SAPONIFIER,
OR
CONCENTRATED LYE,
THE READY FAMILY
SOAP MAKER.

An indispensable article in every family, whereby, with their ordinary kitchen grease, can be combined with the Saponifier, they can make all the soap they use—hard, soft, or fancy. It will make hard water soft, and will clean Type perfection—nothing equals it for cleaning and scouring.

Put up in air-tight tin boxes of 1 lb. each, which will make, with 4 to 5 lbs. common grease, from 15 to 25 gallons elegant soft soap, or 8 to 10 lbs. hard.

It has now been several years since this invaluable article was first introduced to the Public, and the estimation in which it is held, wherever known and tried, and the immense demand for it from all quarters, are conclusive proofs of its real merits and value as a family article.

Beware of Imitations!
The success of our article, like that of all distinctive of true merit and value, has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. We therefore caution the public against worthless counterfeits, and to take note of the genuine, original and patented article, Manufactured only by the

COVENANT MUTUAL
LIFE INSURANCE
COMPANY
OF SAINT LOUIS.

Office, north-east corner Second and Pine street, basement Boatmen's Saving Institution, St.
Louis.

WHAT IS LIFE INSURANCE?—1. It is the exercise of prudence, benevolence, 2. It secures independence, domestic happiness to the widow and orphan. 3. It is more efficacious in its operations as regards the moral and domestic comfort of the people, and in its tendency to reduce taxation, than any other system of raising money for the support of government, and possibly of crime, than the legislation of our wisest statesmen; and, if universally adopted, would be a national blessing. 4. It affords to persons of every class, and in every station of life, the means to avoid much future misery to their families, and to render them independent of public or private charity.

While it is the manifest and imperative duty of every parent, during his life-time, to embrace all honorable means of supporting and advancing the interest of his offspring, so it is equally his duty to avoid leaving them at his death to grope their way in helpless poverty through an uncharitable world; and equally apparent is the duty of every husband to provide, in case of his death, for the surviving widow. To effect all which Life Insurance Companies have been formed, which enable every husband and parent, by the payment of a small sum, either annually or quarterly, to provide for his widow and fatherless children.

PAPER BORROWERS AND THIEVES.—Our Merchants and shop keepers utter loud complaints against paper borrowers and thieves. Their papers are often taken without leave and borrowed before they can be read. Those who pay for papers want the use of them, and those who are too mean and stingy to pay for them, ought to be spotted, and given some plain talk.

SCIENCE.—Our citizens were startled on Wednesday night, 2nd of January, by the announcement that the body of James Weeks had been found dead on a grave in the Mt. Zion graveyard, about three miles south-west of Fayette. Coroner Sanders proceeded to the spot immediately, and found upon investigation, that the decen-sed had shot himself just above and between the eyes with a Sharp's pistol, which was found in his hand. Disappointment in love is said to have been the cause. Mr. Weeks was about twenty-five years old, a native of Fauquier county, Virginia. He had lived in Howard county nearly four years, and was well liked and much respected by our citizens. He was buried near the spot where the fatal deed was committed.—Banner.

Seward to be Secretary of State.
ALBANY NEW YORK, January 9.—The Evening Journal to-night announces, officially, Mr. Seward's acceptance as Secretary of State under Lincoln's administration.
It says that the department was tendered to Mr. Seward early in December last, and after consultation with friends on whose affection and judgement he is accustomed to rely, he accepted the position.

The Journal closes its announcement as follows: "And with the remark that on no former occasion has a President offered or a Secretary accepted that department in a manner more delicate and respectful to each or more independent and honorable to both we dismiss the subject, not however, without putting on record the prediction that President and Premier will so discharge their duties amid all the difficulties that surround them, as to preserve the blessings of the Union, and to deserve and receive the homage of their countrymen."

XXXVth Congress—Second Session.
WASHINGTON, January 9.
HOUSE.
PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The Speaker laid before the House a message from the President. He says at the opening of the session he called attention to the dangers of the Union, and recommended such measures of relief as he believed would have the effect of tranquilizing the country, and save it from the perils in which it is needlessly and unfortunately placed. It is not necessary to repeat this opinion and recommendation.— His opinions there expressed remain unchanged. He regrets to say that matters instead of becoming better are still worse, and hope is diminished. Alluding to the condition of South Carolina, he says there is no other alternative but to collect the revenue and protect the public property, as far as practicable under existing laws.— His duty is to execute, and not to make the law. The right and duty to use military and naval force against those who illegally assail the Federal Government, are clear and indisputable, but the present state of things was beyond Executive control. We are in the midst of a great revolution, and he recommended to Congress to act in the present emergency. To Congress is reserved the power to declare war, and remove the grievances that might lead to war, and restore peace to the country. On them rests the responsibility. After eulogizing the blessings conferred by the Union, he says, should it perish, the calamity will be as severe in Southern as in Northern States. The secession movement is chiefly made on an apprehension as to the sentiments of a majority of several of the Northern States. Let the question be transferred from the political assembly to the ballot box. The people will redress the grievance. In Heaven's name let the trial be made before we plunge into the assumption that there is no other alternative.
Let us have reflection. Would that South Carolina reflected. He appeals to Congress to say, in their might, "The Union shall and must be preserved" by all constitutional means. He recommends Congress to devote themselves to prompt action, with a view to peace. A division on the line of 26:30 is suggested as calculated to produce an adjustment. It was an imputation on members to say they will hesitate a moment. The danger is on us. In several of the States forts and arsenals have been seized by aggressive acts. Congress should endeavor to give the difficulties a peaceful solution. He states reasons why he had refrained from sending troops to Charleston harbor, believing this would have furnished the pretext, if not the provocation, on the part of South Carolina, for aggression. Referring to Major Anderson, he says that officer could not, before he left Fort Moultrie, have held that post forty-eight or sixty hours. He had warned his countrymen of its danger. He felt that the duty was faithfully but imperfectly performed. He was conscious he meant well for his country.

Mr. Howard, of Michigan, moved that the message be referred to a special committee of five, with instructions to inquire whether any executive officers of the United States have been, or are now treating or holding communication with any person or persons, for the transfer of forts, or any other property; whether any demand for their surrender has been made, and by whom, and what answer has been given; whether any officer or officers have entered into any pledge not to send reinforcements of troops to the harbor of Charleston—if so, when, where, by whom, and on what considerations; whether the Custom House, Postoffice, and Arsenal at Charleston have been seized, by whom held in possession; whether any Revenue Cutter has been seized, and whether any efforts have been made to secure it. The Committee have power to send for persons and papers, and report from time to time such facts as may be required for the National hour, etc.

After some debate, Mr. Howard's resolution passed, 103 to 82.

Mr. Maynard asked consent to offer a resolution that the minority report might be made from the Committee of Thirty-three.

Mr. Hindman called on the Chairman to state the numbers attending the meeting, whether there was any probability of making a report, and state such particulars as would be calculated to shed some light on the subject.

Mr. Burnett said he understood from the member of Arkansas that there was no probability of agreeing. A number of members representing slave States had withdrawn from it. Was it, therefore, politic or wise to continue the Committee when there was no prospect that they ever would report. He wanted to discharge them. No action was taken on the resolution.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, on the civil and miscellaneous appropriation bill.
The Committee rose without coming to a conclusion on the bill.

On motion of Mr. Leska, the special committee on the President's special message were instructed to inquire whether any arms have recently been removed from Harper's Ferry to Pittsburg, and if so, by whose authority and for what reasons. The resolution was amended so as to extend the inquiry as to the removal of arms from all arsenals.

Mr. Morris of Pennsylvania, presented a memorial from the "citizens of Philadelphia, signed by men of all parties, in favor of Mr. Crittenden's compromise. Referred to the Committee of Thirty-three.— Adjourned.

SENATE.
The President's Message was read, and Mr. Seward obtained the floor to speak upon it, to-morrow.

Mr. Crittenden moved that his resolution to submit his amendments to the Constitution to the people be taken up.

Mr. Clark said he wished to amend by substituting the resolutions he had offered.

Mr. Wilson moved to postpone it till tomorrow.

Mr. Fugh thought it better to decide the question at once.

Mr. Bigler spoke in favor of voting on the resolution now. He thought they had neglected the question too long. He thought there was political power enough here to save the country by the adoption of the resolutions. The resolutions were then postponed till to-morrow.

From the Louisville Journal.

The time for co-operating with the cotton States, on behalf of once of the maintenance of our rights and of the preservation of the Union, has gone by; the cotton States themselves have put such co-operation out of the question, by acting independently of us and against the integrity of the Union. They have chosen disunion for their remedy, and, in disregard of our earnest and fraternal protest, are carrying the remedy into practice. If we hereafter cooperate with them in the line of action they have seen fit to adopt. Operation necessarily defines the end and directs the energy of co-operation; the positive governs the relative. And the cotton States are positively in operation. They have started off on their own line of policy. If we co-operate with them we must follow them.— They have refused to co-operate with us in defending our rights and preserving the Union, and, now, if we act together at all, we must co-operate with them in abandoning our rights and destroying the Union.— This is the only sort of co-operation with the extreme South that is left to the border States.

Are the border States prepared to yield their assent to such co-operation as this?— Is Kentucky, the pink of American patriotism, as proud and ethivalrous as she is patriotic, willing to be "dragged" into this disloyal and ruinous and miserable path?— No, no, no, a thousand times no. The very thought is an affront to the lofty and spotless character of our noble Commonwealth.
Fain would we believe that she has not a son at home or abroad to whose cheek the thought would not bring a crimson blush of indignation. Nor can she have but few Kentucky will never be coerced out of the Union. Never! And on this point Virginia and Maryland and Tennessee and Missouri, are if less unanimously surely no less steadfast. Co-operation with the extreme South, therefore is not to be thought of no longer by the States of the border.— It is a dead and discarded policy. Let it be buried and forgotten.

The Mississippi Ordinance of Secession Passed—Intense Excitement at the Capital.
JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 9.—The Convention has passed the ordinance for immediate secession by a vote of 84 to 15. All prominent places are illuminated, cannons are being fired, and fireworks displayed generally.

The delegate from South Carolina and Alabama were invited to take seats in the Convention. [Applause].

The efforts to postpone action were voted down. The fifteen opposing voters will sign the ordinance to-morrow, making it unanimous. The capitol is full of intense excitement.

Lyman Trumbull Re-elected U. S. Senator.
SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Jan. 9.—Lyman Trumbull was to-day re-elected United States Senator, by a vote of 54 to 46, the Democrats voting for S. S. Marshall.

Troops for Florida.
Boston, January 8.
A detachment from the troops stationed at Fort Independence, Boston Harbor, are to sail for Florida on Wednesday next.— A small number of marines from the Charleston Navy Yard have been ordered South.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4, 1861.

Women, as history tells us, have sometimes done great mischief, and ruined the whole country. Because the fair Greek Helena was fickle in her attachment to bar-lord, Menelaus, and followed the handsome Paris over the sea to far Troy, as war of no less than ten
