Lane Locals.

"Success to the HERALD" is the expression of many.

Rev. Whisman is preparing to organize a Sunday-school at different school-houses.

"Brad Mattoon" (Benj. Sewell) and McKinley Sewell went to Campton Saturday on business.

Taylor Sewell paid his sister, Mrs. M. F. Horton, of Campton, a flying visit Saturday and Sunday.

There is spot "Kash" by the wholesale at Amanda Hollon's every now and then. No monetary crisis there!

Died, on the 8th inst., the wife of Henry Faulkner, who lives on Devil's creek, near the Hunting fork of Holly.

Singing and preaching both have a divine inspiration and constitute the program on Holly on Saturdays and Sundays.

Isom Wadkins, while drunk a few days since, accidentally shot himself with a pistol, the ball taking effect in the thigh.

Joe Cundiff, of Cane creek, a popular young man, was on Holly recently. It is rumored that he owns a mill and is hunting for a "Miller."

Benj. Sewell went to Campton last Saturday to deliver an address on "Evil Associations" and for other purposes that apply to the secret of the hearts.

Bob Miller moves around the counter with all the avidity of a peanut vender, but Mr. Elkins says that Congleton will always beat him selling "bark hats."

The church being put up by J. R. Elkins at this place is nearing completion. All denominations of good standing will be free to preach in it, exclusive privileges allowed to none.

James Banks, familiarly known as "Hoadly" (spell it Ed.), and family, who have had free access to the balmy breezes of Tennessee the past year, have come back to old Holly.

C. C. Hanks, of Campton, who owns a fine lot of lumber in this locality on the Bee branch, will have it hauled to the railroad soon for the market. Wait Lum, till the railroad runs through Campton.

Harden Hurst went to see his best girl recently, and as he came back I was disguised and heard him saying:

"Oh Rachel, if you love me as I love you,

We will have no time to tarry,
We w'll have the old folks fixing up
For you and me to marry."

Among our people who would be exceedingly glad for a log tide to come in the creeks of Holly are J. A. Sewell, G. W. Tyra, Z. T. and S. Hurst, as they have each a fine lot of saw logs ready to float out into the river.

Fellow-citizens of Morgan and Wolfe, I belong to the Republican party, whose record is unblemished and whose principles are pure and undefiled, and I want you to elect a Republican to the Legislature, but if you won't do it, allow me to give three cheers for Swango.

Revs. Henry Taylor, "Buck" Flenchum and G. W. Tyra preached on the first Sunday of this month at the Bailey Field school-house to a large and well-behaved audience. After preaching the congregation repaired to the water and witnessed the baptism of five converts. Rev. Logan Johnson preached at the same place in the evening.

William J. Hollon sallied forth from these parts last Saturday for Morgan county to see his lady love, taking with him his brother and John Graham. Why John and Tom went is beyond our comprehension, but rumor has it that "Billy" intends to put up a telephone wire from a Mr. Murphy's, in Morgan county, to his home in Holly, and that John and Tom intend to take the job, and went to select the most convenient route.

John says if he can get the money on this job and a "Nickell" out of Morgan county his future life will be one of luxury and unalloyed happiness.

Success to THE HERALD and railroad.

We had a heavy rain and hail here Sunday.

John Moore's wife is said to be very low with fever.

G. M. Byrd, of Grassy, visited the family of S. H. Rose, Saturday and Sunday.

Uncle James Sample, who has been down for some time, is but little better at this time.

Rev. W. T. Lykins was at his church here Saturday and Sunday. He seems to be a favorite with his church.

W. B. Barker visited his brother John Barker Saturday and Sunday, accompanied by Miss Ellen Williams and a Miss Oldfields.

J. W. Combs had a fine young colt killed one day last week by a mule. Its muleship slung it around by the back of the neck so severely that when it let loose the colt could not get up.

Rev. B. F. Slater, the reformed Catholic, who has been preaching on the Kentucky river and in Lee county for some time, preached at the New Hope church Saturday and Sunday to an attentive audience. As he could tell us much about the Catholics he interested all who heard him. He gives many reasons why he left the Catholics.

While he seems to be a man in delicate health he is a deep reasoner on the Bible. He went from here to Campton and Bear Pen to preach. He will preach at the church house on Laurel next Saturday night and Sunday, then go to Hazel Green.

Z. T. Hurst and others, from Campton, were in this place last Friday and Saturday taking the right of way for the railroad and had splendid success, only meeting with two parties who would not sign the right of way, and it is hoped that they will reconsider the matter and sign it yet. They both seem to want the road, but think the damage would be too heavy on them. Every one in this county is in favor of doing all they can to secure the road, as every farmer should be, for W. E. Buchanan says since the road has been talked of he has got in the notion of farming and raising stock. He says he has three ewes that have seven nice living lambs. Bring another railroad.

Corn planting is all the go. Jackson Burton and Brice Stacy are engaging all the apples they can to still this summer and fall.

Married, May 6, at the residence of the bride's father, Andrew J. Wells and Miss Mary J. Haney. May they live long and be happy.

There was a meeting at Walnut Grove church last Saturday and Sunday. James Wheeler preached to a large and well-behaved congregation.

NED.

Sunday-School Convention.

The following letter was received this week by W. O. Mize, superintendent of the Sunday-school of the Christian church, and after consultation with the superintendent of the Union Sunday-school, it was decided that the time named in the letter would be agreeable to all, and it is to be hoped that we will have a large attendance on this occasion:

CAMPTON, Ky., May 13, 1895—W. O. Mize—Sir: Our Sunday-school here on last Sunday agreed to hold the county convention in your town, and fixed the 8th and 9th of June as the days of meeting. Hope this will suit all the people over there. You see the superintendent of the Methodist Sunday school and make an agreement as to the hour of meeting, and have it published in THE HERALD. I would suggest that we meet at 10 a. m. on Saturday.

Yours,

S. S. COMBS.

Letter From Missouri.

NEOSHO, Mo., May 24, 1895.—It has been some time since I wrote my first letter to the dear old HERALD, and as I promised to write again I will endeavor to write a few lines that will interest the many readers of your worthy paper.

Southern Missouri is somewhat like Kentucky, rough and hilly, but there are no mountains. The upland is adapted to fruit growing. There are thousands of acres set in young apple orchards, and the prospect for a big apple crop was never better. The valley land is a black gravelly loam, easy farmed, and is adapted to corn, wheat and grasses of all kinds. A crop failure is unknown in this part of Missouri. Neosho, the county seat of Newton county, is a nice, well-built city of 4,000 inhabitants, beautifully situated on Shoal creek, at the mouth of Hickory creek. Neosho is near the center of the county, and the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad and the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Southern crosses at Neosho, making it a good shipping point. Neosho is a manufacturing town. There are five wagon factories, three roller steam grist mills, two harness factories, carriage factory, machine shops, plow factory, steam laundry, canning factory, United States fish hatchery, steam woolen mill, and many other industries too numerous to mention. This county is well watered, nice clear springs gushing out of the hill-sides on nearly every half section. There is 80,000 acres of land yet for sale in this county at from $7.00 to $10.00 per acre. Most all the people in this part of Missouri are old Kentuckians, and some are from Virginia and North Carolina. Farmers here are expecting a big crop this year. Corn is up and looking nice; wheat will do to harvest in about six weeks; oats are looking fine, and there will be a large crop of fruit of all kinds. But Missouri has her drawbacks as other States, and there is no place like old Kentucky. I have often thought I would like to go back and live there the rest of my life.

As this letter is too long already I will close, hoping that Hazel Green will get the railroad in the near future. Success to THE HERALD, and may it live long and prosper. Yours very truly,

W. H. SLIMP.

Killing Frost in Fifteen States.

CHICAGO, May 12.—The weather bureau, in a report on the frost last night, says: "The frost area reported this morning is unusually extensive and severe for this time of the year, frost having occurred this morning in all of the fifteen states for which it was forecasted Saturday. In the peach belt of Michigan, the cranberry marshes of Wisconsin, temperature below freezing occurred, and the frost was of a killing nature."

MILWAUKEE, May 12.—Northern and western sections of the state report a heavy frost last night. Fruit buds and garden truck are ruined at Chippewa Falls. Marinette reports all crops injured. At New Lisbon small fruits and grain were killed. A heavy rain is falling there. The berry crop was destroyed at Boscobel.

FT. WAYNE, IND., May 12.—A heavy frost this morning, but the extreme dry weather of the past few weeks saved the fruit crop from destruction. The weather still quite cold, and the danger is not past.

MARSHALLTOWN, IOWA, May 12.—Frost in this section this morning nipped the early crop of corn, potatoes and tender garden truck quite severely. Fruit was not materially injured, except grapes may be killed.

BELLEFONTAINE, OHIO, May 12.—There was a very heavy frost here last night. Gardens and fruit are badly injured and it is feared the wheat is hurt.
