Attendance at some Sunday schools immediately after Christmas becomes thinner than soup at a church dinner. But here's one Sunday school where the standing room only sign is hung up every Sunday. At the Methodist church a jazz orchestra led by Dr. J. Arthur Davis renders diversionment to a duty heretofore looked upon as something rather hard to take. The sermon on the Mount is followed by a snappy rendition of "Quit Your Kidding" while Herod's slaughter of the innocents is brought right home by the pitiful mourning of a saxophone solo offering this "Toot, Toot, Tootsie, Goodbye."

It's the belief of theologians with a physiological turn of mind that the soul and body are inseparably harmonious. The one reacts to the impulses of the other. Hence the modern inception of Sunday school jazz music. Here's the program for tomorrow when Dr. Davis and his musicians will syncope a few psalms:

8:15 A. M.—1. "Carolina in the Morning" by Donaldson; 2. "Stop Your Kidding" by Mills; 3. "Toot, Toot, Tootsie, Goodbye" by Kahn. Eagle's Nest" by Isemann; 5. "Song of Liberty" by Hildreth.

10:30 A. M.—6. March "Hungariana" by Lake

The usual New Year's Eve party of the Hermits club will be held at the club rooms in the First National Bank building. The affair will be in the nature of a dinner-dance. Novelties and entertainment have been procured. Sterling's orchestra will play for the dancing. The party will be for members only and reservations should be arranged for as promptly as possible.

Word has been received from Kae Oberlin, social reporter, that she is leaving Burlington, Ia. tonight, after being one of the attendants at a wedding of a school girl chum, and will be rattling the old typewriter on Tuesday morning at eight o'clock.

The Hyde Park M. E. church had a very lovely Christmas party at the parish house of the church, last Thursday night. A wonderful time was had by all, and everything was in time and place for Xmas and the New Year. The honors and thanks are due to Mrs. Leeson and daughter Florence.

Holiday week means nothing in the Hammond superior court as far as divorces are concerned. They are filing them just the same as any other week.

William J. Bellamy, 341 Sheffield ave. wants separation from his wife Margaret. They were married December 5, 1915 and have been living apart since last Saturday. They quit two days before Christmas. Bellamy says his wife struck him and threatened his life with a razor. She is also accused of teaching one of the children to call him bad names. He asks for the custody of the children. M. D. Metz is his attorney.

Mrs. Irene Beasley and her husband, Mason, separated two days after Christmas. They were married July 8, 1920. Mrs. Beasley says her husband came home intoxicated and accused her of infidelity. She has several children by a former marriage and he is said to have altered her only $10 a week for their support. She worked as a crew dispatcher at the I. H. B. officers in order to help keep the family.

Mrs. Beasley also charges that her husband would pretend he was going to Chicago but instead he would spend the time with other women. On the evening of Deember 27, she says, a man posing as her friend informed her that she would find her husband with other women at a Hammond roadhouse. She went there with him and it proved to be a trap which her husband had laid. She asks to be permitted to resume her former name, Irene Enright. Her attorney is George J. Eder.

Paris Newspapers Say the Kluxers Will Not Be Welcomed on Continent.

By FRANK E. MASON, (STAFF CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE) PARIS, Dec. 30.—The American Ku Klux Klan will have a difficult time of it in Europe, according to Parisian newspapers today.

Advices from New York had quoted "imperial giant" Edward Young Clarke as saying that a movement was on foot to extend the organization all over the world and that he soon would open headquarters in London.

"The American Ku Klux Klan will not find any welcome in continental Europe," said the Echo de Paris. "It is an organization of such character as is not wanted on this side of the Atlantic."

"It is an organization of crazy fanatics," said L'Intransigeant. "They are responsible for assassinations, burnings and destruction of churches filled with religious treasures. It is a mysterious society, working in the dark, committing crimes for which the perpetrators are never punished."

European newspapers of late have been filled with dispatches from the United States detailing the activi-

PAINTINGS OF GREAT ARTISTS IN THE MOVIES

The second of the Triart Productions, based on famous paintings, will be shown by Manager Gregory at the Parthenon theatre January 2nd, 3rd and 4th, in connection with Elaine Hammerstein in "One Week of Love."

The story of Rembrandt's famous masterpiece, "The Young Painter," has been dramatized for the screen and the story gives an idea of the source of his inspiration for his painting, and is likewise a story of a struggling artist whose combined poverty and sorrow drives him to his death while he is being sought for by the girl he loved.

Roland West, a young painter, of great talent, who lives in a studio hut, is the principal character in the story. Rembrandt's masterpiece, "The Young Painter," is his inspiration and he keeps a copy on the wall of his studio. One day while he is reading near the shore he rescues a young girl who has fallen out of her canoe. She is Helen Seymour, the daughter of a wealthy family living in another section of the city. A friendship springs up between Helen and Roland and soon turns to love, but later, when the boy learns that she has other friends, he fears that she no longer loves him and he goes away.

"The Young Painter," was made under the supervision of an Advisory Board of eminent art patrons, consisting of Edwin H. Blashfield, President of the National Academy
