Land Agents,

HAZEL GREEN, KY.,

Have the following property which they wish to sell at once, and parties desiring to secure bargains will find it to their interest to inspect the property. We will trade some of it to blue grass land. Write us.

No. 1.—73 acres of land on Laurel Creek, Wolfe county, 4 1/2 miles from Hazel Green.
Good dwelling house and out buildings, well watered, good timber, fine apple orchard, coal veins, &c.

No. 2.—One two story dwelling built in 1884, containing six rooms, good out buildings, a well of never-failing water, beautiful grounds, well set with rare and valuable shrubby and a fine assortment of fruit, grapes, &c. The best garden in town, one of the most desirable dwellings to be found in Hazel Green. Situated on the height leading to the celebrated Swango Springs, about midway between the center of town and the Springs.

No. 3.—315 acres of land on Lacy Creek 2 miles south of Hazel Green, on main road to Campton, has about 200 acres of good timber, and an inexhaustible quantity of the finest quality of splint and bituminous and some fine quality of canal coal.

No. 4.—100 acres of land 2 miles southeast of Hazel Green, fine farming land, 50 acres in cultivation, nearly all bottom land, in good neighborhood and convenient to schools and churches.

No. 5.—500 acres of land, the survey beginning on the Standing Rock, corner of Lee, Powell and Wolfe counties, 10 miles from Campton, on the head waters of the Graining Block Fork of Red River. It is entirely covered with a virgin forest of pine, poplar, oak, walnut, hickory and chestnut timber.

No. 6.—40 acres of land, most of which lies in the corporate limits of Hazel Green, on the road leading from town to Swango Springs, joins No. 3 and is known as the Mrs.
Eliza Trimble tract. Can be laid off into the most desirable town lots in Hazel Green.
It is newly fenced and in cultivation.

No. 7.—One house and lot in Northwest Hazel Green, near the common school building, good new dwelling house with four rooms, good outbuildings, garden, &c.

No. 8.—2,000 acres of land on Kentucky River and Frozen Creek, Breathitt county, 7 miles below Jackson, on the surveyed lines of the Kentucky Union and Cincinnati and Southeastern railroads. It is covered with a heavy forest of the finest timber in the State, including oak, walnut, poplar, ash, &c., and is underlaid with inexhaustible veins of cannel and bituminous coal.

No. 9.—About 87 acres of land on Lacy Creek 1 1/2 miles from Hazel Green, has a good barn, is well fenced, about 30 acres in grass, an apple orchard, some timber, is well watered and is good farming land.

No. 10.—265 acres 4 miles southeast of Hazel Green on Red River, coal bank 52 inches thick, 230 acres of fine poplar, oak and other timber, 35 acres in cultivation, 2 good dwelling houses and outbuildings, 2 wells of never-failing water and good young orchard.

A GREAT STATE.
Kentucky and Her Wonderful Resources.

[Baltimore Manufacturers' Record.]

One of the richest States of the South, marvelously blessed by nature, whether, we regard it from a mineral timber or agricultural point of view, is Kentucky.
It has not attracted quite as much attention during the past few years as one or two other Southern States, but nevertheless it has made great progress—solid and substantial progress—in industrial as well as agricultural interests.

The area of Kentucky is 40,000 square miles, or only 5,000 square miles less than the area of Pennsylvania. In undeveloped mineral and timber wealth, and in agricultural possibilities, Kentucky is, we are sure, the peer of Pennsylvania. It has 12,871 square miles of coal area, against only 11,200 square miles as the entire coal area of Great Britain.

The development of this enormous coal territory has hardly, we may say, commenced, if we compare what has been done with what will be done, and yet while only 163,120 tons of coal were mined in that State in 1870, the output in 1886 was, according to local authorities, 2,500,000 tons, although this is more than Seward's report.

The greatest portion of the coal area of Kentucky, excepting only those strips of territory contiguous to the Louisville and Nashville, Cincinnati Southern and a few other roads which have been in operation for some years, is essentially an undeveloped wilderness, but one which, it is claimed, contains greater possibilities than any other region of corresponding area in the United States. The eastern part of the State contains a coal field of over ten thousand square miles in area. This coal is mostly bituminous, and is considered among the best known for manufacturing purposes. In addition to the bituminous coal in the eastern district there is also the largest area of canal coal in America. This coal is from three to four feet thick and of superior quality.

Prof. J. R. Proctor, State Geologist, says: "Coal is found in every county in a line between the Ohio river and the Tennessee State line. The thickness varies from twenty-four to fifty-four inches. In the northern part of this district are immense deposits of iron ore, and in close conjunction with coal beds."
"The late geological survey demonstrated the fact that the valuable deposits of coking coals which have added so much wealth to Pennsylvania and West Virginia, have been traced and identified in the valleys of the Cumberland, the Kentucky and the Big Sandy, with a thickness of seven or eight feet, and analyses show the coal to be equal, if not superior, to that of Connellsville for cokemaking.

"In the western coal field are twelve beds of coal of workable thickness of good quality. Associated with the lower coals are several beds of limonite and carbonate iron ores, all above drainage and situated favorable for cheap mining.
The western coal field, it is said, has an area of about four thousand square miles."

This vast wealth of coal has been undeveloped because it is only of recent years that its immensity has been made known by geological surveys and because of the lack of transportation facilities.
Here was a great country covered with magnificent virgin forests of the finest woods and underlaid with the most enormous mineral wealth, and yet no railroads penetrated it to open it up to the world. Now, however, railroads are under construction into this section—the Louisville and Nashville is stretching out one arm right into the heart of this region; the Kentucky Union is being built to the same section, and other roads are pointing that way.

One-half of the area of Kentucky is covered with forests of valuable timber, including oaks of several species, ash, yellow poplar, black walnut, hickory, lynn, beech, chestnut, red cedar, etc. Of the fertility of its soil it is needless to speak, for the fame of that, and especially of its bluegrass, has extended over the world. It is here that the finest horses in America are raised—the live stock in the State, counting horses, mules, cows, etc., being valued at over $70,000,000, while the annual value of its agricultural products averages about $75,000,000.

In 1880, when the census statistics were gathered, Kentucky stood second in the list of Southern States in the amount of capital invested in manufacture, being outranked by Maryland alone.
At that date there were in Kentucky 5,328 manufacturing enterprises employing a capital of $25,813,039, the value of the products being $75,483,377. The manufacturing capital of that State at that time equaled the combined manufacturing capital of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. While Maryland ranked above Kentucky in this line in 1880, it is quite probable that the latter State is now ahead of the former, as the increase in manufactures in Kentucky during the last few years has been very great. In fact the development of the manufacturing interests of that State has been something remarkable, even when taken in connection with the rapid growth of the industrial interests of the whole South.

Kentucky has really but commenced to develop its mineral wealth. All indications point to an activity in the construction of new railroads, the opening of mines and the investment of capital in industrial enterprises of all kinds during the next few years, that will astonish those who have not studied the resources of the State. As the chief commercial, manufacturing and financial city of the State, Louisville holds a commanding position, for it is there that the great progress will center. It is Louisville's railroads that will open up these vast mineral regions, and Louisville's capital and energy backed by outside help it may be, that will control to a large extent their development. These facts add force to the interesting letter of our correspondent, who sets forth so fully and so carefully the advantages and the growth of that city.

ANNUAL MEETING
Of the Christian Churches of Wolfe County.

The Christian churches of Wolfe county met at the church house on Gill-more Creek on Friday Sept. 23, it being the time and place for their annual meeting.

Services were opened with singing at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, which was followed by prayer by Rev. J. T. Pieratt, after which the following members were appointed as a Committee on Program, viz: Andrew Kash, J. Logan Fallen, R.
A. Kash, Jos. L. Wilson and Oscar Fallen, with M. C. Kash as secretary.

A short discourse from the xvth chapter of Luke was delivered by Bro. Pieratt, who was followed by Bro. D. H. Fallen, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. T. F. Walter.

Services again at 7:30 P. M. Opening prayer by Elder Andrew Kash. Sermon by Rev. J. T. Pieratt, subject 2nd Peter, chapter ii, v. 9. One member received by restoration.

A social meeting was held Saturday morning at 9:30, conducted by Rev. J.
T. Pieratt, which was followed by a short talk by Rev. A. F. Erb on the subject of prayer, after which came a short intermission.

Opening exercises 11 A. M., conducted by Rev. A. B. Stamper, Sermon by Rev.
J. M. Downing from the 8th chapter and 10th verse of Nehemiah. Meeting was closed by Rev. J. T. Pieratt, and a recess of an hour and half for dinner.

Services again at 1:30 P. M., opened by Rev. W. L. Lacy, followed by reading of letters by Bro. W. O. Mize, there being five churches represented by letter with a total number of communicants from the different churches as follows:

Gillmore 53, Hazel Green 133, Antioch 73, Rose Valley 66, Campton 50. Total number from five churches 375; there being but five of the nine churches in the county represented. Sermon by Rev. A. F. Erb, text St. John, 3rd chapter, 16th verse, followed by Rev. W. L.
Lacy. Dismissed by Bro. A. B. Stamper.

Sunday Sept. 25th, services began at 10 A. M. Opening by Bro. Downing with the administering of the Lord's Supper.
Recess fifteen minutes. Services at 11 A. M. Reading by Bro. Erb. Prayer by Bro. Fallen. Sermon by Rev. A. F.
Erb, subject Romans 1st chapter, 14 and 15th verses, followed by Bro. Stamper.

A talk from Bro. Downing on the subject of the ministry. Discourse by Rev. J.
T. Gevedon. Hour and a half intermission for dinner. Services opened at 2 P.
M., by Bro. Pieratt. Sermon by Rev. H.
H. Little, subject Matthew, 10th chapter, 23, 29 and 30th verses, followed by Bro.
W. L. Lacy.

M. C. KASH,
Secretary.

Useful and Hurtful Medicines.

There is a certain class of remedies for constipation absolutely useless. These are bougies and potions made in great part of podophyllin, aloes, rhubarb, gam-boge, and other worthless ingredients.
The damage they do to the stomachs of those who use them is incalculable. They evacuate the bowels, it is true, but always do so violently and profusely, and besides, gripe the bowels. Their effect is to weaken both them and the stomach.
Better far to use the agreeable and salutary aperient, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the laxative effect of which is never preceded by pain, or accompanied by a convulsive, violent action of the bowels.
On the contrary, it invigorates those organs, the stomach and the entire system.
As a means of curing and preventing malaria fevers, no medicines can compare with it, and it remedies nervous debility, rheumatism, kidney and bladder inactivity, and other inorganic ailments.

Lieut. Gov. Bryan.

A little over 35 years ago, the young man who is now acting as governor of the great State of Kentucky, was born of very poor Irish parents, who kept a toll gate in Bourbon county as a means of furnishing themselves with a living.
He was an unusual bright boy, and the trustees of the Garth Fund, left by a wealthy old gentleman to educate deserving youths, recognizing his worth, selected him as a beneficiary. He proved himself entirely worthy and improving each shining hour, got the full benefit of the liberal education thus placed in his grasp. Finishing the collegiate course, he studied law and soon took position with the best advocates in Covington, where he decided to make his home. Of attractive manners and winning address, he became very popular in his new home, and when he stood for State Senator from his district, he was elected by an overwhelming majority. Serving one session with ability and his friends recognizing that he was worthy of still higher advancement, he accepted their suggestion and ran for lieutenant governor, receiving the nomination of his party and making a most brilliant canvass.

Today he is invested with all powers of governor, and if he does not quit himself creditably, we are mistaken in the man.
The record of Jas. W. Bryan shows the possibilities of the American youth who applies himself, and it is given here for the emulation of the rising generation.
There is going to be another brilliant chapter in the history of Jim Bryan and it won't be many years before it is written, if his past record is an indication of his future achievements.—Standford Journal.

A Lilliputian Pickaninny.

Three miles east of Monroe in a comfortable log house, the home of Dennis and Betsy Broughton, there is a wonderful young one of the colored persuasion.
Seven weeks ago the child was born, and weighed at birth exactly two pounds.
Today it will tip the beam at only three pounds. The child's full name is Martha Ann Mary Magdelene Frances Cleveland.
The "first initials" of this delicate mriden's name will be Frances Cleveland Broughton. At first sight the little thing's features seem slightly drawn, but form and feature are alike perfect. The head of this infant is the size of an ordinary apple; its hand is not as broad as a man's thumb, and a small coffee-pot would make a commodious abode for it.
Bundled up it was a mere handful, and looked too small to be anything with life in it. Its mother says there is nothing the matter with it—"jess small; dat's all." Great care will be exercised in the rearing of the child, and when a little older it will probably bob up serenely in some circus show. Its parents are past middle age and are extraordinarily large people.—Walton (Ga.) News.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Boschoe's German Syrup within a few years, has astounded the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescription given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of the facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cts., large bottles.

The Largest Steer on Record.

Mr. Floyd Ogden, of Jefferson county, has taken his steer "Alexander the Great" to the St. Louis Fair for exhibition.
From there he will go to Chicago and then make an extensive trip to all the large cities in the East.

"Alexander the Great" is the largest steer now living, and is the largest that has ever lived so far as the record shows.
He is something over eighteen hands high, weighs over 4,600 pounds and measures over five feet through the withers.

Mr. Ogden bought him eight years ago, when a yearling, from Mr. John Letterle, at the Bourbon Stock yards, in Louisville, for $16. His present actual worth is $2,000. His pedigree is unknown, but he is believed to have been bred from imported English stock.—Blue-grass Clip-pet.

Animals are often afflicted with a disease called the mange, the same disease in human beings is called the itch, and is highly contagious; to cure it mix flour of sulphur with Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment, bathe it thoroughly and take Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm. Sold by G. B. Swango, Hazel Green.

Taylor Bingo and wife, Bothwell, with guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pieratt on Saturday, and attended the Annual Meeting on Gillmore Sunday. They return on home Monday.
