CITIES OFFER BIG BONUSES.

Hard Fight for Location of Port of Entry.

Washington, May 19.-The house committee on ways and means again considered the question of making Sabine Pass or Port Arthur, Tex., a port of entry.

The feature of the hearing, which indicates the intense feeling which has been engendered, was the offer of John W. Gates, on behalf of the Kansas City Southern railway, to give the government the tidewater canal at Port Arthur, valued, he said, at $1,-300,000, if that place was made a port of entry. Immediately Herman Kountz of New York, representing large property interests at Sabine Pass, told the committee he was authorized to offer the Kansas City Southern railway land for a terminal at Sabine Pass free of cost should Sabine Pass be made a port of entry.

Beginning with the first amendment Senator Beveridge moved to strike out the words "excepting gas lines, natural and artificial," from the operation of the provision making pipe lines common carriers. The suggestion was sharply antagonized by Senator Foraker, who charged that the change is desired to "meet the whims of somebody who wants to influence legislation."

Senator Lodge, author of the amendment, admitted that he cared very little about the gas feature of the provision. "My object," he said, "is to bring the pipe lines of the Standard Oil company under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission. As matters now stands it holds the entire oil industry by the throat and I think it should be regulated. If nothing is wrong the company will not

After further debate Mr. Beveridge withdrew his amendment in order to permit Senator Taliaferro to present a provision excluding only natural gas for municipal purposes.

Mr. Taliaferro's motion was rejected and the amendment left as it stood before the controversy began. The provision including express companies and sleeping car companies as common carriers was also left un-

A time worn proverb says "HE IS ABLE WHO IS WILLING" meaning of course that "WHERE THERE'S A WILL THERE'S A WAY"

The saying has special reference and application to THE GETTING OF AN EDUCATION

There are thousands of people who value an education and who desire to obtain one and who moreover would speedily have one if only they could ABSORB it by a mere expression of the will, or if they could have it INJECTED into them as a doctor might inject morphine. Indeed they would be willing to PAY FOR IT LIBERALLY if that alone were sufficient, but the idea of having to put forth an effort to get it seems not to appeal to them so strongly. That is why it may be said with so much show of truth that THE IGNORANT ARE ALWAYS WITH US. They always have been and it is fair to presume they always will be. BUT THE PROPORTION IS BECOMING LESS AND LESS EVERY DAY. FORCE OF CIRCUMSTANCES IS MAKING IT SO. It is harder to-day for the imeducated to succeed than it was yesterday, and it will be harder to-morrow than it to-day. If that is true—and it is beyond the shadow of a doubt—should we not promptly take
