FARMERS SHOULD NOT MAKE POSTS

Ames, May 18.—Fence posts are one concrete product that the farmer should not attempt to make, on the farm, insists R. W. Crum, concrete expert of the engineering division at Iowa State college. Making a fence post that will really last as long as a post should, requires an expert knowl-edge of mixing and curing that the average man does not have.

When ordering fence posts from the manufacturer, Mr. Crum recommends a post "with a steel reinforcing strong enough to act as a post itself." It should be at least seven feet long.

WOMAN TAKES POISON TO END HER LIFE

Sigourney, May 18.—Word was re-ceived here on Wednesday of the death of Mrs. Frank Mallinger near Lancaster. MANY GRINNELL PEOPLE TO TEACH

Grinnell, May 18.—Of a class of ninety-five seniors at Grinnell college over half are expecting to take up work in the teaching profession next year. Forty-five women and eight men have either secured or contem-plate securing positions as teachers for at least part of their life work.

This is about the average percentage of graduates who enter the teach-ing profession during their first year out of college. Many of them will continue and make the profession their life work, while others will go on with graduate or professional work in larger universities after a year or two of teaching.

Inquiry into the plans of the remain-ing members of the class shows that some of the men expect to enter busi-ness life, while nine men will continue school work in professional lines. Law, medicine, theology and business are the professions chosen. Four women in the graduating class will continue graduate work in eastern institutions.

A majority of the prospective teach-ers have secured positions already and a large number have signed con-tracts to teach in Iowa cities and towns. Several, however, will teach in the west.

ACCOUNTANTS ARE IN SESSION NOW

Des Moines, May 18.—Seventy-three accounting officers of American cities are in attendance upon the fifth annual meeting of their organization at the Chamberlain hotel. They represent eighty-three per cent of the expendi-tures for school purposes in the United States. Others arrive tonight for the remainder of the three days' session.

Governor George W. Clarke in an address of welcome voiced apprecia-tion of the importance of financial as well as educational school officials. He mentioned their responsibility to ad-just expenditures that the burden of cost might be shouldered by all—present and future. G. W. Gerwith, secre-tary of the school system of Pitts-burgh, Pa., responded, saying the con-vention was attracted to Iowa by her excellent record for school expenditure her general progressiveness and cul-ture.

PEORIA COUPLE TRAVEL OVERLAND

Peoria, Ill., Mrs. Arthur Haussler of Peoria, Ill., were in Ottumwa Wednes-day night and this morning en route to Albuquerque, New Mexico. They left Peoria Wednesday morning and travel-ing 180 miles by way of Galesburg, Bur-lington, Mt. Pleasant and Fairfield. To-day they are going from Ottumwa to Kansas City via Chillicothe, Mo. The high water of the Mississippi caused some bad roads around Burlington and the river was very high there when they were ferried across. Mr. Haussler has been in the hotel and restaurant business and they are making this trip partly for pleasure and partly for business; that is they may locate if they find a suitable place. They travel in a Haynes R. Adster.

KILL SEVENTY SNAKES.

NEED SANITATION FOR ICE BOXES

STATE EPIDEMIOLOGIST SAYS QUESTION SHOULD BE STUDIED.

Iowa City, May 19.—Now that the season for general use of ice has ar-rived, it may be profitable for house-wives to study some of the rules of sanitation in its use. The following suggestions are made by Dr. Mark F. Boyd of the state university medical college, state epidemiologist:

To keep ice boxes sweet, clean and free from danger of spoiling or taint-ing foods placed in them, the follow-ing precautions should be taken:

The ice box should be washed out once a week at least. After remov-ing everything from the box, scrub it out with soap and hot water, using a brush that will reach well into the corners. To wash out the drain pipe, securely attach a piece of cloth (just long enough to work through the drain pipe easily) to the hooked end of a length of wire and pass it up and down the drain pipe until the slimy deposits are removed, using plenty of hot water in the operation.

Then flush the box with boiling hot water in which ordinary washing soda has been dissolved (two tablespoon-fuls of washing soda to each gallon of water) following this with flushings of cooled boiled water to wash out any soda deposits and to cool the box. Then close the box. Don't leave it open to cool off, or dust and flies may enter.

Before replacing the removed parts of the ice box, treat them to the same cleansing operations as described above.

Ice should be thoroughly washed be-fore being placed in the box. Ice placed on a dirty surface, such as a street or alley pavement, for flushing is sure to carry filth into the box. Place newspapers under the ice before flushing. Don't wrap paper around the ice in the box.

Always keep milk and butter tightly covered when in the ice box.

Don't keep the ice box open any longer than absolutely necessary.
