

MOVEMENT OF FRUIT, VEGETABLES, GAINING SAYS U. S. REPORT

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—The season's movement of fruit and vegetables is fully 45,000 cars ahead of last year, despite the car shortage reported in some shipping districts, according to today's market review of the United States bureau of agricultural economics.

A heavy and increasing general supply of produce was a striking feature of the situation during the last week in September. Potatoes, apples and grapes comprised two-thirds of the week's fruit and vegetable shipments. About 100 carloads of potatoes arrived in Chicago daily. New York and Chicago each received more than 400 cars of apples during the week. Movement of produce usually continues very heavy through October. Prices have held as steady as could be expected under liberal supplies. Potatoes continued weak, dealing 5 to 25 cents and peaches also ranged lower in most markets, but the apple and onion markets both showed slightly stronger tones.

Prices of winter apples are beginning to be quoted in some markets and in producing sections. Best grades of greenings sold by the carload at $2.50 to $3 per barrel in western New York and Baldwins about 50 cents higher. Neither of these appear to show any such heavy yields as this season as the fall varieties. Sales of Baldwins and greenings ranged from $3.50 to $4 in New York and Philadelphia. The eastern apple crop seems rather poor in color, but otherwise attractive. Chicago quoted Michigan and New York Jonathans at $3.25 to $4 per barrel.

Recommendation of continued interest in the state church federation and instruct the home mission committee to contribute the sum of $250 to its support.

In the manner of the work carried on by the Presbyterian church among the Protestant churches of Europe we desire to commend this cause to our congregation and ask if the way be clear that a Christmas offering be taken for the same.

We nominate as chairman of the Synod New Era committee for the ensuing year Rev. Dr. R. P. Jones.

That solicitude and helpful oversight be given by all our churches to our youth who are in educational preparation for life and service to the end that vital relation may be maintained between the schools, colleges and universities on one hand and our youth as trained and consecrated churchmen.

That synod recommend to the presbyteries that they conduct during the year, intensive campaigns to press upon the young men of our churches the claims of the gospel ministry.

Declaring that ministers in the Presbyterian church do not receive salaries large enough to adequately support their families and that the church does not provide sufficiently for its indigent honor roll ministers who have been forced to retire because of their inability to carry forward the work of the church, Rev. Charles L. Candee, D.D., of Wilmington, Ohio, a member of the Ministerial Relief and Sustenance board addressed the Wednesday night session of the Synod of Indiana.

The board is one of the oldest of the church, the speaker said. It has been carrying on its work for over 200 years but it has been only in the last few years that the church at large has come to realize the essential character and magnitude of this work, he declared.

The speaker gave a call to magnify the ministry for wherever that has been done, in Bible times or in modern times, the church has been strengthened, he said. No class of men have been so heroic or so devoted to a cause, asserted Dr. Candee, as the Christian ministers for they work not for returns of a material sort and are pleased only when the spiritual returns are great.

"A few years ago, the average salary of the Presbyterian ministers was less than $1,000 per year," stated the speaker, "while today the average is $1,803. Less than one per cent of the Protestant clergy in the United States have an income of as much as $3,000 and only 167 Protestant ministers in the country have an income of between $6,000 and $7,000 a year.

The United States government issued a bulletin two years ago which stated that no family could live on less than $2,000 per year and it is therefore, perfectly evident how wholly inadequate in the material support to the ministry. All of which has made necessary the work of this board.

The number of applications for assistance to our board is increasing daily so that today we have more than 2,000 beneficiaries and these are wholly without any other means of support. How does the church provide for these cases is the next question. Up to a few years ago the amount given to a minister who had served the church for 30 years and who had reached the age of 70 was a meagre $400 a year. Year before last this amount was increased to $500 and this man is now receiving $600 per year.

Board Sets Goal
"The board has set a goal of at least $1,000 per year for every disabled Presbyterian minister. The board now distributes $47,000 per month to the disabled Presbyterian ministers of this country, which amounts to between $500,000 and $600,000 each year. This is the church's obligation and it must stand behind the board if its goal is gained."

"There is an element of leadership in every man and it is possible to find out just what the talents of each member of your church are and use them to the best advantage," said Rev. George F. Horst, D.D., who is field secretary of the men's board of the Presbyterian general assembly, at the men's dinner which was served in the basement of the First Presbyterian church Wednesday evening.

The speaker drew a comparison between the large number of men which are being drawn into the lodges and the church today. Many clean-cut, fine, cultured young men are today joining the lodges, said the speaker. For the most part these men do not belong to any church and the speaker stated that there must be some reason why the lodge is so much more attractive.

He stated that the drawing element in the lodge was the fraternal spirit but declared that after the member had been admitted, it was hard to draw him back to lodge meetings. There is no comparison, said the speaker, in the attendance of the lodges and the church for men are attending church today as they have never done before.

Spiritual Tie Needed
"The only way in which you can hold men together is through a strong spiritual tie and it is my belief that the only way in which man can know God is through the church. No work or organization can be successful or permanent unless it is founded on a spiritual tie and on the idea of sacrifice. People do not sacrifice enough for God in the churches today. This is evidenced by the small collections and by the reluctance of the layman to serve on committees and otherwise aid the work of the Master."

They say they don't have time but they must be shamed into it. Every man can be a leader in the church and it should be the aim of each pastor to see that each man finds his place in its work."

A motion picture, "Soldiers of the Cross," was shown at the Wednesday evening session directly following the address of Dr. Candee.

Values Unusual

Throughout the Store

JUST NOW—at the beginning of the season, when stocks are full and varieties complete—this store is filled with things of intense interest to its patrons. On every side, too, there are items that could be classed as "Values Unusual," measured by a standard of choicest merchandise, at prices much lower than regular. These exist because of advantageous buying, co-operation on the part of manufacturers in providing just such attractions, special feature groupings and pricings to add interest to buying from day to day, and other like causes.

It shall be the purpose of this column to find these out and tell you about them from time to time. They'll be mentioned briefly—the brevity, however, not to be the measure of their value, but the soul of it, for every item listed here must qualify as a value of most unusual significance at the price quoted for its selling.
