STATE ARCHITECT INSPECTS NEW SITE

State Architect Liebke made an inspection of "Sunnyslope," the site of the new Wapello county tuberculosis sanitarium Thursday and expresses himself as well pleased with the place, its location and general layout. Such institutions as the sanitarium have to be inspected by a state board of control representative before they are used but the Social Service bureau thought it well to have Mr. Liebke come here at the outset as his suggestions will prove very valuable in the planning of the work at Sunnyslope.

OTTUMWA MERCHANTS BEGIN BIG FALL OPENING WITH BAND CONCERT ON STREETS

Local and Visiting Shoppers Are Being Shown an Array of Season's Choicest Offerings in Wearables by All the Retailers Handling Attire for Both Sexes

Ottumwa's second annual fall style show opened Thursday evening. The event was more auspicious than the first one held a year ago.

Thousands of people crowded the retail shopping district, jostled with each other, admired the magnificent displays in the windows and heard the city's own beloved First Cavalry band which played for two hours after the first grand march.

This was started from in front of the Hall-Ekfelt Furniture Co., and went straight east on Main street for three blocks. Signalled by the ringing of the fire bell the band struck up "Are You From Dixie?" and led by the megaphone chorus singing it, the crowd soon had the air and everybody was in on the general fun which prevailed. The band played on every corner in the district during the next two hours and several numbers were given by the chorus and Edward Blake, soloist.

Today and Saturday the big openings continue and Ottumwa is the mecca for shoppers from all over southern Iowa and northern Missouri. The windows have never been more beautifully arranged, the stocks more complete nor the offerings more varied. The stores have been crowded today and will be tomorrow as the day and the shops were open then. The admiring was all done from the outside.

Season Harmonious. Every season of the year has its own particular and easily recognized atmosphere, which is felt not only by the long haired artists and poets but by the mundane souls to whom a change of season means a change of raiment. However, it has ceased to be considered vulgarly material to study clothes, as to be well groomed, well dressed and as attractive as possible is to contribute one's bit to the beauty and liveableness of the world. The streets of Ottumwa with the style show and it is a keen physical and aesthetic pleasure to window shop these days. The mellow autumn sunshine floods the city with its warm magic and even transforms the dust furries into a golden haze.

The colorful shop windows are wonderfully alluring, and are an enticing invitation to adorn both homes and families. In the furniture store windows are corners and entire rooms of make believe homes, displaying the latest cosmopolitan styles of furniture, lustrous rugs, dainty curtains and ray chintzes. A beautiful stove occupies one window in lonely dignity and is an invitation to the housewife soul to cook. Another window, in which appears a cozy, modern fireplace, is a subtle reminder that the glorious Indian summer is but a transient thing and cold winter will soon be here.

The jewelers have not forgotten that there will be many chrysantheum brides and they display a shining, bewitching variety of the newest and smartest things in silver, cut glass and china, for the newly feathered nest. They also tempt with the clever and beautiful jewelry novelties, for Christmas is not a great way off and it is pleasant to look forward to buying beautiful things for relatives and friends, while incidentally bedecking one's self.

To the sportsmen and women, autumn means delightful outdoor pleasure and especially football. Everything useful and ornamental both for players and onlookers is shown in the clever sports windows, arranged by a number of stores. The new books, the cleverest things in leather, oddities in table decorations, cunning mechanical toys, beautiful stationery ventionally of the vivid red, yellow, blue and green of late fall foliage. In the foreground, smart clothes for women were displayed to advantage, the models seeming to parade along an avenue marked by tall lights on gray blue pedestals. Stress is laid on the beauty of a combination of gray and blue, as in a costume of Holland blue cloth, trimmed with silver gray fur.

Through the open doors of the stores, is glimpsed the bright decorations which will enhance the beauty of the stock while the big opening is held for the pleasure and benefit of the public. The fact that several of the shops have recently taken up their abode in good looking new homes adds to the attractiveness of the business district.

Quebec bridge immediately before the disaster (top) and one minute afterward. Upper photo shows the jubilation in the St. Lawrence river, tugs blowing whistles, etc., just as the immense span of the great Quebec bridge was safely put into place and it was seen that the supports were able to bear the great weight. Lower photo was taken one minute after the collapse. The wooden false work of the sunken span came to the surface and rapidly drifted down stream. Tugs and other craft are shown going to the rescue of survivors in the water.

Chronic diseases of all kinds are treated and cured by modern methods. Electricity and mechanical means are used in many cures. Diseases of Women. I treat a great many women for their ailments and cure many cases where it is said surgical operation is the only method. Healing, soothing methods are better in many cases than radical means. Catarrh of nose, throat, bronchitis troubles treated by methods that remove the obstruction from nose and throat. Diseases of the stomach and bowels cured by electrical massage and vibration. Rheumatism is treated by electro-thermol baths which start the circulation and eliminates the cause of the disease. Varicocele or false rupture. This resembles rupture, but is an enlargement of the veins, causes pain in back and becomes larger in standing. Over 200 cases cured. Hydrocele (water in sack) resembles rupture, cured without knife operation. Private blood and skin diseases cured and patient so afflicted should have the best treatment obtainable. I have been located in Ottumwa twenty years. Call for further reference. DR. J. C. BONHAM Eika' Block, Ottumwa, Iowa.
