

PROFESSOR COMMITTED

Frank J. Flood Taken to Insane Asylum at Fergus Falls Yesterday.

WAS MEMBER OF MEDICAL PROFESSION IN ENGLAND.

Whiskey Caused Downfall of Man Who Held Important College Positions.

Frank J. Flood, the man tried for insanity before Judge Clark, was committed to the asylum at Fergus Falls and Sheriff Bailey yesterday took the insane man to the state institution in that city.

Upon every topic with the exception of his confinement in the city jail, Flood talked rationally and during the trial it developed that he was given a liberal education in Ireland and England. He graduated from Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland, in the year 1875 with the degree of bachelor of arts and in the year 1879 he was given the degree of bachelor of medicine. Later he entered the university of London, England, where he received the degree of bachelor of music upon his graduation from that institution, and upon coming to America he was sought by Canadian educational institutions and held positions in two colleges at Montreal, Canada, as teacher of music and classics.

Since coming to the United States the liquor habit was contracted by him and for a long term of years he has taken drinks daily and at times became intoxicated, remaining in that condition for a month at a time. This is given as a reason for the state of his mind.

The physicians in attendance at the hearing talked for two hours with the insane man and questioned him with a view of ascertaining whether he had a right to the titles he claimed. He answered all their questions and explained the use of drugs and chemicals in the medical profession, proving without a doubt that he had at one time practiced medicine. Upon being asked to prove his right to the title of teacher of arts and classics, he translated passages from Greek, Latin and French, which he spoke fluently and seemingly without effort.

When the hearing was completed and after the departure of the insane man from the court room, Judge Clark, Dr. Blakeslee and Dr. Gilmour formulated a petition to the asylum authorities asking that he be treated with special kindness, and the paper was handed to the warden of the institution yesterday by Sheriff Bailey.

YOUNG PEOPLE HAPPILY WED

Marriage of Miss Grace Omich to Harry M. Young Celebrated Last Evening.

The wedding of Miss Grace Irene Omich and Harry M. Young took place last night at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Omich, on Irving avenue, south, Rev. J. F. McLoud officiating. Only the relatives of the bride and groom were present.

The bride is the youngest daughter of one of our substantial business men, and is an estimable young lady. She has been a loving and dutiful daughter and will make a true helpmeet for Mr. Young.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Young of Wadena, Minn., an industrious and capable young man, an employe of the Crookston Lumber company since their mill opened here.

Mr. and Mrs. Young are members of the First Presbyterian church of this city, and popular among their associates. They will be at home after Jan. 1, 1905, at 1103 Mississippi avenue.

Their many friends wish them happiness and prosperity.

Agent From Washington.

Frank Snyder is expected to return tomorrow morning from Blackduck, where he has spent the past two weeks. It is asserted that Mr. Snyder has accepted a position as agent for Booker T. Washington and will arrange the final details for the establishment of a colony near Blackduck. It is even hinted that he has been into the deal for some time and spent last winter in the south securing suitable timber for a colony.

Be Quick.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy" given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Bakers Drug Store.

WILL CROSS THE G. N.

Stoner Says Red Lake Railway Will Not Use Line of Rival Company.

WORK ON LOWER END TO BE STARTED AT ONCE.

All Arrangements for Building Road Completed. — Location of Depot Settled Upon.

M. D. Stoner returned last night from a trip through Ohio and Illinois. On his return Mr. Stoner stopped off at St. Paul for a couple of days and while there conferred with the officials of the new Red Lake railway which is now being built into Bemidji. He received ample assurance from the gentlemen who are interested in the project that no transfer has been made to the Great Northern and that at no time was such a move even contemplated by the company.

Mr. Stoner says that he received positive information to the effect that all the arrangements for building the new road have been completed and the location of the depot settled upon. Instead of using the Great Northern tracks from the swamp west of the city, as had been originally planned, the officials have decided to cross the Great Northern and built an altogether independent line. The road will cross the Great Northern tracks west of the city and will be built to Lake Irvine. A trestle will be constructed out into the lake which will be used for unloading the logs from the upper country.

The depot will be located at the foot of Irvine avenue and will be constructed upon modern plans.

HOW A TOWN WAS NAMED

Grateful Homesteader Names Future City After Attorney Henry Funkley.

Attorney Henry Funkley of this city is perhaps the only member of the profession in northern Minnesota who is the namesake of a town which has prospects of becoming a city of large size. The gratefulness of a homesteader caused the town of Bemidji to be named after the Bemidji attorney. Mr. Funkley defended M. H. Fisher in a contest case instituted by Albin Anderson before the building of the M. & T. to Blackduck and after several hearings before the land office at Crookston and before the commissioner of the interior it was decided in favor of Mr. Fisher. When the railway was completed to Northome Mr. Fisher platted a townsite upon the land and named the new town "Funkley," after the attorney who won the contest for him.

Smoked Box Wood.

The latest fad in smokedom has been established by Emil Schneider, who is acknowledged as the leader of the Smoker's Set. Mr. Schneider this morning experimented with a new brand of tobacco of his own manufacture and which will be sold under the trade mark of "Schneider's Mixture," and it is understood that he has already applied to the patent department for the right to manufacture the new brand without competition. The mixture is really very simple, the ingredients being nine parts of Bull Durham and 91 parts of boxwood, powdered to a suitable fineness.

Mr. A. R. Kane, a prominent druggist of Baxter Springs, Kansas, says: "Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are, in my judgment, the most superior preparation of anything in use today for constipation.
