

THE HERALD.

SPENCER COOPER, : : : Editor.

HAZEL GREEN, KY.
THURSDAY, June 5, 1902.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

County Conventions at County Seats on July 19th, 1902. District Convention, at West Liberty, Ky., July 24th, 1902.

HOPKINS.—HON. F. A. HOPKINS, of Floyd county, is hereby announced as a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress from the Tenth district, subject to action of the democratic party.

DAVIS.—JUDGE AMOS DAVIS, of Morgan county, is hereby announced as a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress from the Tenth district, subject to action of the democratic party.

The Mt. Sterling papers announce the fact that their fellow citizen, John C. Wood, will be a candidate to succeed himself as railroad commissioner in this district. While for the sake of party we should very much like to see some good democrat succeed Mr. Wood, the chances to realize such a consummation are very small indeed, as the district is largely republican, and if a republican must hold the office, we know of none who would be more acceptable than John Wood. He is one of the most affable young men in the state, fair in his politics, and altogether quite a nice gentleman. But while there is life there is hope, and if any democrat has the temerity to offer we shall pull for his success. And again, if a republican must go, why let it be Wood.

Catarth

Is an excessive secretion from the mucous membrane, accompanied with chronic inflammation. Hood's Sarsaparilla acts on the mucous membrane through the blood, and rationally cures all cases of catarth. Take Hood's.

Honor to Whom 'Tis Due.

Notwithstanding the fact that our town has been filled with people for a week past there has not been a word spoken or a scene enacted to disturb the serenity of visitors or cause our citizens to blush in shame. And we point to this fact with pride, and doubt very much if there be another town in the state that could boast as good behavior under similar circumstances. Our efficient police judge, H. F. Pieratt, determined in advance that order should be maintained and selected a force of officers to see that it was done. To him, therefore, is due the honor of having the best order throughout this week of excitement. No pistol shooting, no drinking, no loud or lascivious language, was heard or seen. Indeed we are proud.

Saved From An Awful Fate.

"Everybody said I had consumption," writes Mrs. A. M. Shields, of Chambersburg, Pa., "I was so low after six months of severe sickness, caused by hay fever and asthma, that few thought I could get well, but I learned of the marvelous merit of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, used it, and was completely cured." For desperate throat and lung diseases it is the safest cure in the world, and is infallible coughs, colds and bronchial affections. Guaranteed 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at J. T. Day, Hazel Green, or S. S. Combs & Sons, Campton, druggists.

Lost—Somewhere between J. T. Day's mill and Taylor Johnson's residence a purse containing $7.00 in cash—a $5 bill and a $2 bill, and some change. Finder will be liberally rewarded by returning to Garrett Combs.

DOCTORS

say "Consumption can be cured." Nature alone won't do it. It needs help. Doctors say

"Scott's Emulsion is the best help." But you must continue its use even in hot weather.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409-415 Pearl Street, New York, etc. and all druggists.

HAZEL GREEN ACADEMY.

The Commencement Week is Inaugurated With the Young Men's Declamations.

After music by Misses Crosse and Daniel and Mrs. Russel and an impressive invocation by Rev. Allen R. Moore, the commencement week program of Hazel Green academy opened Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The first declamation was "Karl, the Martyr," which was delivered by John S. Cisco of White Oak, who did full justice to his subject and displayed many evidences of oratory.

Next came Wm. Lee Perkins of Lee City, whose subject was "The Gladiator," and he, too, showed that he is destined to deliver many addresses to the people if forensic ability be a consideration.

The third speaker to attract the attention of the audience and the plaudits of the people and prove the prize winner, was Lawrence C. Gambill of Caney, his subject being "Shipwreck." His pose, gestures and voice showed that he mastered his subject thoroughly, and demonstrated that he was exerting every effort to win, which he did in the judgment of the gentlemen chosen as judges, and their verdict has only been questioned by the admirers of the respective contestants. Consensus of opinion concedes it to him, however, and satisfaction is the result. He has eloquence, grace and the other attributes of a speaker, and should he fail to come to the front in the forum he will have fooled all who heard him Saturday night.

Misses Crosse and Sample then delighted the audience with a musical selection entitled "Mennette," which they beautifully rendered on the piano forte.

"Constantius and the Lion" was then rendered by Taylor Shockey of Lee City, who showed the embryo orator in many essentials and elicited exclamations of exuberance. He, too, had many warm supporters.

"A Murderer's Confession," by James H. Dunn, also of Lee City, followed in regular order, and the speaker impressed all by his earnest effort. Like the others, Jimmie showed many good features of forensic force, and the future well tilted may send him to the fore.

"The March of Mind," which was recited by Lenox Swango of Maytown, came next and was the last, but in its delivery Mr. Swango was by no means least in force. The subject was well chosen for the occasion, and the speaker handled it in a statesmanlike spirit.

Rev. Allen R. Moore of Lancaster, Ky., Kelley Nickell, esq., of Morgan county, and Hon. W. O. Mize of our town were the judges. The latter gentleman told the writer that the young declaimers had each so many good points that the decision was indeed difficult. But each of them were graded fairly with the result as announced, and that no second choice was considered. All should feel proud of the ability displayed.

Music, the decision of judges, awarding medals, and the benediction closed the night's entertainment.

On Sunday the people were the recipients of a rare treat at the Christian church in the morning when Rev. Mr. Moore delivered the baccalaureate sermon. His subject, "Our Ideals," was chosen for its application to the situation—the lives we lead and the lives we should lead—and he handled it in a masterful manner, pointing the importance of making our ideals the grandest in the conception of christianity, and alike the importance of living the ideal life. In brief it was one of the finest pieces of pulpit logic ever delivered in this locality. His address to the Young People's Society Christian Endeavor, which he delivered at night was also well delivered and well received.

Monday night was given up to the juveniles and intermediates, who rendered an amusing operetta, interspersed with instrumental music by the magical touch of Miss Mabel Crosse, the lady musical instructor. The flowers, the bees, the birds and the frogs were produced in song and story. The impersonation of bird, bee and frog were all well done, and the singing was superb. Credit for this performance is, we believe, due in the main to Miss May Davenport, who is a teacher in the junior department.

On Tuesday night at 8 o'clock instrumental piece of music by Misses Mattie Cord and Pearl Day and Robert Cord introduced the program. Prayer was offered by Rev. B. W. Trimble of Mt. Sterling, then music by Pearl and Daisy Day and Roxie Daniel, when "The Dream of Eugene Aram," a declamation, was recited by Miss Nevada Nickell of Hazel Green, in the rendering of which she displayed a most wonderful dramatic talent, and all who heard her and witnessed her postures and gestures, her facial expressions and the intonation of her voice believed she must win. It was a difficult piece, indeed, but it was handled with the skill of a born actress, and called for loud applause.

The next was "Vesuvius and the Egyptian," rendered by Miss Beulah Thomas of West Liberty. It, too, required dramatic talent, but not more than Miss Thomas displayed were possible. She has a strong voice, which she is capable of pitching to a high key, and in witnessing her enacting of this piece many pronounced her queen of tragedy. She has many marks of the trained artist, and this with a superior voice probably won her the medal, though her vanquished rival is a foe worthy her powers.

Next "The Story of Patsy," the rendition of which displayed rare conversational powers in Miss Lillian Hurst of Peartree, Breathitt county. But it was so different from the two preceding pieces as not to be classed in the same line, though it was well recited and received rounds of applause.

After an instrumental piece by Miss Mattie Cord, came the young men's orations. "The Curse of Power," by George Amyx of Daysboro, showed much thought and painstaking in composition but in its delivery Mr. Amyx's voice was too weak to do it justice.

"Shadows of Perpetuity," by Stephen G. Sample of Lacy Creek, demanded attention of the audience next. Conception and composition both showed careful study and his delivery was good, also, so that many thought he would win.

"Forces That Win," by J. LeRoy Boggs of Wellington, was replete with gems of thought, and the composition was carefully considered in every detail. Mr. Boggs' delivery was quite distinct, his pronunciation perfect, and his gesticulations graceful. Perhaps he showed that he had given elocution more study than his predecessors, we know not, but he was awarded the medal.

"True success in life," by Elisha Rose of Stillwater, was perhaps the best piece of composition in its entirety that was offered, but in his delivery he failed to articulate plainly, and but for this he was a strong competitor for the medal.

Judge Blair of Morgan, Rev. B. W. Trimble of Mt. Sterling, and Charley Scott, the genial passenger and freight agent of the L. & E. railroad were the judges, and they compared notes at the close of the contest. As between Miss Thomas and Miss Nickell some of the judges hesitated where to put the prize—one, at least.

"Under the Laurels," was given by students of the academy Wednesday night for the benefit of the cottage fund, and amateur theatrical talent was portrayed throughout the play. Some of the actors and actresses displayed great talent and had their parts perfectly, but we refrain from naming any lest some be madam. Altogether the play was very good, but it was marred by some coaching. Were all to perfect their parts this play is good enough to grace the stage of any country town, to whom it would indeed prove a rare treat.

Six young ladies graduated from the academy this term. Each of them prepared a thesis and Wednesday morning each of them were read by their authors at academy chapel before a large and select audience. The applause after the reading of each paper attested the appreciation of the audience better than we can tell it.

Three young men at the same place and about the same time delivered orations in honor of graduates. Deafening applause greeted each young man as he bowed his obsequious to the audience, thus attesting the joy of the assembled people.

MEDALS AWARDED.
Young men's declamatory contest—medalist: Lawrence Gambill, Caney, Ky.

Young women's declamatory contest—medalist: Miss Beulah Thomas, West Liberty, Ky.

Young men's oratorical contest—medalist: J. LeRoy Boggs, Wellington, Ky.

Scholarship—Robert I. Cord. Department and attendance—Daisy Day.

Music—medal given by Noah Cisco—Pearl Day.

General merit—Rosa Coldiron. Gold watches—both given by W. O. Mize—Sue Long, Sellers; S. G. Sample, Lacy creek.

Mrs. Ida W. Harrison of Lexington, addressed them on the subject of "Culture, Character, Service," and not only did the students pronounce it grand but all the people who heard it will praise it for all time. It was a gem.

Sunday School Convention.

The Sunday-school convention convened here Wednesday. Elder R. B. Neale was present and fully explained the object of the organization. Unfortunately there had been no concerted or full effort to bring together the churches of the county. Therefore, the attendance was only local. However, an organization was effected for future work, to-wit: Noah Cisco, president; W. O. Mize, secretary, and an executive committee appointed, consisting of S. S. Combs, Chas. Cecil and Mrs. F. N. Day. This committee and the officers will organize the county, and hope to make Wolfe one of the "banner" counties.
