Gravel Cars Strike Train.

The accident was due to cut-off cars running down from a switch at the gravel pit at Eighteenth street. The engineer of the student's special saw the cars approaching and jumped from the engine. The first coach was struck in two and the engineer was thrown upon it. Many students in the rear coaches of the train were shaken up by the jolting of the cars. The second car, which was occupied by the Purdue band was telescoped.

Twenty-Four Badly Hurt.

Eleven bodies have been taken from the wreck. The injured will number forty, twenty-four being seriously hurt. There were 954 passengers, mostly Purdue students. The train consisted of twelve coaches. When it struck the coal cars, the special was running at a high rate of speed.

Great Destruction.

The engine and three coaches were almost totally destroyed. The first coach was crushed to splinters, the second was telescoped and thrown down an embankment fifteen feet high while the third was overturned and thrown across the track.

Confusion As to Cause.

There is confusion as to what caused the accident, each engineer insists he had the track and did not know of the other train. A clear view of the track was prevented by a curve.

TODAY'S MARKETS.

Daily Market Letter.

Furnished by W. E. Pilling, broker, room 1112, 1112 Leighton building, Ottumwa, corner of the Donovan Commission Co., St. Louis.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Wheat opened higher on the firm cables and lighter world's shipments, but were expected. The Russian shipments were two millions less than last week and Danube 400,000 less. New Orleans reported clearances of 340,000 bushels early and this galaxy of bullish news held prices up one-quarter and one-half cents, but upon the announcement of receipt of 1,336 cars in northwest against 1,012 last week, and 2,396 a year ago the local crowd sold the market back to Saturday's closing prices. Then came the visible report which showed a fair decrease in arrivals, which is practically unheard of here at this season and it of course, had a rallying influence.

Amour sold about a million December, it being pretty well taken by scalpers. Minnesota stocks show an increase of 150,000 for two days.

Speculative sentiment is at very low ebb and in the latter part of the session trading dropped off to substantially nothing.

Conditions of supply and demand as heretofore, very quiet. Moderate shipping, inquiry and the country selling rather sparingly. Provisions interest are still the active bear element and the buying is scattered and otherwise featureless. There is no apparent tendency at the moment to either receipts 503, with 51 grading contract. Estimates 520, clearances 35,000, primary shipments, 1,022,000 against 366,500 last year.

Oats.—The oats market has a rather heavy tone and prices are shade lower. Receipts continue fairly liberal and while there is only moderate cash demand spot prices held rather firm. The speculative feeling is not, however, apparently very strong. The best trading element on the floor seems to lean toward the bear side. Outside influence is small.

Provisions.—The provisions market is dull, but on the whole rather firm. There is no change to note in the average in the movement.

It is very quiet everywhere. There has been considerable covering of oats particularly in the latter part of the packing interests who have heretofore been bearish. But the buying for investment is on a small scale and from an unimportant source.

Daily Stock and Bond Letter.

Furnished by the Donovan Commission Company of St. Louis, Mo., W. E. Pilling, Broker, Rooms 18 and 19 Leighton building.

New York, Nov. 2.—Expectancy of an exceedingly dull market today has been fully realized and the market almost stagnant. The tone of the market generally, however, is strong and there is sufficient evidence of underlying strength to warrant the belief that the developments of underlying strength and activity would mean upward movement in prices. Only a few stocks have shown animation and some of these are called "Tamm Specialties," notably strong have been B. R. T. and American Ice. It is easy to see that the possibility of a many victory tomorrow has had very much to do with strength of the issues.

The steel issues are steady and the industrial list acting in well generally. Pennsylvania shows a very good tone and rumors of a truce with Gould are again heard.

There is not much in the yarn on which to base a belief in it. The market will likely continue to be dull during the remainder of the session. And we look to see railroad stocks have an upward tendency Wednesday.

Weekly Market Review.

Furnished by Donovan Commission Co., W. E. Pilling, agent, Leighton block, Ottumwa.

St. Louis, Oct. 31.—Wheat has continued dull and little outside interest has been manifested in the market. The wheat is held to a great extent, but is inclined to sag, but it is our opinion that in times of listless indifference trade like the present, is due to usually prepare for something of a different kind. The wheat has been all that could be desired, but the movement of grain has not increased very materially. One encouraging feature of this week has been the liberal sales for export. It begins to look as if the foreigner were going to continue to take our wheat and this should give us higher prices as the great trouble has been the absence of a market.
