Operations Should Be Last Resort. Gall stones and appendicitis can be cured without an operation. Nature did not create organs in the human body to be removed by man. Years ago Dr. Strickler found that eight out of every ten operations performed were unnecessary and now continues to be so. These conditions and results caused him to enter the field against the knife. For many years and to the present time he advises a careful examination by some specialist who could be relied upon, before submitting to the surgeon's knife. In his practice as a specialist he has found that a great many cases that have been operated upon for appendicitis, which gave no relief and afterwards turned out to be Gallstones, Bowel Troubles, Liver or Stomach Troubles could have been avoided. This is a useless expenditure of time and money, to say nothing of the suffering they had to endure, and the risk they run of not living through the operation. Dr. Strickler has cured many cases of this kind by his modern treatment, without the use of the knife. Medicines and full directions for cure sent direct to his patients. Consult Dr. Strickler before you submit to an operation. Write him today, or call on him. He does not treat incurable cases. Consultation and examination free. References given of cured cases.
