

DEMOCRATS PRAISE "PAL"

Western Wayne Democratic Club,
Cambridge City, Ind., Jan. 15, 1916.

The Richmond Palladium, Richmond, Ind.:

Gentlemen—It gives us very great pleasure to call attention to the good, descriptive and accurate report of the recent banquet given by the Western Wayne Democratic Club.

The young men who handled this affair, certainly did it very ably, and the report is both pleasing and gratifying to the friends as well as the members of the club.

Newspaper work so eminently fair cannot help but make friends for your publication.

Good, clean newspaper work is always appreciated by all fair-minded people, and read with keen relish.

Even your office force from the "prop" down to the office cat feels better after having done their full duty to a committee, who, after all, is only your small brother.

It is the unanimous voice of the members of the Western Wayne Democratic club, that the "Pal" did itself proud on the nights of January 7 and 8.

R. C. LESLIE, Secretary.

W. S. HUNT, President.

BELIEF IN GOD IS ONLY REAL PREPAREDNESS

Rev. Celia Rollman denounced the preparedness program of the United States in a sermon before the United Brethren church congregation, Sunday morning.

She advocated as a substitute the appointment of a committee of twenty-two statesmen to devise ways of bringing about permanent peace and the creation of the office of secretary of peace in the president's cabinet.

True national preparedness, she claimed, would not come until there is a return to a belief in Christ. Friendship is the greatest of all defenses, she said.

Much of her sermon contained philosophies and was devoted to proofs of the uselessness of military and naval increases.

PNEUMONIA KILLS EATON CONTRACTOR

EATON, O., Jan. 17.—John Clatterbuck, about 63, well known local ditch and cement contractor, died about 6 o'clock Sunday evening at his home on East Decatur street from the effects of pneumonia, from which he suffered only a few days. Clatterbuck lived alone and was ill a few days before relatives were aware of the fact. The body was prepared for burial and removed to the home of a sister, Mrs. Rebecca Shields, East Somers street. Funeral arrangements have not been made. Besides Mrs. Shields he is survived by another sister, Mrs. Lydia Koonz, dressmaker, of this city. He also leaves several children, one of whom is Mrs. Frank Light of West Alexandria. A brother, George Clatterbuck, is in the Soldiers' Home, Dayton.

FACULTY MAKES PLANS.

The regular meeting of the members of the faculty of the high school was held this afternoon in Room 20 of that building. Principal F. G. Pickell talked over routine affairs of the school with the teachers.

long as eighteen different boards of trustees will continue to buy the supplies for eighteen different institutions. Whenever the state creates a central board of control, with authority to make all the purchases for these institutions, the taxpayers of Indiana will get the advantage of wholesale prices, and the difference in prices for the supplies for the different institutions will be only the difference in cost of transportation; and there will be saved to the taxpayers several hundred thousand dollars every year. Besides the inmates would not be discriminated against by the lack of standardization.

"If Mr. Goodrich had taken the time to have examined more extensively the subject he was discussing and had investigated the record made in Governor Durbin's administration he would have discovered that in 1904 it cost the state at the Indiana Boys' School $128 per capita per year, while for the same period it cost at the Deaf and Dumb school at Indianapolis $233.20 per capita, and the School for the Blind, $318.27.

"He would also have found that in 1904 the Northern Hospital for the Insane paid $4.22 per barrel for flour, while in the same period the School for the Blind at Indianapolis paid $6 per barrel. He would further have discovered that in the same period the Reformatory at Jeffersonville paid $4.63 per hundred-weight for fresh beef while the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home paid $8.50 per hundred-weight for fresh meat and the School for the Blind at Indianapolis paid $12 per hundred-weight.

"Does Mr. Goodrich mean to say that there was mismanagement of these institutions under Col. Durbin's administration? I have always given Col. Durbin credit for being a very fine executive, who was alert to the interest of the taxpayers.

"Again I ask, will Mr. Goodrich explain to his audiences how he is going to have eighteen different boards pay the same prices for the same supplies for eighteen different institutions? I concede that the institutions of Indiana are costing the taxpayers of Indiana too much money, and I want to do what I can to reduce that cost and if Mr. Goodrich thinks he will be the next Governor of Indiana, he ought to join me for a central board of control for these institutions. I promise him now that, if he is elected Governor, I will help him to get such a board in whatever way I can honorably, and will gladly assist him in any way I can to reduce the expenses of the state government to the taxpayers of our state."

farmers in that they will not get their mail much earlier because the routes are still over fifty miles. The proposed

Would your skin stand this test?

The bright lights of an evening gathering show up mercilessly the defects of a poor complexion. But the regular use of makes it as easy to have a naturally beautiful skin as to cover up a poor one with cosmetics. It lessens the tendency to pimples, redness and roughness, and in a very short time the complexion usually becomes clear, fresh and velvety.

division of the routes, however, alleviated the inability to "cover" the routes in bad weather for it is the intention to place a substitute on the routes in bad weather when it is seen that the entire fifty miles cannot be covered by one carrier.

Believe Act Too Mild.

The changes came as a surprise. It was generally thought the department would have to place at least two more carriers on the territory contiguous to Richmond post office before the system can be made a complete success. This was the request of Postmaster Beck but his opinion seemed to be ignored in making the final recommendations. Postmaster Beck intimated this morning that he still believes the department will have to add at least one more carrier.

Postmaster Beck believes that the changes will afford relief since it will make it possible to place two men on the routes until the carriers have become acquainted and the farmers have co-operated in the effort to place the boxes on the right side of the road and have grouped them as much as practical.

"Co-operation is the secret of success and if the farmers will assist us in these small things the new system can be made a success," said Mr. Beck.

Carry Out Orders.

The recommendations of the two postal inspectors who spent a week going over the roads of Wayne county, have been confirmed by a telegram from the post office department, become effective tomorrow.

According to the recommendations, the second division of each route is termed an "emergency route," to be otherwise served when motor service is not feasible.

The following is a part of the recommendations made by the postal inspectors to Postmaster Beck:

You are directed to amend the rural delivery at your office, in accordance with description of route inclosed unless you are otherwise notified. Carriers should serve route just as indicated, beginning Jan. 18, 1916. Descriptions of emergency routes, to be served when motor service is not feasible are inclosed. Efforts should be made to secure erection of mail boxes as nearly as possible on the right side of the road; and they should be grouped when possible. Have carriers make list of boxes not correctly placed and notify patrons where same should be placed.

Division of Routes.

The lengths of the new routes are as follows:

Route A—First section 21 miles; second section 29.35 miles; total 50.35 miles.

Route B—First section 27.95; second section 22.9; total 50.85.

Route C—First section 22.9; second section 29.5; total 52.4.

Route D—First section 32.5; second section 18.80; total 51.3.

Howard Elliott, Route A is the only carrier that has resigned although James Starr, Route D had intimated that he would resign unless the department gave him route some relief.

No appointment has been made for Route A, west of the city, but it is probable that C. C. Hawk, who, according to Mr. Beck, is the highest eligible on the list, will be appointed. Willard Moore, who has been "submitting for Elliott, is also an applicant for the job, it is understood. The appointment will probably be made within the next few days.

Boston is Satisfied.

Patrons on the Boston route are jubilant over the return to the old system. The route there is twenty-five miles in length and they say that they are assured of efficient service.

It is the general opinion of the carriers that the postal department at Washington has not realized that the "number of miles in a route does not cut as big a figure as the number of boxes to be served," as one carrier put it. In the proposed changes, only a slight reduction in the number of boxes on the routes has been made in spite of the appeal of Postmaster Beck for at least two more routes out of this city.
