QUITS GOSPEL FURTHER PATENT

THE REV. MR. STAUNTON, KNOWN HERE BY CONGREGATIONALISTS IS IN BURLINGTON.

The Rev. Mr. Staunton, of Mt. Pleasant, who instigated proceedings against Rev. R. J. Locke, of this city as moderator of the Denmark association, and other men high in the annals of the Congregational church, for not registering him as a minister, has given up the gospel to promote a device which he has patented, in telling about Mr. Staunton's invention, the Burlington Gazette says:

"A double-cylinder power generator, invented by the Rev. Mr. Staunton of Mt. Pleasant, is going through its initial demonstrations at the water works in this city. This machine, Mr. Staunton says, will revolutionize the water power business and enable promoters, such as the builders of the Keokuk dam, to produce unlimited power."

"Mr. Staunton has been working on this invention for twelve years and he thinks he has it about perfected. His first machine was a single-cylinder affair and it realized his idea, he says, but there are so much greater possibilities in the double-cylinder that he immediately had another machine built."

"The idea of the machine is to run a stream of water through the machine thus producing power. A slight fall in all that is necessary. For demonstration purposes a small stream of water from the reservoir of the water company was run through the double cylinders. Mr. Staunton has made his home in Burlington for some time, having given up the ministry in order to perfect his machine. It is hoped it will be all he thinks it will and that it will be a boon to the water power companies."

DOWN THE MISSISSIPPI.

Late Captain Kimbel Taken on the Steamer Potosi to Bellevue for Burial.

Dubuque, June 23.—Draped in black, the pilot house banked in flowers and the flag at half mast, the Potosi, bearing the body of the late Captain Kimbel, placed in a cabin on the front deck left Eagle Point and steamed down the Mississippi river to Bellevue, where the funeral was held. The Potosi, once the property of the late river man and for the past year of which he has been captain, was profusely draped in mourning. The casket rested upon the upper deck and could be seen by the many who gathered on the banks to note the passing of the boat bearing its burden to its final resting place.

Upon arriving at Bellevue the body was taken to the Lutheran church and thence to the cemetery adjoining, where it was laid to rest.

MINE ACCIDENTS IN IOWA ARE FEW

GOVERNMENT REPORTS SHOWS THIRTY-SEVEN FATALITIES OCCURRED IN 1909.

Taking in consideration the number of miners employed in the mines of Iowa, the fatalities of the year 1909 were very small according to report of State Inspectors R. T. Rhys of Ottumwa, John Vernon and Edward Sweeney. During the year 1909 there were thirty-seven fatalities, but this was an increase over the year 1908 when thirty-one miners met death by accident. In the press bulletin of the United States Geological survey issued by Director George Otis Smith, the report on Iowa shows that in six years since 1892 (the figures for the years 1896 and 1897 being missing) 469 men have been killed and 1,018 injured in the coal mines of Iowa. Iowa like Indiana has been remarkably free from explosions of dust and gas, only eleven of the 48 deaths being due to this cause and eight of these eleven were killed in one year, 1893. The only big mine explosion which ever occurred in Iowa was at Lost Creek, near Oskaloosa in 1893 when eight men lost their lives. Falls of roof and coal were the most prolific cause of death, 277 victims being scored against them. More than half of the non-fatal accidents, 567 out of 1,018 were also due to this cause. The casualty record for Iowa for 1909 shows 103 injuries. There were only 90 injuries in 1908. Falls of roof and coal caused twenty-two of the fatal accidents and 49 of the injuries in 1909. Only one death was due to gas explosion, as reported by Inspectors Rhys, Sweeney and Vernon was 7,166,253 short tons, an increase of 5,000 over 1908. The number of tons mined for each fatality was 193,682 in 1909 and 231,010 in 1908.

The report shows that the total number of deaths from coal mine accidents in the United States in 1909 to have been 2,421 against 2,450 in the preceding year.

FAIR AT ELDON WILL BE LARGE

OLD SOLDIERS' REUNION WILL BE HELD IN CONNECTION WITH AGRICULTURAL SHOW.

RACING WILL BE FAST

Fifty-fourth Band Has Been Engaged to Play During the Three Days—Program is Issued—Ottumwans Will Go.

That the statement of President D. A. Jay, of the Big Four Fair association at Eldon last year on the closing day of the fair that the 1910 race meet and agricultural exhibits would be the largest in the history of the association, was not idle talk, can be gleaned from the fair program which has just been issued. The dates of the twentieth annual exhibit this year will be September 6, 7, 8 and 9. The Big Four Old Soldiers' reunion will be held in connection. Hundreds of Ottumwans will be attracted to Eldon by the fast races and large exhibits of agricultural products of Wapello, Davis, Jefferson and Van Buren counties this year. The fair in reality is a Wapello county fair as it is the only meeting of its kind in this section.

54th Band Will Play. The Big Four officials have engaged the Fifty-fourth regiment band of Ottumwa to play during the fair and this will be an added attraction. The band played at the fair last year and proved such a great drawing card that the fair officials immediately signed a contract with Director Worrell for this year. The band made a great hit during the two days' exhibition and they were complimented very highly by President Jay in his address on the closing day.

Good Weather Wanted. With good weather, the fair officials expect record breaking crowds. Last year the first day's program was abandoned on account of the down-pour of rain but the attendance at the remaining days was good. At the close of the 1909 meet, the fair officials immediately got busy and commenced laying plans for the 1910 exhibition and this year's meet will doubtless be a great success.

Jay Heads Association. Dr. D. A. Jay, one of the best known citizens of southern Iowa is president of the Big Four Fair association. Mr. Jay has been connected with the association many years and is one of its greatest boosters. E. E. Hillis is vice president, J. W. Hall treasurer and H. B. Baker of Eldon secretary. Like Dr. Jay they are all active boosters for the fair and under their guidance the 1910 meeting promises to outstrip all others. The different department superintendents and assistants are C. W. Weber, privileges, William Michael, horses; Z. T. Knight, cattle; S. Hollenbeck, sheep and swine; J. T. Perry and Mrs. William Michael, poultry; George Lasley, fruit, grain and vegetables; N. W. Moore, gates; W. G. Crow, grounds; Willis Reno, chief marshal; C. D. Sharp, chief of police. Mrs. J. W. Hall has charge of the Art hall and will be assisted by Old Soldiers' Reunion. The Big Four Soldiers' reunion which has heretofore been held at the fair grounds on the week following the Big Four fair, will this year be held on the same dates as the fair. A large tent will be provided for this occasion and a good program will be arranged for the mornings of September 7, 8 and 9. In the evening big camp fires will be held in the tent. By combining the Big Four fair and the soldiers' reunion it will be one of the greatest gatherings ever held in Eldon.

Impaled on a Hay Fork Buck. Cherokee, June 23.—Alva Conley, the 16-year-old son of Sam Conley, living seven miles south of Cherokee, met with a horrible death this week. The young man was spending the day at Nick Maranell's on the Sam Bushlow farm, about four miles from his own home. Conley and some of the Maranell boys were playing about the barn and Conley was up in the loft. In some way he slipped and fell out, striking on a hay buck, the fork of which entered the lower part of his body and went clear through. His companions released him and carried him to the house, where he died half an hour afterwards. He was conscious for a few minutes.
