

SANITY INQUEST REVEALS QUEER FACTS

E. Hammond Man Creates Dummy Wife to Take Place of One in Russia

Paul Hyducke, 35 Company House, East Hammond, was found insane yesterday in a sanity inquest which was conducted in Judge Prest's court. Further investigation today by Constable Morris Dobson brought to light facts which make his case one of the most interesting in years. Medical men of Hammond confess they never knew of anything quite like it.

When the constable went to Hyducke's home this morning to take possession of the personal property he discovered what he at first thought to be a woman in Paul's bed. She was lying with her face to the wall.

"Pardon me, madam," said Mr. Dobson, "but you will have to get out of here. I'm to take charge of this stuff and sell it and see that the money gets to Paul's wife in the old country."

The lady never moved. Morris, thinking she was a hard sleeper, approached the bed and shook her shoulder. The lady stopped over on her back and at the same time her face slid out of place. Morris was dumfounded. It was a dummy.

The demented man had evidently spent considerable time in manufacturing a wife to take the place of the one over in Russia. She was life sized and carefully shaped to lines which corresponded to Paul's ideal. She was stuffed with rags and had retired with her street clothes on, even sporting a rather soiled corset.

Paul had taken no chances on tiring of one dummy and having to build a new one. He met this emergency by giving her an interchangeable face. He had been saving calendars and posters which had life-sized faces of women on them. These faces he carefully cut out and fastened over the phiz of his dummy. Occasionally he changed them to make himself believe he was a regular lady killer.

The rooms were all fitted out for the benefit of Paul's lady. The bedstead alone cost him $100 and other furnishings were as elaborate. He had also spent considerable money on her clothes and the constable found a large assortment of bright colored gowns and hats and some dainty "intimates."

Hyducke has been in Hammond for a number of years. He had worked for the Alhambra Construction Co. for thirteen years and had appeared normal until a short time ago, when his queer actions caused his arrest. It was first thought that he was drunk because of the queer fumes which were noticed. However, it was soon evident that he was mentally unbalanced and the inquest followed.

His mental condition is accounted for in a measure by a barrel of rank homemade liquor which was found in his rooms.

NONE CAME TO RED CROSS MEETING

For several days the Gary newspapers have carried stories of the big Red Cross call mass meeting at the Commercial club to be addressed by Gen. Peter Traub, the commander at Fort Thomas, Ky., who had command of 30,000 men in France. The announcement of the meeting was made in the schools. Invitation cards were sent to every member of the club. A great crowd was expected.

The meeting was held last night, but nobody attended except Capt. H. S. Norton, chairman of the Red Cross Call in Lake county; Robert Phillips, chairman in Gary; Margaret Hanlan, chairman of publicity; and Rhoads Welding and Pontus Heintz, two of the captains in the drive.

The failure of the public to put in an appearance was merely another example of the indifference which has been shown throughout the drive. In Gary, at least and no doubt throughout the county, the drive has had better directing hands than almost any of the campaigns during the war. Realizing that they would not have the war fervor to aid them, the volunteer workers prepared carefully. The organization was very carefully selected and the publicity was all that could be desired. The newspapers gave their space without reserve. The theaters ran slides and made room for the four-minute speakers.

The drive was scheduled to close in the county today. With an objective of 25,000 members, Gary has between three and four thousand. Workers have had the most discouraging experiences, even to rebuffs that were insulting. This afternoon they made a concerted effort known as "moving up."

Gen. Traub, who made his talk to the leaders of the campaign who were present last night, said that the Red Cross has $5,000,000 set aside for war service and $11,000,000 in supplies. It needs funds to carry on the work of teaching the people the essentials of good health and doing relief work abroad.

RUSSIA MASSES MANY TROOPS

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Soviet Russia has massed 15 divisions of troops on her western frontier and has begun military operations on the neutral zone between Poland and Soviet Russia, according to an Exchange Telegraph company dispatch from Berlin today, quoting a radiogram received in Berlin from Moscow. The Polish government at Warsaw is said to be alarmed over the possible intentions of Russia.

The Moscow radiogram to Berlin said: "We are compelled to carry war into the Polish-Russian neutral zone because of the attacks by the anti-Bolshevik forces under Gen. Balachovitch and Gen. Pettureu."

"DISARMAMENT HONOR NOT HERE"

BY NEWTON C. PARKE

STAFF CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE, GENÈVA, Nov. 20.—"We must tell the people of the world frankly that the hour for general disarmament has NOT yet arrived," declared M. Lafontaine, of the Belgian delegation, addressing the league of nations assembly meeting today.

The Belgian statesman advocated the creation of an international army under the league of nations with an international general staff. He said that an armed force was necessary and pointed to the situation in Armenia as an example of the league's present impotence without an army.

George Nichol Barnes, a member of the British delegation, urged action in Eastern Europe.

GRAFT PROBE COMMITTEE PRETTY SORE

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Before we get through with this investigation we hope to find who is responsible for such a condition of waste and extravagance which is still going on," said Representative Pat H. Kelly of Michigan, member of the congressional investigating committee after the hearing of more charges of graft and incompetence today.

It was the first definite statement in court by any member of the committee since the sensational probe began.

"Nobody seems to care—it's the people's money," added Kelly with considerable heat. He gave a brief resume of what the testimony had disclosed, especially as regards the graft and waste in the system of supplying shipping board vessels.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A WRONG IMPRESSION

Editor Times:

On reading an article in The Times of Nov. 13, headed: "Walks into Cop's Arms," it immediately occurred to me that an erroneous impression might be left with the good people of Hammond as regards the many young men accepted at this station for the U. S. army, as well as the strict policy of the government as to character qualifications of accepted recruits. The army does not want jail birds. It is against the law to accept any man who is under sentence of a court, of who has served a term of imprisonment in any penal institution, except when special authority is granted by the adjutant general of the army to enlist such a man. We want only ambitious men, men that have enough intelligence to grasp the opportunities offered by the army to better their stations in life. If a bum slips by us and gets into the service, he is always discovered and dealt with accordingly.

The hero of the account referred to above was in no way a bum. He is a young man of good education, a mechanic by trade, and with no marks against his character. The old "wanderlust" caught him and he struck out to see the world. On arriving in Hammond, his unkempt appearance and his preferred mode of travel, made him more or less an object of suspicion. He decided to join the army after talking it over with a recruiting man. He was not ordered to join by any civil authority in lieu of punishment of any kind. He had enough intelligence to see the manifold opportunities offered by the great new army.

The account in The Times, while it does not state positively that the army takes men from jails and enlists them, nevertheless might leave that impression on people. Being jealous of my profession and thoroughly aware of the high standards and ideals maintained and striven for in it, I could not allow even a remote chance for erroneous impressions to gain sway in this community.

AT THE DE LUXE

Fannie Hurst's most appealing story, "Humoresque," has been transferred to the screen and will be the feature attraction at the DeLuxe theater today, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The intensely human atmosphere of the novel is said to have been incorporated into the picture with singular success.

The story centers around Leon Kantor, a boy of the ghetto who shows an intense love for music. His mother who has always wanted a musician, is delighted and on his seventh birthday buys him a violin. Leon's playmate is pretty Gina Ginsberg. Fifteen years later, Leon is a recognized genius. On the night of his triumph

—Sounds odd, doesn't it? Yet to-day $1 will buy the same amount of sugar for which you had to pay $2 six months ago. And with prices dropping the dollar buys more silk, flour, apples, and lumber than it did.

—Folks who were prudent enough to save while the dollars flowed in and who regularly made deposits here now find that they have more money because of the increasing value of the dollar.

—For months this bank's thrift campaign pointed out that every dollar saved during the era of high prices probably would be worth two dollars later on, and that is now beginning to be true.
