In what year did the emancipation of the serfs in Russia occur and what was the number set free?
The Russian serfs were emancipated in 1861. Previous to the emancipation act about 20,000,000 peasants were serfs of the state, of the crown or of the nobility.

In designating something as "the palladium of our liberties," what does palladium mean?

The word is of heathen origin and has a figurative meaning. Pallas was the Greek name of Minerva, the goddess of wisdom, the helper and guide of man in all great undertakings, and an image of her set up in a temple or public place was supposed to be a great protection for the community. It was called a palladium, and one set up at Troy became an object of strife between Greeks and Trojans as a prize which would bring great and lasting good luck to the holder. Both armies claimed having got possession of it, but it did not bring permanent good luck to either. In modern usage the constitution is often spoken of as "the palladium of our liberties," and by another application, "Righteousness is the sole palladium of the nations." In this sense it means preserver or safeguard, still relating back to the goddess Pallas.

To settle a bet will you please state who is the richest ruler in Europe?

The czar of Russia is said to be the richest sovereign in Europe. He derives his income from the crown lands, which are regarded as his private estate and treated as such.

What is the rule or custom for showing respect to the national flag?

The flag is not to be hoisted before sunrise nor allowed to remain up after sunset. At "retreat," sunset, civilian spectators should stand at "attention" and uncover during the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner." Military spectators are required by regulation to stand at "attention" and give the military salute. When the national colors are passing on parade, as in review, the spectator should if walking halt and if sitting arise and stand at attention and uncover. When the flag is flown at half staff as a sign of mourning it should be hoisted to full staff at the conclusion of the funeral. In placing the flag at half staff it should first be hoisted to the top of the staff and then lowered to position, and preliminary to lowering from half staff it should be first raised to the top. On Memorial day the flag should fly at half staff from sunrise to noon and full staff from noon to sunset.
