

Hieroglyphics

Why on earth should a merchant mark his goods with hieroglyphics nobody can read?

Either he is making too much profit, or he is afraid some one will see the price tag and think it's too high.

In either case there's something wrong with his policy.

It's different here. You will find a price on everything, and its a low price too.

The low price on a Hoosier Special Kitchen Cabinet is especially low--think of that for Christmas.

Lloyd L. Duke Asks Voters For Their Support For Office of County Attorney

Lloyd L. Duke, republican candidate for county attorney, was born on a farm near Richland, in Keokuk county. Shortly after his birth his parents moved to Woodburn, Clarke county, Iowa, where he resided with them on a farm until about eighteen years of age. After graduating from the high school, Mr. Duke took a commercial course in Elliott's business college at Burlington, Iowa, and immediately afterward spent a year in the study of law with Senator Jamison of Osceola, Iowa.

After the death of his father, Mr. Duke became a student at Drake university in Des Moines, taking a combined collegiate and law course, and graduating with the degree of L. L. B. After taking a year's special course in the study of law he secured the degree of master of laws. During his collegiate career Mr. Duke was one of the leading debaters of the university and secured first place in individual ranking in a debate for the championship of Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska.

After having been admitted to the bar, Mr. Duke located in Ottumwa and began the practice of law. There are few young lawyers in Iowa that have met with greater success or had a wider range of experience in the trial of cases than Mr. Duke. He has rapidly taken rank as one of the ablest lawyers of the Wapello county bar. He has been identified, either as counsel in chief or associate counsel, with almost every criminal case of importance tried in this county during the past four years. His experience in the trial of civil cases is perhaps larger than in criminal cases, and he has been engaged in some of the hardest fought civil cases tried in Wapello county during this time. He has the record of never having had a jury return a verdict against his client in a civil case.

In electing Lloyd L. Duke prosecuting attorney of Wapello county, the voters can make no mistake and he will bring to this office a knowledge of affairs in Wapello county that will insure a successful administration of affairs.

THE PAINS THAT RACK A WOMAN'S BACK

"Man works from rise to set of sun. 'But woman's work is never done.' Any woman who keeps house and brings up a family knows the truth of the old rhyme--and how much harder it is when not in perfect health!"

Many a wife endures with noble patience the daily misery of back-ache, pains about the hips and pelvis, blue, nervous spells, and urinary disorders, expecting no relief, because she doesn't know what is the matter. It is not true that every pain in the region of the hips and lower abdomen is "female trouble." When the kidneys get congested, and inflamed there is constant backache, headache, dizzy spells, bearing down pain, urinary disorders and other queer pains which are easily mistaken for sex ailments, but which are due to the swollen, sick kidneys.

You can tell that it is kidney trouble if the secretions are dark-colored and contain sediment like brick dust, if passages are too frequent, or scanty, or scald like hot water. And the uric acid poisoning makes you dull and tired, fretful and nervous. It brings

Ottumwa Testimony. Mrs. J. F. Hissell, 1410 East Main street, Ottumwa, Iowa, says:

"Several years ago we gave a public statement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and at this time do not hesitate one moment in confirming it. I suffered from weak kidneys and I did so, getting my back and head ached and I often became dizzy and nervous. I could not stoop without suffering intensely and my limbs were sore. A member of my family insisted that I try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did so, getting my supply at Bargent's drug store. They disposed of my pains and aches and improved my health."

FORMER IOWAN WRITES COURIER

CHARLES BACON TELLS OF THE RANGE IN FAR-OFF WYOMING WHERE HE RESIDES.

LIKES THE COUNTRY

Says Climate and General Conditions Are Good--Plenty of Water and Much Sunshine--Located Near Chug-Water.

An Iowan and former resident of Wapello county, Charles Bacon, who for some time past has been living on a homestead in Wyoming close to Chug-Water, writes the Courier telling of the merits of his new home in the ranges where cattle and sheep abound. Mr. Bacon sings high the praises of Wyoming from nearly every viewpoint that the former would take of a new country. Climate and water are both said by him to be perfect and the growing conditions good. His letter comes as follows:

Chug-Water, Wyo., Oct. 24, 1910. "Having lived in the vicinity of Ottumwa for several years, and having numerous friends in Wapello county, I will confine myself to a short letter that they may know something of this wonderful land:

Have Plenty of Sunshine. "I am located on a homestead three miles east of Chug-Water and like it fine. We have a delightful climate. Also excellent water which is reached at a depth of 100 feet. Out of the 255 days in the year, we have 330 days of sunshine. Our storms, while severe, last only a few hours. The early return of the sun soon dries the surface and thus we are bored but little with mud and dampness. In the summer we enjoy cool breezes from the mountains which lessens the heat of the day and makes the nights suitable for sleeping.

Less of Promise. "In connection with climate, one thinks of water. This part of Wyoming is blessed with an abundance of pure spring and vein water. A year ago there were only fifteen shacks here, now there are 375 families with homes and improvements. Every one here seems to be satisfied with the prospects. Nearly all are breaking the prairie sod and planning for an early planting in the spring. Those who put in crops early last spring had very good results, despite a shortage of rain this past summer. To show the faith settlers here have of the chances of this country, there are three steam and concrete engines and plows within a radius of eight miles.

Have Church and School. "Sometimes lack of schools and churches are a drawback to a new country. We are well provided with both here. There are but few children that are not within three miles of a school house here. There is one central church, a fine building and a salaried pastor. In conjunction with this Sunday school is held in various places.

Leave Cattle Business. "There are many cattle and sheep ranches here. One firm has been running 25,000 head of cattle and sheep on this range, and are now shipping all of them and going into the sheep business. The reason for this is because the homestead settlers are taking up the range. This firm shipped 4,000 head from Chug-Water Wednesday and Thursday of last week. The firm has now 10,000 head of sheep and are planning to increase it to more than 200,000. A large number of ante-

The petition in bankruptcy filed by Merrill & McFarland of Creston, was heard yesterday and the petitioners were declared bankrupt. L. W. Laughlin of Mt. Airy was appointed receiver for the firm at a bond of $25,000.

Wyman Will Make a Good Surveyor For Services in Wapello County

William Charles Wyman, republican candidate for county surveyor, is a native of Ottumwa and with the exception of the years spent in technical school work, has resided here his entire life time. He is the son of Alice and Frank Wyman. Mr. Wyman graduated both from the Ottumwa grade and high schools. Following this preparatory education he entered the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, and took a complete course, receiving his degree. Not content with this, the candidate took a special course in surveying and topographical work. He served as deputy county engineer of Phelps county, Mo., for one year, during the absence of the incumbent. Since leaving school Mr. Wyman has not been successively engaged in engineering work, but has superintended a number of surveying jobs at various places.

Mr. Wyman, while still a young man, is peculiarly fitted for the office to which he aspires. He is energetic, commands an excellent knowledge of the work devolving upon the office, and will give excellent satisfaction. In school and later in Missouri Institute, he bent all his energies in securing as much knowledge as was possible of his chosen profession, and the result is he is excellently equipped. Since the death of his father, over two years ago he has had charge of the crockery business on East Main street, in which he has gained additional knowledge of the business. Mr. Wyman justly deserves the favorable consideration of Wapello county voters.

MILLER CHAPEL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Miss Winnifred Hughes is a Most Capable Women For Superintendent

There is no office in the gift of the county in which such special qualifications are demanded as in the office of county superintendent. The republican party has secured a candidate in Miss Winnifred Hughes who is fitted in an eminent degree to fill the office of county superintendent. Miss Hughes is a thoroughly experienced teacher, a close student of modern educational tendencies and she will bring to the office the broadened experience she has gained in the schools of Nebraska's capital. Miss Hughes has spent much of her life in the teaching profession.

Her experience in school work covers several years, which had their beginning with two years in the country schools. Miss Hughes then taught in the schools of the city, principally in the Garfield, Irving and Adams, after which she accepted the principalship of the Montpelier, Idaho school and remained there three years. While in Montpelier, Miss Hughes was elected president of the Southeastern counties association of teachers, which held monthly meetings for the discussion of methods of teaching and advanced ideas along educational lines. In connection with the county superintendent and acting with him, Miss Hughes gained experience in conducting the county school work and investigated and suggested county needs and methods. She has just finished her third year at Lincoln, Neb., as regular supply or substitute teacher, receiving the maximum salary as regular teacher, visiting every building and being subject to call to fill any position vacant from the first to eighth grade. When it is considered that Lincoln is in the forefront in all educational work and advancement, this alone should be sufficient recommendation as to her fitness for the office of MISS WINNIFRED HUGHES, county superintendent. Miss Hughes' experience there has been invaluable. She also took special courses in lines for professional efficiency in the university of Nebraska at Lincoln. Wapello county schools should not be denied the benefits of Miss Hughes' experience and general fitness for the superintendency.
