

ROOSEVELT IS TURNED DOWN BY N. Y. SENATE

LEGISLATORS REJECT PRIMARY LAW AND ADJURN AFTER BEING URGED TO PASS BILL BY COLONEL AND GOVERNOR.

Albany, July 1.—The state senate defeated the Cobb direct nominations bill, 25 to 19, seven Republicans combining with the Democrats against the bill. The bill was killed after amendments proposed by Chairman Griscom of the New York county Republican committee and endorsed by Roosevelt had been incorporated in the measure by a vote of 24 to 21. The result of the fight in the senate was even a more positive refusal to accept Roosevelt's leadership in the matter than that of the assembly yesterday. The assembly unanimously passed the Merritt graduated inheritance tax bill, which gives the state an additional $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 annual revenue. The legislature then adjourned sine die.

When the extraordinary session of the legislature entered upon its final stage today indications pointed to the failure of the efforts of Taft, Roosevelt and Gov. Hughes to bring about the passage of the Cobb direct nomination bill. After a bitter debate which lasted until early this morning the senate by a vote of 24 to 23 concurred in the assembly resolution fixing the hour for final adjournment at 2 o'clock this afternoon. This left only a few hours today in which to consider not only the Cobb bill, but financial measures planned to pass to bolster up the state's revenues.

The Cobb direct nomination bill was killed in the assembly yesterday afternoon after a hard fight. The final count was 30 to 43 in favor of accepting the adverse report of the Judiciary committee. The Republicans of the senate held a caucus last night but only twenty-three were there. They voted to make a party measure of the Cobb bill, with the amendments proposed by Lloyd C. Griscom, chairman of the New York county Republican committee, and favored by Colonel Roosevelt. It took twenty-six votes to pass a bill in the senate, so the situation was not cleared.

There is talk of still another special session. Because the legislature quit work with no primary bill passed, the leaders say Governor Hughes may call it back again.

Wadsworth Glad.

Speaker Wadsworth was frankly glad at the turn things have taken. He said: "The action of the assembly should not be construed as a gratuitous slap at the ex-president or his friends. The assembly feels it gave the fullest and most deliberate consideration to primary reform at its regular session.

The supreme issue is whether the assembly shall swallow its convictions and deliberately reverse its honest judgment and thereby announce to the legislatures that in the future a legislative branch of the government supposedly independent, can be coerced and forced to occupy a secondary position in our system of government. It is a question far beyond that of the merits or the demerits of direct primaries."

GOVERNMENT HAS REPRESENTATIVE ON GROUND HERE AND DIRT WILL FLY PROBABLY NEXT WEEK.

Benson A. Appleyard, superintendent of construction, representing the treasury department at Washington, D. C., in the construction of Ottumwa's $225,000 federal building, has arrived in the city and has established offices in the old post office building. Appleyard has had eight years' experience in supervising the construction of government buildings and before his connection with the treasury department was associated with one of the largest construction firms in the east. JEFF SAYS HE WILL END THE FIGHT IN RUSH

EXPRESSES HIS INTENTION OF GOING RIGHT AFTER OPPONENT AND KNOCKING HIM OUT AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

Reno, Nevada, July 1.—At last the long, hard, grueling training seems to be at an end in the camp of both Jeffries and Johnson. Both fighters declare they have done their last bit of strenuous work before the fight. Each man says he is fit. Jeffries is happier, apparently, than he has been since he began sixteen months ago the laborious process of making himself physically sound. He romped like a schoolboy at his camp. Johnson joked with his trainers and reiterated the statement that he is in condition to put up the battle of his life.

While strolling up the moonlight road with a friend last night, Jeffries talked at great length about himself and his prospects in the coming fight. Throwing his arms around the shoulders of his companion, he said: "I am going to win. I never was in better shape in my life. It is my intention to go right after my opponent and knock him out as soon as possible. I intend to take a large amount of punishment to get to him quickly, but you may depend on it I will inflict greater and more severe punishment in return. Corbett believes Jeffries will enter the ring weighing 220 pounds. Manager Flanagan says Johnson's weight is 209.

Jeff Goes Fighting.

Dust covered and tired but beaming with good nature his cruel bulging with Truckee river trout, Jeffries returned to Reno this morning from an early trip to Verdi on the slopes of the Sierras. That is the way he proposes to spend the time until he shakes hands with Johnson. Jack lolled about his camp throughout the morning and chatted with his trainers and visitors. A morning train from San Francisco came in loaded. George Harting, the veteran time keeper, has been selected as official time keeper of the match. Harting has counted out 1100 defeated fighters, four of whom died from punishment.

TAFT AND HIS PREDECESSOR IN LOVE FEAST

PRESIDENT GREET'S GUEST AS "THEODORE" AND T. R. SAYS "MR. PRESIDENT"; BOTH SHOW PLEASURE AT MEETING.

POLITICS WAS ONLY DISCUSSED CASUALLY

ROOSEVELT'S FRIENDS SAY MEETING BORE OUT THEIR STATEMENT THAT FORMER PRESIDENT WOULD NOT BOSS.

Beverly, July 1.—Further advice today regarding the Taft-Roosevelt meeting yesterday have borne out the statements then made that politics had entered into the conversation between the president and the colonel only in a casual way. A great many friends of Roosevelt had contended all along that he would not presume to indicate to Taft what he thought he should or should not do. Their view of the situation seems to have been borne out by yesterday's event. President Taft played golf again this morning.

Nahant, Mass., July 1.—The last day of Roosevelt's visit to Massachusetts found the former president early astir at the home of Senator Lodge here. He spent an hour before breakfast walking about the estate and gazing across the wide expanse of ocean. Roosevelt and Lodge left in an automobile at 9:40 for the Corry Hill hospital at Brookline, to call upon Justice Moody. Roosevelt expected to return to New York later in the day. He remained at the hospital at Brookline an hour. "I think Moody appears a little improved. I had not seen him before since March," said Lodge. Roosevelt and Lodge were then driven to Boston where they called on Dr. W. S. Bigelow.

Taft and Roosevelt Meet.

Beverly, Mass., July 1.—President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt stood with hands upon each other's shoulders on the veranda of the summer capital cottage yesterday afternoon: "Mr. President"—it was Roosevelt who spoke and there was earnest warmth in his salutation. "Theodore"—Taft patted each other affectionately on the shoulder. They laughed in a way that left not a single lingering doubt as to the exuberance of their feelings. They seemed utterly oblivious of the fact that there were others present. "It used to be 'Mr. President' and 'Will' didn't it?" said the colonel in his old familiar high pitched voice, "but now it's 'Mr. President and Theodore'."

First Meeting Since March, 1909.

The two old friends, meeting after sixteen months of separation with all the warmth that used to characterize their association in Washington, slapped each other again on arms and shoulders.

And so it went throughout the afternoon. When Colonel Roosevelt was president and Mr. Taft secretary of war the meetings of the two men in the executive offices at Washington were always characterized by the same cordiality as that of yesterday.

House attaches who witnessed the greetings declared it was just like the old days. There was a rapid fire of conversation. The meeting was everything that the friends of President Taft have claimed that it would be, and the persistent prophecies of those who have insisted all along that a coolness had developed between the two men proved to be utterly fallacious.

Confer Over Two Hours.

Colonel Roosevelt was still in the spirit of the renewed association with the President when, after two hours and twenty minutes spent with Mr. Taft and members of his family, he started back to Nahant to spend a second night with Senator Lodge.

As he was leaving the shaded grounds of the President's cottage the colonel stopped to speak with several old newspaper friends from Washington.

"I had a most pleasant time with the President," he exclaimed. "There is nothing particular to say, is there, Cabot?" turning to Senator Lodge.

"No, I think not," put in the senator.

"We had a most delightful time and that is all there is to it," added the colonel.

"By George, look at those miscreants," he exclaimed, as several photographers who had climbed on a stone wall for a vantage point began to click their cameras with a perfect fusillade of snapshots.

"Does Beverly come up to Oyster Bay?" some one asked.

"You know I'm fond of Oyster Bay," replied Mr. Roosevelt, "and I don't
