

OPENS CAMPAIGN

J. B. SULLIVAN SPEAKS AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

TALKS OPENLY FOR FREE TRADE

Democratic Candidate for Governor Speaks in Ottumwa — Discusses the Tariff — Asset Currency — Favors Free Trade.

"Governor Cummins were you insane then or are you insane now?" Queried J. B. Sullivan, of Creston, democratic candidate for the office of governor of the state of Iowa in the opening address of the democratic fall campaign given in the Grand opera house Saturday evening.

The attendance for the opening of the campaign was good. The lower floor had but a few seats vacant, the balcony was about one-third full and there were a few scattered ones in the gallery. Behind the candidate as he spoke were seated some fifty or sixty of the prominent democrats of the city.

The introductory speech. T. J. Phillips, the democratic candidate for governor two years ago this fall, with a few complimentary words and an expression of hopefulness as to the result of the election when the votes are counted upon the evening of November 3, introduced the candidate.

Mr. Sullivan speaks earnestly and with an enthusiasm which impressed upon his hearers that he has the courage to adopt and champion any cause to which his conclusions may lead him.

Mr. Sullivan spoke chiefly upon the subject of tariff and trust legislation declaring that the present tariff laws are hostile and inimical to the best interests of the whole people.

In the one school I find the motto of equal rights to all and special privileges to none; I find the constitution as the guiding star and true democracy as the anchor of hope.

"These schools cannot be united. You are bound to the one or the other. If you believe in equal rights to all and special privileges to none, you believe that all source of power rests with the people.

You believe in the greatest latitude and freedom possible in organized society. You believe in a trade that has the world as its market.

You believe in the right in the other you believe that it is proper for the government to aid you at my expense. You believe that the great organization of the people is the right of levying tribute upon the citizenship of our country for their benefit.

You believe not only that a sufficient tax should be levied to pay for the public expenditure but in addition that the same law should be indirectly the instrument of collecting from you that for which you do not receive any compensation.

You have the right in this day to know to which school every man belongs who comes to you asking for your suffrage. It is not a question of party but of principle.

The members of the Ladies' Union Label League the temporary organization of which was formed at a recent meeting met last evening at the Carpenter and Joiners rooms in the Taylor building and adopted a name and preamble for the permanent organization.

The attendance last evening was for greater than at the previous meeting. Much interest and enthusiasm was manifested and those interested are confident that the league will prove to be an important feature and addition to the organized labor of the city.

The league is composed of the wives, mothers and daughters of the laboring men of the city. The members pledge themselves in a humble attempt to purchase when possible only goods and articles bearing the union label. The idea is to secure for the benefit of union labor the entire purchasing power of every laboring man's family in the city.

It was decided to continue the temporary organization and officers until the next meeting when the permanent organization will be effected and officers elected. The temporary secretary has applied to the state federation of labor for charter and as soon as the permanent organization is completed and the charter is received the league will become one of the affiliated organizations with the local trades and labor assembly.

The name and preamble adopted last evening were as follows: Name. The name of this organization shall be The Ladies' Union Label League.

Preamble. "Believing in the abolishment of child labor and the free discussion of the labor problem in all its phases we, the ladies of Ottumwa, do hereby resolve to form this league. Be it further resolved that as the union label stands for shorter hours, fair wages and sanitary conditions, we pledge ourselves to purchase label goods wherever possible."

GIRL SHOT WHILE HUNTING. Nutting Party in Woods Near West Point Has Serious Mishap. West Point, Oct. 20.—While a number of young people west of town were hickory nutting and hunting in the woods near here Sunday afternoon Miss Mary Wellman was accidentally shot and seriously injured by William Boeding, a son of Herman Boeding, who was examining and explaining the merits of a 22-caliber Winchester rifle with the rest of his young friends.

"DEAD" MAN TURNS UP ALIVE. Odd Fellows Mistake Corpse for Wyoming Brother, Who Still Lives. Pacific Junction, Oct. 20.—H. F. Haroff has arrived here to disprove his death. Several months ago a man supposed to be Haroff died here of consumption and was buried by the local lodge of Odd Fellows. The dead man bore a card of a Buffalo, Wyo., lodge. Now the real Haroff, who moved from Wyoming to Omaha recently, has appeared and proved that the man who died was some one else.

WILL BUILD TROLLEY LINE. Winterset and Creston People Take Up Old Project. Creston, Oct. 22.—The abandonment by the Rock Island road of the proposed extension of its Winterset branch from Winterset to Greenfield by way of Mackburg has had a reawakening effect on the interurban project from this city to Winterset. The people of Mackburg are determined to have a road of one kind or another, the people of Winterset are interested, and men of means and enterprise in this city are ready to join them in injecting new life into the trolley cross-country enterprise. The Creston-Mackburg-Winterset line has never so nearly reached a practical basis as at the present time.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN BAUER, 609 EAST MAIN STREET CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING.

Married Fifty Years Sunday — Have Resided in Ottumwa Forty-six Years — Are Old Settlers—Married in Cincinnati in the Year 1853.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Bauer, 609 East Main street was celebrated Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Bauer have been married just half a century and have been residents of this city the greater part of that time.

Are Old Settlers. Mr. and Mrs. Bauer came to Ottumwa by way of the stage coach from Keokuk in 1857 and have resided here ever since. Mr. Bauer embarked in the brick business on what is now called Soap Creek south of town and from that location he, together with A. Schafer, removed his plant to North Court street, where the Ottumwa cemetery is now situated and for ten years the firm of Schafer & Bauer operated.

Permanet Organization to be Formed At Next Regular Meeting—Have Applied for State Charter — Will Affiliate With Trades Assembly. (The matter in this column is furnished by the authorized officers of the Ottumwa Trades & Labor assembly.)
