

Danger in a Cold

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Not only pneumonia, but also the infectious diseases such as diphtheria and scarlet fever start with a cold. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of these diseases. Take our advice—cure your cold while you can.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy by its remarkable cures of colds has become a staple article of trade and commerce. It is prompt; it is effective; it is reliable. Try it.

DROWNED NEAR NEWPORT

Son of Congressman Steenerson of Minnesota Loses His Life.

Newport, R. I., Feb. 1.—Benjamin Steenerson, aged twenty-seven, son of Halvor Steenerson, congressman from Minnesota, was drowned in Narragansett bay, near here. A man named John McIntosh, a companion of Steenerson, also was drowned.

Suspicion that there might have been foul play in connection with the drowning was removed, so far as the Newport police were concerned, by the story told by Captain F. W. Rich and crew of the tug and the other men aboard the tug at the time the marines were drowned. The witnesses agreed in relating that the marines were in the pilot house and after a time McIntosh said he was going aft to get something to eat. He went below, but not to the galley end and was never seen again.

When McIntosh's absence was discovered Steenerson hurried all over the boat in search for him and returned to the pilot house in a rather peculiar mood. According to Captain Rich and others in the house Steenerson talked wildly about the loss of his companion, then took off his coat and suddenly stepped to the deck and jumped overboard.

PLUNGES INTO RESTAURANT

Crazed Horse Injures Several Persons, One Fatally.

New York, Feb. 1.—Crazed by an attack of "blind staggers" a street railway horse plunged into Michael Sameth's cafe and restaurant on East Houston street and before he was caught and shot injured half a dozen persons, one possibly fatally. The interior of the place was wrecked and there was a panic among the numerous patrons seated at the tables. In the confusion several were knocked down and injured. The most seriously hurt was Aaron Risner, seventy years old, who was passing from the cafe when the horse charged the storm door. He was knocked to the pavement, seriously bruised and injured internally to such an extent that he was unconscious when taken to Bellevue hospital.

Report on Mining Accidents.

Paris, Feb. 1.—The commission sent by the French government to the United States to investigate mining disasters has returned and made its report. It declares that the precautions to prevent gas explosions in mines and otherwise safeguard the lives of miners are less effective in the United States than in France.

Why He Concealed His Calling.

"I hope," said the young man, "that partial concealment of the truth is no lie. If it is, I am telling a whopper right now, and I'm a divinity student too. That is what I am lying about. I don't tell that I am studying theology. If I did I wouldn't find it so easy to hold this job. I'm one of the down-on-his-luck students who has to work his way through college. One of the first things I learned when I began to look for a position was that the average employer of labor has no use for the divinity student. Somehow every man engaged in business holds the opinion that a young fellow who is studying for the ministry lacks backbone, and he is afraid to trust him with important duties.

"After I had ingeniously explained my circumstances to about two score of employers and had been turned down by all of them I got wise. I am working now. The boss doesn't know I am pegging away nights on church history. If he did the chances are he'd discharge me, not because he has any grudge against persons or church history, but because he, like everybody else, would think I hadn't pluck enough to earn my salary."—New York Times.

Staggered Webster.

In the somewhat famous case of Mrs. Bodgen's will which was tried in the Massachusetts supreme court many years ago, Daniel Webster appeared as counsel for the appellant, Mrs. Greenough, wife of the Rev. William Greenough of West Newton, was a very self possessed witness. Notwithstanding Mr. Webster's repeated efforts to disconcert her she pursued the even tenor of her way until Webster, becoming quite fearful of the result, arose, apparently in great agitation, and drawing out his large snuffbox, thrust his thumb and finger to the very bottom and, carrying a deep pinch to both nostrils, drew it up with gusto, and then, extracting from his pocket a very large handkerchief, he blew his nose with a report that rang distinct and loud through the crowded hall.

He then asked, "Mrs. Greenough, was Mrs. Bodgen a neat woman?"

"I cannot give you full information as to that, sir. She had one very dirty trick," replied the witness.

"What was that, madam?"

"She took snuff."

Most Popular of Pictures.
The best known picture in the world, it has been said, is Vandyke's portrait of James II. of England as an infant, popularly known as Baby Stuart. Two million copies of it are said to be in American homes, and it is equally popular in England and continental Europe. This is not because it is a portrait of a child who became king, but because it is a masterpiece of infant portraiture. The plump, round cheeks and tiny nose, surrounded by a tight fitting cap, appeal to every lover of children. The figure with which the world is familiar is the central one in a group of the eldest three children of Charles I. painted in 1635, when the baby, afterward known as the Duke of York, was only two years old and barely able to stand alone.—Youth's Companion.
