

DIM OUTLINE OF NEW LABOR PARTY IN OHIO SEEN IN CONVENTION

(By United Press)
CANTON, Ohio, Oct. 10.—The dim outline of a new labor party in Ohio took more definite form at the thirty-eighth annual convention of the state federation of labor here today.

As a result of vigorous opposition to endorsement of partisan candidates by the assembled delegates John G. Owens, secretary of the Cleveland federation and vice president of the state organization declared he would urge the convention to form a separate labor party.

The proposal to endorse Vice Donahy, Democratic candidate for governor comes before the convention today. It is anticipated as the issue over which the convention will split, giving an opening for Owens' proposal, that a new party be formed.

Committee Report
Advocacy of Donahy's endorsement came in the form of a report from the executive committee.

Thirty-eight resolutions were under consideration when the convention went into session today. The number contains a proposal that organized labor of Ohio go on record as opposing the light and airy amendment to the state constitution. Leaders asserted they were confident the convention would give its support to the amendment's proponents.

In his annual report to the convention President John B. Moore, Columbus, urged the need of closer cooperation politically among workmen of the state. He said women should be organized into political units and men trained to more effectively handle the ballot.

Methods to be used in encouraging a wider interest in activities of the organization on the part of some of the members who have remained inactive for some time, will be discussed.

A letter was received by W. H. Roney, president of the club, Tuesday, inviting members of the local Billy Sunday organization to attend the large meeting of the Associated Evangelical clubs of the south, which is soon to be held at Chattanooga, Tenn. The letter stated that those wishing to make the trip would be given the special rate of fare and one-half. It is improbable that any members of the local club will make the trip, however, because of the distance and business activities.

CALIFORNIA POWER PROJECT GIGANTIC

(By Associated Press)
DELMONTE, Calif., Oct. 10.—California power companies have development plans calling for the expenditure of more than one billion dollars, or about three times the cost of the Panama canal, George R. Martin, Los Angeles banker, said today in addressing the eleventh annual convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America here.

"Construction work being done by one company alone in the high Sierras of southern California with a force of 5,000 men will cost $15,000,000 more than the Panama canal," Mr. Martin said.

The question of how far a municipality can safely go in the creation of public debt never has received scientific analysis, according to the annual report of the municipal securities commission submitted by its chairman, L. E. Wakefield, Minneapolis.

"If the interests of municipal bond investors are to be properly safeguarded," the report said, "there must be a scientific study of this problem to determine what legislative restrictions should be made to apply, in order to protect municipalities against themselves, without making the restrictions so stringent as to hamper the reasonable development of public facilities."

It is surmised that unless Venizeelos were sure the Greek army could be controlled he would not accept the mission.

Premier Lloyd George will make a speech on Saturday when it is believed he will claim he avoided a general war in the Balkans and the Near East by the vigorous action of the British troops. He will reply to criticism of his course that the cabinet had assumed warlike attitude it was for the purpose of sobering the Turks.

To Ask U. S. Support
The British cabinet is laying emphasis through General Harington at Mudania upon the demarcation of the neutral zone and it appears that the ministry is beginning now to attempt tentatively to form a policy for the permanent neutralization of the straits to be presented to the peace conference, in which it is suggested an attempt will be made to obtain the support of the United States.

Four plans are being discussed, each of which would have many serious objections, and the chief one, which happens to run through the four plans, is that in time of war the Turks are able to exert a superior force and override any control in the region of the straits.

MISSIONARY WORK CAUSED HOLY WAR TO FAIL, HABOUSH

Missionaries sent out by the Christian churches of America and England into the Mohammedan world caused the holy war of 1914 and 1915 to fail, said Stephen A. Haboush, the shepherd of Galilee who addressed the Rotary club at its regular noon luncheon meeting at the Arlington hotel Tuesday.

For years prior to the beginning of the Great War in 1914, these missionaries who had been sent into the dark territories pervaded by Mohammedan culture worked and won the hearts of all classes and nationalities who were under the Mohammedan yoke and united these people by means of the Christian idea of fellowship and brotherly love. Education, both religious and academic, was placed at the disposal of these pagan peoples and the work of these men and women sent, for the most part by Christian agencies in America formed a barrier to any religious uprising against the Christian peoples of the war.

Wings Sultan's Favor.
Mr. Haboush outlined the efforts of the German Kaiser to win the favor of the Sultan of Turkey who was the Shiek of the Mohammedan world, relating his success through the cleverness of the Prussian Emperor. The Kaiser won the favor of the Sultan of Turkey and secured his approval of the building of the Berlin to Bagdad railroad. Later when the war was declared, the Kaiser called upon the Sultan to declare a Holy war of the Mohammedan people against the Christians but for the reason mentioned, there was no response to the Sultan's call.

Numerous deviations of the speaker pictured for his hearers the various outstanding historic events leading up to the present near eastern situation. He related the story of the advance of the kaisers into Palestine, his entry into Jerusalem, on which occasion the Turks dismantled the Joppa gate in order that the kaiser might ride through with out being compelled to dismount. The speaker compared the entry of the kaiser to that of Gen. Allenby, the conquering British general who entered Jerusalem after the conquest of Palestine. Allenby and his officers entered the city with bare heads and no violence was done by his legions there. The speaker affectionately referred to General Allenby as the great crusader of the twentieth century.
