A few nights ago, when it was raining in torrents and very dark, in the loneliness of the night, I was sitting in my room, and looking out of my window at the dark, stormy night.

"Watchman! O, Watchman! are you there? I want to see you!" I called out, and a voice answered me, "I am here, and I will come to you." I called out again, and the voice answered me, "I am here, and I will come to you." I called out again, and the voice answered me, "I am here, and I will come to you."

"LOVELY SUGAR."—Our friend J. J. Epps, presented us with a quart of his Scorpion Molasses, manufactured by Jos. C. Radford of this vicinity. It is certainly the finest we have yet seen of this season's manufacture—clear as honey, and has a very pleasant flavor. Mr. Epps, from a fourth of an acre, had 36 gallons of Molasses. He informs us that he plowed his cane three times—hilled and hoed it carefully and frequently, and the consequence was this large yield. The stalks were about four inches in diameter, and from five to six in a hill.

SILK VELVET CAPS for young gents at Perry's.

The eclipse of the sun, last Thursday, was a popular failure, and the astronomers are respectfully requested to have it tried over again under better auspices. All New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and as far south as Washington and Nashville, were out in the dark. The eclipse was total (uninterrupted) throughout that vast region, for the reason that dark clouds took the shine off the sun without the help of the nocturnal majesty. The "battle of the clouds" was not the battle advertised; and, most provokingly, after the principle engagement was over, the curtain was withdrawn and there was glorious sunshine. The balance of the day, Nashville was in the line of central eclipse, and much was expected but nothing came. Cairo was in the line, and had a good view. At St. Joseph, (also in the line), the sight was magnificent, and the Cambridge observers were successful to their best desire. At Washington, where astronomers are plenty, all went well until the very moment of contact, when a "right smart shower" came up and spoiled the show.

CHEAP WOOL HATS at Perry's.

A LESSON ON CAREFULNESS.—One of our merchants a few nights since, closed one of the front doors of his store by bolting it carefully with two heavy bolts—locked the other door, and went home, supposing all was safe and snug. In the early morning, the east door was discovered by one of our citizens to be partially open—one of the proprietors was immediately sent for, when he arrived and examined the bolts, it was discovered that he had drawn them before closing the door—the bolts having went on the outside instead of into the staples. The wind had evidently blown an entrance instead of thieves, and nothing was missing. He'll be more careful next time, we guess.

SIBERIAN SQUIRREL MUFFS, COLLARS & CUFFS at Perry's.

Look Out!—The wife of one of our citizens the other day, went to her clothes press to get one of her dresses, when, much to her astonishment, she beheld a vacancy where they should have been hanging—four of her best dresses had been stolen! Our city is growing to be no exception to other cities, as a harbor for thieves, and, as the above incident proves that some of that pestiferous class are already among us, and positive information having been received here that a few more of the same sort are coming, it behooves our citizens to be on their guard—look your doors and fasten your windows. Load your revolvers and shoot a few of the soundings.

CASSIMERE "PLUGS" at Perry's.

"Gait House."—We notice attention of the traveling public to the card in another column of this excellent House. The Proprietors, SCHWARTZ BROS., have made the "Gait" one of the most comfortable Hotels in the West, by thoroughly refitting and newly furnishing it. For good fare—a cleanly and pleasant room for the traveler, and gentlemanly and accommodating Landlords and Clerk, commend us to the "Gait House."

Security Fire Insurance Company, N. York.—By an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that the Agency of this popular and reliable Company, has passed into the hands of our old friend WM. BELL, who is also the Agent of several other Companies—both in Fire, Life Insurance, as well as Accidental. Whatever insurance you do with him will be done correctly, promptly, and on equitable terms.

THE LADY'S FRIEND.

GRANDMA'S PORTRAIT is the title of a very taking Steel Engraving in the November number of this favorite monthly. It is a household scene, and one of the youngsters is drawing Grandma's picture on the wall. The double colored steel. Fashioned Plate is of an unusual superb. Love versus FLIRTATION is the title of the next engraving, which illustrates an interesting story of the same name. Then we have a number of engravings, devoted to the fashions, new hats, head-dresses, lady's and boy's suits, &c. For the Music we have this time a Gallop from Mireille. The literary matter is "Dear Mrs. Thorpe;" "Changes in the Household of Cecilia Bird, Spinster;" by Mrs. Margaret Hosmer; "In Silence," by Clara C. Fennell; and "Margaret," by Mrs. Phelps. LADIES FURS at Perry's.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES, advertised in another column, are highly recommended for public speakers and others, for the relief of colds and to clear the voice. Their efficacy is strongly attested by congressmen, clergymen and singers, who use them. Among the certificates to their merits we observe letters from Henry Ward Beecher, N. P. Willis, E. H. Chapin, and others of eminence.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Simple, Cheap, Durable.

Is Schooley's recently patented Feed Cutter. There is no complication of machinery about it, and from that cause it is not liable to get out of order. It does its work with lightning-like speed, and chews fodder, hay, straw—everything and anything that is commonly used to feed horses and cattle, as fine as though it was ground in a corn and cob crusher.

It can be quickly altered so as to cut either as fine as silk or as coarse as the cloth we once heard of that was "wove through a stake and rider fence, and filled with grape vine." The durability of the machine, is such that every farmer will prize, for it will last a lifetime, and the necessary repairs will only cost him a trifle. It is only necessary to see it operate, to induce our farmers to purchase a Schooley Cutter.

THIEVES ABOUT.—One Night last week, the house of Mr. Brooks, who has been selling goods, Down in this country, was entered, by thieves, when, after taking all the money they could find in his store, together with some of his goods, made their way to his bedroom, took his pants from his bed and abstracted his pocket book, containing about $200.

The house of Wm. F. Edmondson, on the Middleboro pike was also, we learn, entered last week during the absence of the family, and robbed $300 in money—bureaus ransacked, clothing and papers scattered over the floor promiscuously.

"Misses have beheld the Hats, Caps and Furs, at Col. Pratt's, Corner of Fifth and Main, and if they cannot suit the most fastidious, then we agree to forfeit the excellent and beautiful life he made us a present of, and resume our old straw. "Directory and Soldier's Register of Wayne County, Ind." F. V. Fowler, Editor, Power, Zeller & Co., Proprietors.

This is the Title page of a Directory containing 484 pages, just published. It is almost an impossibility to get a work of this kind perfect—especially the spelling of proper names, but the proprietors have made fewer mistakes of this kind than is usual in such works. For the accommodation of their advertising customers, and to give them a prominent place in the book, their business cards are interspersed on every other page, and the reader cannot fail to notice. These cards are very tastefully gotten up and help the appearance of the work. The classifications of trades and professions, throughout the county, is an excellent feature—as the editor will say in his preface, it gives "a much better idea of the business and resources of the county than could be obtained in any other way."

The Soldier's Register, is valuable and will attract particular attention. This, and the Roll of deceased soldiers from our county gives the Directory a value that will induce our citizens to procure a copy of it and place it in their family libraries. It is a reliable and brief history of the patriotic stuff of which Wayne County is composed.

The publishers have placed in the Directory a very fine Map of the county, by townships.

In short, as we have but little time and room this week to give even a brief notice of the features of this work, it is, in our opinion, one of the best and most complete Directories we have ever examined, and reflects credit on those who assisted in gathering the mass of information contained in its pages, as well as on its editor, Mr. POWELL, who admirably arranged it. It is cheap at the subscription price of $1.00. Single copies of the Map can be obtained at W. H. Santham & Co.'s Bookstore in this city, for $1.50.

THE "BRUSH" Hat at Perry's

Gov. Morton at Centerville.—On Saturday night last, pursuant to appointment Gov. Morton made an address to his old neighbors at Centerville in the Court house for about an hour and three quarters. We intended going over but did not, having incidentally heard that the Governor was quite unwell, and would not be able to fill the appointment. He came, however, notwithstanding it was contrary to the advice of his physician; but the appointment was made and he was bound to fill it, if possible.

A friend of his present informs us that the Court House was crowded, and the Governor took the same grounds on the questions of the day, he had taken in his great speech in this city, which we have already laid before our readers—putting his views before the audience so plainly that they could not be misunderstood. He took occasion to speak of the family organ as follows:

"Instead of his paper combating the common enemy—the democracy—it makes constant war upon Union men. About one-half its editorials are devoted to personal abuse of me; and other Union men come in for their share. Its abuse, however, did not do me much harm last night, judging from the result of the election in this county. This paper instead of being called the 'True Republican,' should be called the 'True Copperhead,' for it is essentially in the service of that party." [Great Applause.]

Our informant adds that there was many Julius in the house that he could see.

OUR SOLDIERS.—In the language of the truthful and beautiful poem we published week before last, from Harper's Magazine, "there's room, there's food, there's work for all" our brave soldiers, and we are glad to record the fact that employment has already been given by our fellow-citizens to several of the returned heroes, among which we take pleasure in noting the following:

Capt. JAMES MACKLIN, has an excellent situation as traveling Agent for the firm of LEWIS & VANXUM, of this city. Wholesale Tobacco dealers. A better selection for this work, could not have been made.

Capt. M. M. LACY, our old correspondent "Quill," of the 69th, has a good sit. as Book-keeper, for Messrs. Henry, Stratton & Co., Grain and Flaxseed dealers at the Depot. He is "the right man in the right place."

Sergt. A. L. FLETCHER is in Mr. F. C. Baker's Store, in this city. They will find him as faithful in the discharge of his duties, as Uncle Sam did in helping to crush out the rebellion.

Mr. S. M. H. B. SMITH, son of late Dr. Wm. B. Smith of this city, we are gratified to learn, is Book-keeper at Logansport, for the Chicago and Great Eastern R.R. Good again.

ALLEN HOLLOWAY, Jr. in the 84th, is clerking for our friend J. J. FORD, grocer of this city. "O. K."

Go to STRATTAN'S Corner to get cheap FURS, CLOAKS, or DRESS GOODS, and then you will be sure not to be disappointed. WILSON & ELLIOTT sell for Cash, and keep at bottom of the market.

DIDN'T LIKE THE SWINDLE.—The following story of ex-Governor Grimes, is vouched for by one who knows him well:

The Legislature had just convened at the capital of Iowa. Governor Grimes had just arrived the night before, and taken rooms at a certain hotel—at least, so a young aspirant for office from a distant portion of the State ascertained as he drove up and alighted from his carriage at the steps of that public house.

The hostler threw out his trunk, and the landlord conducted him to his room, leaving the trunk in the parlor. Wishing his trunk, the young man demanded to have it brought up, and seeing a man passing through the lower hall, whom he took to be the porter, he gave his commands in an imperious and lofty tone. The order was obeyed; and the man carrying a quarter of a dollar for his services, a marked quarter, that was good for twenty cents, was slipped slyly into his hand, and was put into his pocket by the man with a snile.

"And now, sirrah!" cried the new arrival, "you know Governor Grimes?"

"Oh, yes, sir."

"Well, take my card to him, and tell him I want an interview at the earliest convenience."

A peculiar look flashed from the young man's blue eyes, and with a snile, extending his hand, he said:

"I am Governor Grimes, at your service, sir."

"You—I—that is, my dear sir, I beg—a thousand pardons!"

"No need at all, sir," replied Governor Grimes. "I was rather favorably impressed with your letter and thought you well suited for the office specified. But, sir, any man who would swindle a working man out of a paltry five cents, would defraud the public treasury, had he an opportunity. Good evening, sir!"

The cholera in England.

The cattle disease in England has assumed the most alarming proportions, and coupled with the parching September weather, experienced, is disturbing the financial and commercial relations of the country, threatening as it does a scarcity of food that will render necessary large importations. This anxiety is further intensified by the spread of the potato rot. The alarming extent of the cattle plague may be inferred from the fact that the Evangelical Alliance passed a resolution recognizing the danger of Providence in the scourge, and speaking of it as a "terrible disease which has fallen on our cattle, and seems now to be extending to our sheep, haffing, human skill and threatening a scarcity of human food." The Queen had also called the Archbishops together to frame prayer on the subject.

There's little doubt of Wade Hampton's election as Governor of South Carolina. Wade is a healthy exponent of the lordly loyalty which now prevails in the reconstructed Palmetto State.
