GRAIN PRICES

(Markets by Lamson Bros. & Co., 212 Union National Bank Building.)
CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 30.—Wheat was erratic, making a new low on the present movement and then closing higher than last night. There was great difficulty in placing the support, but it probably came from scattered sources due to complaints of drought in Kansas and a better inquiry for cash wheat. So far as surface indications are concerned, the selling seemed of concerted character and may result in some further setback early next week. As was the case yesterday, corn showed persistent strength and closed at the day's high point. A good sized export business was under way and the December delivery was particularly strong, the outstanding interest being larger than generally expected. If primary receipts continue large, we may probably see renewed pressure but we favor the long side on the breaks.
