REED'S DECISION CRIPPLES DOPE LAW

FEDERAL JUDGE IN NORTHERN IOWA DISTRICT SAYS POSSESSION IS ILLEGAL.

Dubuque, Dec. 10.—United States Judge Henry T. Reed, for the northern district of Iowa handed down a decision concerning the interpretation of the Harrison act.

According to the decision a person may carry drugs on his person or have them in his possession, and his so doing will not violate the law.

Hitherto the Harrison act was interpreted in a way which made it unlawful for persons, other than physicians, nurses, druggists and other registered persons, to have "dope" in their possession.

The ruling goes on to state that all doctors, nurses and druggists should be registered. The law states that they must be registered.

Judge Reed's ruling was handed down during the first day of the December term of the United States court here.

A large assortment of important cases is scheduled to come up during the present term of court, among which the dope cases of Waterloo and Sumner will play no small part.

FAMOUS CATTLE MAN BOOSTS FAIR

(Continued From Page 1) other is doing, so to speak, and if they are in direct competition with one another, it is very much of a stimulus for them to produce better live stock, better corn, or anything that might be their particular line.

Q.—Do you think that such a project would prove popular in this community? A.—I can't see any reason why it shouldn't. Southern Iowa and northern Missouri is the garden spot of the world, and if they are not interested in their own selves, they can't expect anybody else to be, and if the proposition which you have in mind is pushed a little, I feel that the majority of people will fall in line and give it their support in every way.

Q.—Could it be in your opinion, be made one of the biggest events of the year to the people of the community generally? A.—This all depends, as I said before upon the energy that is put into it. There isn't any question in the world but that it should be the biggest event.

Q.—Do you personally favor and approve of such a proposition? A.—Very much so.

Q.—What would you suggest as a plan for starting and operating such a project as an interstate fair for this section of the two states? A.—First of all, if I started, I would build for permanency. Agriculture is something that must be with us our entire lives, and there isn't any reason why your fair should be gone at in a haphazard manner in the way of buildings and the like. I would get the right kind of people behind it and see that it was thoroughly advertised, and let the people of the section from which you expect to obtain your patronage be convinced that it is a permanent organization of which they are one.

Q.—Do you favor exhibits of agriculture, live stock, industries, a track meet or any one special feature more than the other, or would you prefer a general fair and exposition taking in all manner of community products with a program of varied character as a drawing card for the public generally rather than to attract any one or two elements of the population by featuring certain exhibits? A.—I would think that you would make the greatest possible mistake if you would not take in the varied program. Do not feature particularly any one industry.

Q.—Do you not think that Ottumwa with her railroad facilities and central location could best accommodate such a movement and afford better means of reaching such crowds as a movement of this character should attract? A.—That is left up entirely to Ottumwa herself. She can do it if she wants to. She has the location; the railroad facilities and such things that it takes to make a fair of this kind a success.

Well Known Cattleman. That Mr. Harris is competent to speak with authority on the wisdom and expediency of the proposed movement will be better understood when his position in the cattle world is made known. Everyone in northern Missouri knows O. Harris and his Hereford cattle, and every cattle breeder in the country and those of consequence in the world are equally familiar with the Missouri Hereford breeder. Mr. Harris has been a director of the American Hereford Cattle Breeders' association, and much of his time has been on the executive committee. He is at present the president of this association.

The Herefords from "The Model Farms" have been for the past fifteen years the champions of America and this means of the world, because it is conceded that the American Hereford is today far superior to the Herefords from the mother country. At the world's fair in St. Louis in 1904, the Herefords from "The Model Farms" were by far the best winners. The two greatest honors to be won there were what is known as the breeders' herd and the exhibitors' herd and both of these were won by the Harris cattle. At the completion of the show Mr. Harris sold ten head of his show herd to W. V. Cargill of LaCrosse, Wis., for $20,000 or $2,000 each, a price that was high then and is still a high price for any head of cattle to average. Upon agreement he remained out of the cattle shows with his herd for three years but in 1908 he re-entered and has ever since been winning with ease in the various cattle shows. At the world's greatest Hereford show, the American Royal at Kansas City, the Harris cattle won five out of the six championships and was a strong contender for others. They won first on young herd, first on calf herd, first and second on get of sire, first and third on produce of cow and the silver trophy for the best ten head in the show.

With men of the stamp and character of Mr. Harris boosting for the proposed fair and exposition here, local boosters can get inspiration for a movement that should bring this community to the notice of the world as a country rich in varied productions and a place where almost any character of business and agriculture can be profitably engaged in. A boost for the southern Iowa and northern Missouri fair is a boost for everyone living in this community.

TREATS MADE TO DESTROY PLANT

Minneapolis, Dec. 10.—Police today made last night to set fire to the plant of the Minneapolis Steel & Machinery Co., which recently announced that it was making shell casings for the entente allies.

A special watchman at the local machinery company's plant last night discovered and extinguished a fire in a pile of highly inflammable material which, it is said, had been thrown against the outer side of the main building.

CANNOT FIND ANY PROPERTY TO SELL

Marshalltown, Dec. 10.—If absence of properties listed for tax sale is any indication of the prosperity of a community, the people of this county are not worrying over a short corn crop. This is the smallest amount of property ever offered at a tax sale in this county for many years.
