WALKER COMES NEAR REPLACING SPEAKER

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Has Joe Tinker made his last appearance as pilot of the Cub forces? This question crowd-pleaser has been the North Siders in their utter rout before the White Sox in the city series that was decided in four straight victories for the American leaguers. That the disposal of the one-time star shortstop has already been discussed by the numerous stockholders of Weeghman's club is well known. Moreover, there is a hint going around the inner circles that Jack Hendricks, who has made a success of several minor league teams, is slated to try his hand at the position that has been vacated since the retirement of Frank Chance in 1912.

CARPENTER READY TO FIGHT WHEN ABLE

Aviation headquarters, behind the French front in France, Oct. 9.—Georges Carpentier, heavyweight champion of Europe, was interviewed Friday by special permission regarding an offer from fight promoters in America to meet Jack Dillon in New York. "I had already refused 200,000 francs for two twenty round contests in San Francisco early in 1915," said Carpentier. "I am too busy on the French battle front to take up such things at the present time. When the war is over I will be glad to visit my friends in the United States. SOX AND CUBS DIVIDE PURSE

Chicago, Oct. 9.—A purse of $15,681.88 will be turned over to the players of the White Sox and Cubs for their share of the spoils of the city series just closed. Although many predicted the series this year would yield as much as usual, the played purse exceeds the amount divided last fall by $4,068.99. Although it is not known just how many players will be declared in the bonus money, it is likely that there will be about twenty-four shares on each team, though the Sox may have one or two more than that and the Cubs one less as the player who is different on each club. Figuring that each melon will cut into twenty-four equal parts, a player on the Sox team will receive $489.55 and each player on the Cubs team will have 60 per cent of total amount.
