

DRAIN TILE
For prices and information write
Morey Clay Products Co
OTTUMWA, IOWA

Tri-Weekly Courier

CHANGING ADDRESSES.
Subscribers wishing their address changed will please give the name of the postoffice to which the paper has been sent as well as the postoffice where they desire it to be changed to.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS.

Lola Irene, little daughter of Mrs. C. McCoy, North Hancock street, has recovered from a recent illness.
Rev. Jonathan Lee, 245 South Ward street, is a business caller at Eldon today.
Mrs. Carrie B. Hardy has returned to Bowman, N. D., after visiting relatives here and in neighboring towns.
Mrs. Ed Whipple and sons Lincoln and Leonard have returned to Oskaloosa after a visit at the E. G. Whipple home, 514 East Williams street.
Ed L. Pepper and son John of Conway Springs, Kan., spent Sunday at the home of Ben S. Pepper, West Chester avenue.
Miss Martha Stoller has returned to Oskaloosa, after visiting at the E. G. Whipple home, 514 East Williams St.
Mrs. J. A. Albright has returned to Floris accompanied by her grandson, Master Harold Billymer, 405 South Milner street.
Rev. and Mrs. W. O. Livingstone and daughter Lois, 214 South Davis street, leave today for Colfax where they will camp a week and attend the state convention of the Christian church.
Mrs. W. F. McCarroll and family, 309 West Fourth street, returned this morning from a two weeks' visit with relatives at Lake Okoboji.
Mrs. B. L. DeBushe, 910 Hayne street has left for an extended visit through Colorado, Utah and other western states.
Miss Esther Schwartzbach, 202 South Ransom street, has returned from Nicholas where she visited her sister, Mrs. John Renshaw.
Mrs. M. H. Simpson, 515 North Ash street, has left for Mason City where she will make her future home.
Miss Esther Silverman of Des Moines has returned home after visiting Miss Rose Margolis, 706 East Second street.
Mrs. A. M. Abernathy and daughter Ruby of Kirksville have returned home after visiting with friends for the past few days.

Miss Vina Saville of Eddyville has returned home after visiting with friends for a few days.
Miss Rose Zachy of Des Moines has returned to her home after visiting at the home of O. Bookin, 404 East Main street.
Miss Myrl Thompson, 730 Ellis avenue, has left for Batavia, to visit with friends and relatives for a few days.
Miss Geneva Lewis of Bidwell has returned home after visiting at the home of Fred Stellar, 213 South Willard street.
The Misses Ruth and Alice Cummings, 429 North Jefferson street, have gone to Kansas City, to visit with friends and relatives for a few days.
George H. Eaton of Trinidad, Colo., has returned home after visiting at the home of James Hendricks, 149 North Moore street.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson and daughter Velma of Seymour, have returned home after visiting Mrs. W. K. Farmer, 709 North Ash street.
Miss Will Russell of Des Moines, is visiting at the home of Mrs. C. M. Hadsell, 225 North Washington street.
Mrs. D. Hendrickson, 317 North Sheridan avenue, has gone to Centerville, where she was called by the death of her husband's mother, Mrs. E. Adams.
Mrs. Fred Johnson of Seymour, has returned home after visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank Halferty, 521 West Fourth street.
Miss Ethel Roth of Fairfield, is visiting with Miss Leona Doller, 620 East Second street.
Mrs. F. Z. Kidd, 724 West Fourth street, has gone to Allerton to visit with friends and relatives for a few days.
Miss Sylvia Lord of Bear Creek, has returned home after visiting with friends for the past few days.
Rev. Thomas Brown has gone to Trenton, Mo., to visit his daughter, Mrs. Viola Lee.
Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Enoch, 207 West Woodland avenue, left this afternoon for a visit in Denver and other Colorado points.
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burnside have returned from a visit in Mitchell, S. D., where they spent about a month while Mr. Burnside has been away ten days.
Paul B. Mason of Pawhuska, Okla., is visiting at the home of George D. Pierce, 228 East Maple avenue.
Ernest Fabritz, assistant in the county auditor's office has returned from a two week's vacation which was spent on the farm of J. F. Stevens, southeast of the city and at the home of his parents near Chillicothe.

In The Religious World
(REVIEW OF SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.)

A MOVING PICTURE OF SALVATION.

The International Sunday School Lesson For July 19 is "Blind Bartimaeus"—Mark 10:46-52.
(By William T. Ellis.)
An enterprising old fellow, who thinks that the world is going to end next October, is now giving a series of free moving picture exhibitions over the land, wherein he purports to show the whole scheme of things, from chaos through creation and Calvary, clear up to the present time. Aside from the fact that chaos and creation do not lend themselves readily to the cinematograph, the idea is in accordance with popular taste. People like to see things in a picture. They want truth told in stories. They remember history in terms of great men, and great men in terms of specific incidents.
So we may take this familiar story, which is assigned for today's Sunday school lesson, as summing up the whole mission and message of Jesus—the scheme of salvation in an episode. The characters are Christ, the crowd and a blind beggar by the wayside down in old Jericho, where death awaited him within the week. Jesus had the profoundest concerns of eternity to engross his thought; but he still had an eye for the needs of every day people.
Poor Bartimaeus lived before the day of asylums. He had to fend for himself. His wailing, whining plea was his only means of extracting a scant livelihood from a world which will not become tinged, as is ours, with the compassion of Christ. The horrible misery of the beggars of the orient, as they are fixed in my memory, makes possible a mental picture of this abject creature by the wayside.
The only asylum of which Bartimaeus could dream was Jesus himself. There was no other. It is Christianity that builds refuges for human need. So the only hope of this blind beggar was that some day he might come into contact with the compassionate healer and wonderful worker.
A "scene" was created when Jesus drew near the stand of this familiar wayside beggar. The abject creature was delirious with excitement. His dreams and desires were coming true. Before ever the master had drawn near him, his shrill, hysterical voice was lifted high above the tumult: "Jesus, thou Son of David, have mercy on me!"
Again and again, with increasing shrillness, his cry was reiterated. In the darkness of his mental isolation the poor beggar had determined that such words as had been wrought by Jesus could be done by none other than the Messiah. Therefore he acclaimed him by the familiar messianic title. It is easy for great need to be possessed of great faith. Bartimaeus did not have to go to the rabbi to discuss questions concerning the Messiah. No scholarly quibbles bothered him. Here was one who met the need of the destitute. That was proof enough of his divine mission. Then, as now, simple faith saw most clearly.
All the while the shrill scream growing momentarily more hysterical, rose higher and higher. The bystanders were becoming annoyed and scandalized. They thought it reflected upon the good name of their community to have the noted stranger met by such commotion.
With many a shake and gesture and stern word they warned the beggar, "Hold your peace!" They told him that the great teacher had no time for wayside beggars. He was on his way to the great Passover and, of course, he was interested in the great buildings that Herod had erected to make Jericho famous. The beggar's intrusion of his misery was a jarring note. Yet so far as Bartimaeus was concerned, all the concerns of the world seemed small alongside of this one particular need of his own. There was no suppressing such a desire as his. He wanted one thing and wanted it with a strong crying that consumed his soul and shut out the world. Even as John Knox cried, "Give me Scotland, or I die!" so Bartimaeus clamored for sight.
Importunity and Opportunity.
Importunity sometimes makes opportunity. God likes to answer persistent prayers. He loves the man who will not be denied. Insistent faith wins him. Of course, Jesus heard the beggar's cry. What were Herod's palaces to him alongside of a human need? He cared more for it than for the veritable gardens of God that surrounded Jericho in glorious effulgence. Somebody has said that God would still all the celestial choir of cherubim and seraphim around the throne, if necessary, in order to hear the prayer of one needy human being. The world had been unheeding of Bartimaeus for long dreary years. Jesus knows him the first time he passes.
Suddenly the procession halted. Turning toward the beggar Jesus said, "Call ye him." Then the sycophantic crowd, who had been stilling the clamor of Bartimaeus, became vociferous in their message to him: "Be of good cheer. He called thee."
Delirious with joy the blind man leaped up. No patient plodding forward, with a staff in front of him, on this occasion. No careful concern for his poor property. Flinging aside his treasured outer garment, and plunging forward in the direction of the sweet voice he had heard, needless of whom he might run into, Bartimaeus rushed to Jesus. This is a dramatic picture and one that the world would not willingly spare from its galleries of memory.
Getting the Thing We Want.
Sometimes our dearest desires do come true. The deepest and dearest desires of our heart are realized. For it is the compassion of God to give more than we ask or desire. Such a great hour had come to Bartimaeus. This was his moment of opportunity and destiny, for the voice that had summoned him from his wayside roost now continued, "What wilt thou that I should do unto thee?"
What an offer was this! It was a blank check on the resources of heaven. Bartimaeus could have what he wanted!
Did he take time for deliberation? Not he. Was there any need for him to calculate some scheme of permanent relief that would take him from the roadside? Could he not get an introduction to Herod's favor?
No consideration of the sort entered his mind for an instant. He wanted one thing and only one thing, and he wanted that so badly that it crowded into his throat like a sob. "Rabbi, that I may receive my sight."
That was all. He believed that Jesus could do this miracle for him. Nor was his faith misplaced. For a third time the patient, gentle-voiced teacher spoke, "Go thy way. Thy faith hath made thee whole." Straightaway Bartimaeus was no longer blind Bartimaeus by the roadside, but a seeing man. Exultant in his joy, and grateful, he left all his old ways and followed Jesus toward Jericho.
A Picture Story.
In that incident you have the whole gospel. It is all there, in graphic form. There is man's need, which no human power can satisfy. There is the compassion of Christ, which encompasses the lowliest and their desires. There, too, is man's faith, craving the best from heaven, and Christ's quick answer of full deliverance and love.
Blind and needy humanity is to find its real needs met by Jesus of Nazareth, as he walks through the common ways of life.

Importunity and Opportunity.
Importunity sometimes makes opportunity. God likes to answer persistent prayers. He loves the man who will not be denied. Insistent faith wins him. Of course, Jesus heard the beggar's cry. What were Herod's palaces to him alongside of a human need? He cared more for it than for the veritable gardens of God that surrounded Jericho in glorious effulgence. Somebody has said that God would still all the celestial choir of cherubim and seraphim around the throne, if necessary, in order to hear the prayer of one needy human being. The world had been unheeding of Bartimaeus for long dreary years. Jesus knows him the first time he passes.
Suddenly the procession halted. Turning toward the beggar Jesus said, "Call ye him." Then the sycophantic crowd, who had been stilling the clamor of Bartimaeus, became vociferous in their message to him: "Be of good cheer. He called thee."
Delirious with joy the blind man leaped up. No patient plodding forward, with a staff in front of him, on this occasion. No careful concern for his poor property. Flinging aside his treasured outer garment, and plunging forward in the direction of the sweet voice he had heard, needless of whom he might run into, Bartimaeus rushed to Jesus. This is a dramatic picture and one that the world would not willingly spare from its galleries of memory.
Getting the Thing We Want.
Sometimes our dearest desires do come true. The deepest and dearest desires of our heart are realized. For it is the compassion of God to give more than we ask or desire. Such a great hour had come to Bartimaeus. This was his moment of opportunity and destiny, for the voice that had summoned him from his wayside roost now continued, "What wilt thou that I should do unto thee?"
What an offer was this! It was a blank check on the resources of heaven. Bartimaeus could have what he wanted!
Did he take time for deliberation? Not he. Was there any need for him to calculate some scheme of permanent relief that would take him from the roadside? Could he not get an introduction to Herod's favor?
No consideration of the sort entered his mind for an instant. He wanted one thing and only one thing, and he wanted that so badly that it crowded into his throat like a sob. "Rabbi, that I may receive my sight."
That was all. He believed that Jesus could do this miracle for him. Nor was his faith misplaced. For a third time the patient, gentle-voiced teacher spoke, "Go thy way. Thy faith hath made thee whole." Straightaway Bartimaeus was no longer blind Bartimaeus by the roadside, but a seeing man. Exultant in his joy, and grateful, he left all his old ways and followed Jesus toward Jericho.
A Picture Story.
In that incident you have the whole gospel. It is all there, in graphic form. There is man's need, which no human power can satisfy. There is the compassion of Christ, which encompasses the lowliest and their desires. There, too, is man's faith, craving the best from heaven, and Christ's quick answer of full deliverance and love.
Blind and needy humanity is to find its real needs met by Jesus of Nazareth, as he walks through the common ways of life.

Dollar Day at This Store

For the next Fifteen Days every day will be Dollar Day at this store.
Every man who has any notion of buying a suit of clothes should take advantage of this big dollar saving sale we are going to run for Fifteen Days.
It's time to "unload" Spring and Summer Suits and you can depend upon it, we're going to unload a good big lot of them when we CUT THE PRICES NEARLY IN HALF.

READ THESE PRICES CAREFULLY

- $8.50, $10 and $12 Suits now $4.95
$13, $14 and $15 Suits now $7.48
$16, $18 and $20 Suits now $10.95
$22.50 and $25 Suits now $14.95

REMEMBER

If you buy a suit and think you got "stung" just bring it back and you can have your money mighty quick.

FIFTEEN DAYS SALE STARTS TOMORROW — Be on hand early —

Get the biggest bargains you ever had.

Cresswell & Trost

VALUE GIVERS TRUTHFUL ADVERTISERS

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIANS.
Dr. I. N. Thompson.
Post graduate of A. S. O. under founder.
Office next door to Ennis building elevator, with Dr. L. J. Trowbridge, dentist. New patients accepted Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
DR. TULLIS.
Dentist.
Artificial teeth scientifically constructed.
Crown and bridge-work expert.
Office over Cullen's dry goods store, Main street, Ottumwa, Iowa.
DR. A. O. WILLIAMS.
B. I. & F. B'y. Co.
Surgeon.
C. B. & Q. B'y. Co.
O. R. & B. Co.
Residence, 218 North Jefferson street.
Office, 120 Court street. Residence telephone, 110; office telephone, 90. Ottumwa, Iowa.
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
W. H. C. JACQUES & J. J. JACQUES
JACQUES & JACQUES
Attorneys at Law.
107 North Court street. Both phones, No. 55.

Chicago.
Grand inner guard—Thomas C. Donohue, New London, Conn.
Grand trustee—Calvin Kingsley, Waterloo, Iowa.

JEFF SAYS:

I noticed in yesterday's game a ball player who pulled back when he struck at the ball. Do you know which one it was? That kind of stick work is noticed on the route that leads back to the brush. Lean up against it—you can't knock the ball far when you are going away from it.

ALLEGED WOMAN SLAYER ARRESTED

San Jose, Cal., July 15.—Eva J. Rinehardt, a nurse, sought for the alleged murder of her companion and partner, Mrs. Kathleen Bluet, was arrested here today on a warrant issued in Placer county. Miss Rinehardt is charged with having killed Mrs. Bluet in order to collect her life insurance.

CAVE-IN KILLS MINERS.

Iron River, Mich., July 15.—Seven miners were killed in the Balkan mine at the Alpha location, near here today, when sliding sand caused a cave-in. Crews of miners are digging for the bodies.

SPECIAL JULY PRICES

- These well known goods at prices that deserve your close examination.
40c serviceable floor broom special 25c
11 bars of laundry soap special 25c
3 bars of regular 5c toilet soap for 10c
Extra fine toilet soap box special 25c
Men's $1.50 pants the kind that wear special 98c
Men's $2.00 pants splendid quality special $1.48
Men's 50c everyday shirts special 39c
Men's 35c shirts odd sizes special 25c
Men's $1.00 dress shirts special 75c
75c grade in men's dress shirts special 48c
Everlasting men's or boys' straw hats at 10c
35c and 40c men's or boys' straw hats special 24c
75c value in men's summer underwear at 48c
Men's 50c summer underwear special 39c
Men's 35c summer underwear special 25c
Odd sizes in men's or boys' 25c underwear special 10c
Ladies' 35c lace trim union suits special 24c
75c grade in ladies' real fine union suits at 45c

The Fair

118 East Main St.

J. B. SAX Co.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday

69c Days

These three days we will sell for 69c what others are offering for one dollar.

SHIRTS

Soisette Madras with or without Collar 69c

UNDERWEAR

Balbriggan Poros Knit long or short sleeves 69c

Olus Athletic union suits - - 69c

WASH SUITS

Oliver Twist Russians and Sailors all late patterns 69c

Three pairs all silk hose Four mercerized silk Six pairs silk lisle hose, for wash ties for all colors, for

69c 69c 69c

$1.50 Straw Hats 69c

J. B. SAX Co.

CANTRIL.

Jessie Vandike returned to her home in Des Moines Wednesday after a visit with Cantril young people.
Lillian Haney of Keosauqua is visiting Cantril friends.
Mr. and Mrs. Conrad returned to Pulaski Thursday after a visit at the A. W. Conrad home.
John Bales and family and George Anderson of Stockport visited at the P. D. Lee home, Sunday.
H. E. Robinson, dean of the bible department at Canton university was in town Tuesday.
John M. Silvers left for McCook, Neb., where he will look after his farm interests.
Geo. Truax was in town the first of the week.
Jack Maley and wife returned Monday from a visit with relatives in Keokuk.
Geo. Boyd was in Fairfield Sunday.
Leah Searight of Keosauqua is visiting at the Saar home.
John Hilpert left Monday for Hillsboro.
Mary McLaughlin and daughter of Farmington are visiting at the Ira Chaplin home.
Fritz Lock of Farmington came on Monday for a visit with his brother Lawson Lock.
Rev. F. A. Smith and wife returned Friday from a visit in Montezuma.
Claude Powell were called to Centerville on account of the serious illness of Sam Powell.
C. T. White and wife of Keosauqua

IOWA ELKS GIVEN IMPORTANT JOBS

ANTLERED ONES FROM THIS STATE GREATLY HONORED AT NATIONAL MEETING.
Denver, Colo., July 15.—The official decks swept clean of contests for offices and the 1915 reunion date and place selected, (Los Angeles, July 12) the golden jubilee session of the grand lodge Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks sailed into a choppy sea of legislation with morning, afternoon and evening sessions set for today. One of the most radical innovations the grand lodge has been asked to consider is that of adding vocal music to the ritual of the order.
Previous to the selection of the date and city for the next reunion, Raymond Benjamin, of Napa, Cal., assistant attorney general of that state, was elected grand exalted ruler and a close aide was won by L. R. Maxwell, Marshalltown, Iowa. Other officials elected are:
Grand loyal knight—E. M. Dickerman, Tucson.
Grand lecturing knight—W. F. Schad Milwaukee.
Grand secretary—Frederick C. Robinson, Dubuque, Iowa.
Grand treasurer—Charles A. White,

Switzerland in America-- Glacier National Park

Glacier National Park is in Northwestern Montana. It is the most talked about region in the country today. It seems to be the one place most desired by Summer Tourists who delight in the outdoor life.
It's a curious thing how one can be induced to visit Switzerland, beautiful as it is, before exploring the wonders of Glacier National Park.
Within the Park, comfortable quarters are to be had at Glacier Park Hotel and the various chalet camps; and the Glaciers, the lofty mountains, the crystal lakes filled with gamey trout; the atmosphere of bigness ruling everywhere, are wonders never to be forgotten.
Those in charge of Glacier Park have seen to it that the cost of visiting and living there is not excessive, and I would like to give you some of our illustrated booklets which tell you all about it, and about the cost of going there and seeing all there is to see.
If you will call or send me your address, I will gladly send you copies free of charge, and answer any questions about the Park that you may wish to ask.

J. H. ROBINSON
Ticket Agent, C. B. & Q. R. R.

Lowest steamship rates to French, German and Italian points.
Antwerp, Bremen, Rotterdam, Havre, Cherburg, $43.65 from Ottumwa—Milano $53.80.

