New for state senator in opposition to James Watson, for the Republican nomination, an organization is being considered in this county, and according to a prominent Republican worker today, a meeting will be held within the next few days to perfect an organization. From reports all over the county, it is evident that the leaders in the organization movement will have little trouble in securing support for New in this county. One prominent Republican said he believed at least nine out of every ten Republicans in Wayne county were in favor of New's candidacy, as they believe in him are the only hopes of stamping out Watsonism in this county once and forever. A representative from the Indianapolis organization supporting Mr. New, was in the city this morning. He said that the support being given to Watson's opponent is surprising in all parts of the county. Since the withdrawal of Hugh Miller from the race, New has entered with a determination to win and party leaders all over the state believe that Watson picked out an inopportune time to re-enter the political fight in this state.

PERRY'S REPORT GOES BEFORE FEDERATION

Discussion of the report returned by Dr. J. C. Perry, surgeon in the public health service of Washington, D. C., pertaining to the tuberculosis survey which he conducted in Richmond last summer, will be made at the next meeting of the public health committee of the Federation of Clubs. Selection of a date for this meeting will be made probably Tuesday. Mrs. William Dudley Foulke, chairman of the committee, has been ill, and as soon as her condition will permit her to attend a meeting the session will be called.

for that body to appoint a new county central committee. The county committee tonight will also discuss the candidacy of J. Frank Hanly for the Progressive gubernatorial nomination. The adoption of a resolution disapproving his candidacy would not be surprising, it is said. "Being an honest man and firm in his political convictions, I was not surprised over the action of Mr. Foulke in refusing to seek the Progressive senatorial nomination on a platform which did not contain an initiative and referendum plank as demanded by Hanly," said Alfred Davis, who has been affiliated with the Progressive party since its organization. "The real Progressive platform is not elastic enough to permit its stretching to provide room for such a man as Hanly. I also regard his selection as gubernatorial candidate as a slap at the man who has done more for the Progressive party in this state than any other one man, Albert J. Beveridge. Hanly is a personal enemy of Mr. Beveridge and, as a result, of the Progressive party. I understand that in proffering the gubernatorial nomination to Hanly, Mr. Beveridge was not consulted."

"The impudence of Hanly's acceptance of the offer made to him by Chairman Lee is astounding to me. Briefly he agrees to run on a platform shorn of one of the cardinal principles of the party, then reserves for himself the privilege of withdrawing his candidacy if either of the old line parties, the Republican or Democratic, include a state-wide prohibition plan in its platform. "Mr. Hanly carefully provided a loop hole for himself to crawl out of the Progressive party, and I hope he finds occasion to make good use of this loop hole," commented Alvor Robbins. "I will not vote for Hanly under any condition," laconically remarked John McMillin, a Progressive member of the board of public work.

DEFEAT

the Sixth. In Wayne county the Republicans who were opposed to James E. Watson when he represented the district generally are not friendly to Lynch. "It was said during the love feast that the Progressive organization in Wayne county will agree to help the Republicans if Judge Comstock is nominated. The Progressives have run ahead of the Republicans twice in Wayne county. Judge Comstock's friends insist that he is the one man in the district who can reunite the Republicans and get the support of the Progressives."

P. J. Lynch during the past week flooded Wayne county with copies of The Knightstown Banner, in which appeared an editorial announcement of his candidacy for the Republican congressional nomination and an endorsement of it.

Predicts Lynch's Defeat. P. J. Freeman, one of the most active Republican workers in Wayne county, laughingly remarked today that he suspected Lynch was the author of the editorial. He also commented on the fact that Lynch's candidacy had not been announced in one of the New-castle newspapers, where Lynch resides.

"Judge Comstock's friends take the Knightstown Banner's prediction of a victory for Lynch as a good omen of success for the judge," continued Mr. Freeman. "W. K. Deem, editor of The Banner, has never yet been lined up with the winning side in a political contest. Last year, when Lynch defeated Judge Comstock for the congressional nomination, Deem was a Comstock supporter."

Freeman predicts that Judge Comstock will carry Henry, Lynch's own county, by a handsome majority. Nantucket island is being washed away at the rate of six feet a year on its southern side.

FRATERNAL FRIEND DISREGARDS SIGNAL

"Sickles" Crane, colored, a former saloon keeper, who was recently convicted of having operated a blind tiger in his home, fined $50 and costs and sentenced to serve thirty days in jail, has withdrawn his appeal of this decision, which he filed in circuit court and has gone to the county jail to "take his medicine." Crane was tried by special Judge Frank Strayer in city court. He was released on bond following the filing of his appeal of the decision. The day after the trial he appealed to Judge Strayer to "chop off" the jail sentence, but in vain. Then he asked Strayer if he did not belong to a certain secret society which has both white and colored lodges in this city. Strayer admitted that he was a member. "Are you a members in good standing?" queried Crane. "I am," replied Strayer. "How's come then you didn't see me give the distress sign when I was on the witness stand testifying?" demanded Crane.

Sessions at St. John's parochial school were resumed today after the Christmas holidays. Despite the prevalence of grip and colds, only a few children were unable to report for work.

WATER EXTINGUISHES FIRES IN FURNACES OF CHURCH CELLAR

The storm of last week caused the streams of Wayne county to rise for a time on Saturday. Residents of Greensfork, Cambridge City and Middleboro were given a scare, but after overflowing into the fields and soaking through into a number of cellars the river subsided and the threatened flood was over with but small damage. At Middleboro the waters were retarded by the levy which is being built but it managed to get around the ends which are not yet completed and a number of fields were inundated. The Baptist church at Cambridge City probably suffered the worst of any building in the town. The water put out the fires in the basement and services for the day had to be called off. Many cellars were flooded but no serious damage was done. Practically the same conditions existed at Greensfork and other towns along the river.

SLAPS YOUNGSTER FOR PERT REMARK

For a second time in three months Clarence Yeargin, 19, was arraigned in city court this morning on a charge of assault and battery. Because Clarence Coyle, a lad in knee trousers, made some pert remark to him when Yeargin had "batted into" a conversation with Yeargin, Yeargin struck him a savage blow in the head. Yeargin pleaded guilty and drew a fine of $10 and costs. His father pleaded with the court not to impose a jail sentence. He said he had a job for his son and wanted to put him to work. A police officer testified that Yeargin had insulted a woman on North Ninth street Saturday night, but Yeargin denied this.
