HAD DEPOSITS OF NINE MILLIONS

Carnegie Trust Company of New York Suspends.

NO BAD RESULTS FOLLOW

Institution Was Closed by State Bank Examiner, Who Says "it is in an Unsound Condition"—Was Organized in 1907 and the Name Carnegie Adopted Without the Ironmaster's Permission or Approval.

New York, Jan. 9.—The Carnegie Trust company, one of the largest banking institutions in the city, with deposits of nearly $9,000,000, closed its doors by order of State Superintendent of Banks Cheney. The suspension hardly caused a ripple in the financial district, where the trust company was often reported in a shaky condition.

Superintendent Cheney, in an official statement, said an examination of the trust company had caused him to "conclude that it is in an unsound condition to transact business and that it is not safe for it to continue."

State banking officers are now probing the company's books. Officials of the trust company have made no statement and the extent of liabilities is unknown. Bankers, however, say depositors will be paid in full.

The institution was organized in 1907 and after the retirement of Leslie M. Shaw from the office of secretary of the treasury he became its president. The name of Carnegie as applied to the institution attracted to it a great deal of attention, but the adoption of this name was without Mr. Carnegie's authority or approval. It is understood he was not a stockholder and not immediately identified with it. Mr. Shaw's connection with the bank ceased after a few months because of differences with the other officers of the institution.

In Trouble a Year Ago.
It is understood that a year ago the institution was in more or less trouble, growing out of the fact that one of its chief officers, in connection with a well known banker of Wall street, had effected a very large loan from it to enable him to buy out and consolidate with it another institution, but this falling through left the Carnegie institution with a large amount of funds locked up.

News of the suspension spread rapidly and hundreds of depositors had assembled about the doors even before the usual hour of opening.

The following statement was issued by Superintendent of Banks Cheney relative to the closing of the company: "The superintendent of banks has taken possession of the property and business of the Carnegie Trust company, located at 115 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan.

"Examination of the affairs of the company has caused the superintendent to conclude that it is in an unsound condition to transact business and that it is not safe for it to continue. The examination is not yet complete and no further statement can be made at the present time."

Smith Will Accept Judgeship.
Washington, Jan. 9.—Representative Walter I. Smith of Iowa, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the vacancy in the Eighth judicial circuit, admitted he had been advised the president was considering his name in connection with the judgeship. Mr. Smith, if tendered the nomination, will accept it.
