DEFENSE ATTACKS

DORAN'S CHARACTER

(Continued From Page 1) Henry Sapp 80 years old and a constable at Eldon, told the court that he had known Doran since he was a boy.

Cremer's Character Good

Charles Johnson, who lives near Agency, said that he had known C. Cremer, all of his life, which covers a period of fifty years, and he testified that he had always been of good moral character and an honest man.

Strict For Rules

James Travis, a prisoner in the county jail from August 20, 1915, to March 31, 1916, said that as far as he had ever been able to observe, Sheriff Cremer was strict in his rules on keeping a man in for his full length of time sentenced.

Booked Him on First Date

On the cross examination the witness claimed that when a man was brought in without a commitment, and it was issued and turned into the officer later, he was always booked from the date on which he was first put in jail.

THIS IS JOHN'S BIRTHDAY

Doctor Knows Him, Too

Dr. C. S. Reed, a practicing physician and surgeon in Agency, said that he has known Mr. Cremer for thirteen years and has always considered his general reputation good and he believed that that was the sentiment of the general community where the defendant lived before coming to Ottumwa.

Stodghill Charged Mileage

Thomas Stodghill, sheriff of Wapello county from 1894 to 1898, testified that while he was in office there were not many telephones in use in the country but there were a good many in town.

Morrissey Helped Officers

J. J. Morrissey, deputy sheriff under W. E. Knox, told the court of helping Mr. Cremer and Mr. Doran with the work of the office both before and after they had been installed.

Described Sheriff's Trip

J. F. Wilson, who lives near Hedrick, was one of the chief witnesses for the defense Saturday afternoon. He was used to describe a trip which the sheriff made last fall to his place for the purpose of arresting John Schafer, Jr.

Went Back to Road

After talking to him for a while, the witness claimed the sheriff went back to the road but did not think that he drove away. About that time Schafer appeared and told Wilson that he and Davis had hidden in the corn field nearby and had seen a man get out of the car and hide along the roadside and they thought it was Cremer.

Asked Who Doran Was

On cross examination the witness said that when he heard the conversation he did not know who the man talking was. He followed one of them into the restaurant and waited until he went out, then asked one of the proprietors who he was and found out that he was the deputy sheriff.

Baker Dickering For Assistant

Washington, D. C., April 17.—After a conference today with Secretary Baker, Senator Kern of Indiana said the prospects of appointment of Meredith Nicholson, the Indiana author, as assistant secretary of war, was very doubtful.

go home to raise the money for his fine, skipped the state and was not brought back until August 20. On the redirect evidence he said that Cremer refused to let him go and they both went to the county attorney. He said Mr. Daugherty said that it would be all right and the sheriff let him go.

James Wyckoff, turnkey at the jail

now, maintained that he was always instructed by Cremer to hold the prisoners for twenty-four hours a day. On cross examination he said that he had seen both the sheriff and the deputy at the books and that Cremer was in and out through the jail several times a day.

Pays For Calls

Osa Dunlavy, sheriff of Davis county, said that he is allowed expense for use of his automobile and that it has never been disputed. He said that he often subpoenaed persons in civil cases by telephone and charged ten cents a mile, and that was proof that Doran did not say that he would run if Cremer did not for then there would be no reason to keep it from the sheriff.

Homer Roth testified that he had a conversation ten days ago with former Deputy Doran in regard to the latter succeeding to the office of sheriff, in the event Cremer is ousted. Doran made some remark that he was expecting it and the witness understood that Doran referred to the unexpired term of Mr. Cremer.

Afterward they went back again, the sheriff taking Wilson out in his car. Wilson claimed that Cremer made two trips to his house that evening looking for Schafer and he heard that he was there one other time.

Offered No Resistance

On cross examination by the state the witness testified that on the way out he and the sheriff met the two boys coming toward town and that the officer arrested them there in the middle of the road and they offered no resistance. He admitted that while he told the sheriff not to go near the woods where the boy had the gun, yet he did not when he had the chance, take the gun away from the lad. He also said that there was nothing to prevent Schafer from killing the sheriff when he went to the house the last time if he had really had any intention to do so. The sheriff did not go after the man he was punting after he was told he had a gun and had threatened to kill.

Talked With Doran

Everett Cummings, an employee of the Rock Island living at Eldon, told the court of a conversation he had with Doran on the train en route from Ottumwa to Eldon, which he was going to see the sheriff. On cross examination he said that he did not know what Doran had told him but that it was something about running for sheriff. The state asked him if it was not a fact that Doran had said that he would run if Cremer did not, but the witness could not remember just what he had said. He did remember of telling the former deputy something about not letting Cremer know anything about it and the defense insisted that that was proof that Doran did not say that he would run if Cremer did not for then there would be no reason to keep it from the sheriff.
