

MISSIONARY SPIRIT NEEDED IN BUSINESS, PAGE TELLS FRIENDS

"With our modern business organization it is futile to expect anything but a fight," declared Kirby Page, secretary of the Fellowship for a Christian Social Order, at the Young Friends conference Friday night.

"Modern business is organized on the basis of a fight. Employers are competing against employer, workers against workers, employers against workers, and the consumer against both of them in an attempt to lower prices."

"The great need of the time is to look upon business in a missionary spirit, and enter business as a means of service to the world."

"The driving force of modern business is self-interest," he said, "and that interest has developed several good things. It has enormously increased production, lifted burdens from human shoulders, and saved time."

Results in Classes.
"But it has resulted in extremes of wealth, the very rich and the very poor, with over 21,000 persons who can be classed as millionaires, and 10,000,000 people who are every week on the border line of dependence on the state for sustenance. Half of the heads of families in the United States receive less than $1,500 a year."

"Business is being concentrated and becoming impersonal. The stockholder is far away from his business, and one of a number if he does desire a change. The manager is there to make dividends, and the owners of the company do not go behind that, while the worker by himself is helpless."

"The result is the inevitable growth of the automatic and inevitable result."

"The solution is changed attitude towards business. We must look upon it as a means of serving our neighbor. Many of us will never be in business, but those who are not must lend their moral support and their influence to any movement that Christianizes the sphere of business."

Have Giving Spirit.
"Some of us must fail in business in order to help establish that principle. We ask the missionary to serve without recompense in foreign fields, we ask the minister to serve with no other spirit in our pulpits. Why not then serve with that same spirit in business, and carry our spirit, even though it means that our business fails?"

Following the lecture the conference attended a showing of the Earham pagant film that was taken during the Diamond Jubilee celebration in June.

Dr. Page will give his third and last lecture before conference at 7:30 Saturday evening, standard time. Sunday, the conference will be taken up mainly with religious exercises, while the evening meeting will be in the nature of a conference on the future plans of those that have been in attendance.

The Philadelphia delegation staged a "No More War" demonstration during the breakfast hour Saturday, as a part of the national celebration of the day. The parade was led by Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Conference for Reduction of Armaments, who is a member of the Philadelphia group.

Obregon Keeps Border Peaceful, Says Missionary

"That part of Mexico near the Texas border has been entirely peaceful since Obregon became president," said Douglas L. Parker, Friends missionary, who is in Richmond after three years of service in the state of Tamaulipas.

"There seems to be a general confidence in the administration, and we now go about anywhere we please. Our group of course never goes armed, even when we go into the mountains. Trains are now running all night long, and the armored cars have been removed."

"I cannot, however, speak from personal knowledge of other sections of the country, as I have been too busy with missionary work in my own state."

Mr. Parker is to be in Mexico City this next year as a representative of the American Friends Service committee working for a better understanding between Mexico and the United States.

Dr. Simpson's Vegetable Compound stands today, as it has for fifty years, the standard of "alternatives," or blood purifying medicines. For a medicine to attain this distinction, it must first restore the liver, kidneys, bowels and other organs of elimination to normal action. By the same process, if disease exists, an effective "alternative" is necessary. Pure blood invariably means good health and strength. Try it. For sale at drug stores.—Advertisement.

The Ease and Comfort of 70 Horsepower Might

When you first sit behind the wheel of a Paige 6-66 you will be amazed at the ease and simplicity of control.

Gear shifting is an almost unconscious operation. The pressure of one finger on the lever is quite sufficient to make the change instantly and noiselessly.

As you step on the accelerator you will find that the car swings into its stride without a suggestion of overloading.

You have the might of 70 horsepower to draw upon—power that is almost liquid in flexibility—power that serves you at slow speeds or at the pace of an express train.

And, though you are the driver, you will find that the 6-66 has an uncanny way of steering itself. The wheel responds to the gentlest movement of your hands—seems, indeed, to anticipate your will in advance.

All this is fact, not fancy. It is the supreme attribute of the Paige 6-66—for the Dayton model is the holder of ten world's stock chassis speedway records and unquestioned Master of the Highway.
