NEW MACHINES TO SAVE MANY HORSES

Crookston Lumber Company Invests in Steam Skidders Costing Over $12,000.

DO THE WORK OF 200 HEAD

Will Enable the Logging Operations to Be Carried on For the Full Twelve Months.

PROMISES PERMANENT PAYROLL

Several Hundred Men May Lose Employment But Others Get Steady Jobs.

Three steam skidders have recently been purchased by the Crookston Lumber company at a cost of between $12,000 and $15,000. These skidders are designed to do the work of 200 head of horses and to save the company the expense of building many miles of logging road. Incidentally, it will mean that the company will hire several hundred men less each year, but with the new machines the company will log the year around and give steady employment to about 200 men.

The machines are being built by the Ledgerwood company in Brooklyn, N. Y., and will be delivered in Bemidji about the first of next October. At the present time, the Crookston company is logging from September to April, but with the new machines in commission, the company will have men in the woods both summer and winter.

Under the system with which timber is cut at present, four logging roads have to be built to each forty acres. The logs are skidded out with horses and many times it is necessary to cut or small young timber in getting out the logs.

With the steam skidders, it will be necessary to build but one logging road to a forty. A central road is built on which the skidder operates. From the steam skidder, steel cables are run out each side for 1,000 feet. These cables are fitted with pulleys so that a chain can be fastened around several logs and the bundle lifted in the air. A movable cable pulls the block over the stationary cable to the engine on the main road. The steam skidder will handle logs faster than horses and materially lessens the amount of small timber that will be killed.

The steel cables running out from the skidder for 1,000 feet on each side will enable the crew to handle the logs from strips 2,000 wide with the building of but one road. The cables are in a straight line and fastened to a large tree. With the cables the skidder is able to take out tops and other small stuff that is often wasted when horse power is used.

Hazen Deep in Woods.

Sheriff Hazen is today reported as deep in the woods between Red Lake and Bandette hoping to head off Charles Swanland who is thought to be making his way toward Canada. Swanland is the murdered of Arvid Vidstrom for whom a reward of $200 has been offered by the state.

Elects Two More Bishops.

Minneapolis, May 25.—Two bishops were elected by the general conference of the Methodist church here yesterday. They are Dr. Frederick D. Leete, of Detroit, and Dr. R. J. Cook, of New York.

Misses Gladys Kretz and Bab Neal returned from Blackduck this morning after a visit of several days with Mr. and Mrs. E. N. French.

For the first time in the history of Pennsylvania, the Republicans of the state, in convention at Harrisburg last week, reserved a box for women. An appeal was made for an expression regarding woman suffrage, and the convention responded by adopting a resolution declaring that while the convention deemed it inexpedient to commit the party to suffrage, the growing sentiment in its favor must be recognized and requesting the next legislature to "give this great question careful consideration with a view of submitting the proposition to a referendum vote when a reasonable public sentiment demands it."

Robert E. Fisher, of Bemidji, and Miss Zetta Mae Gillette last evening were married at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cass Gillette of Thief River Falls. Mr. Fisher is the agent at the Union depot in Bemidji and says that he and Mrs. Fisher expect to make their home in this city.

Thirkeld, president of Howard university, a negro institution at Washington, D. C., the eighth and last of the bishops or general superintendents. In addition the conference elected Dr. J. W. Robinson, formerly of Harlan, Iowa, but for twenty years a missionary in India, missionary bishop for southern Asia and re-elected four publishing agents of the church.

Indian Girl in Commission.

Captain Kelsey's Indian Girl will start its summer season tomorrow morning when it will make its first trip to the Warfield dam at 9 a. m. Each day during the summer, the Indian Girl will leave the city dock at 9 a. m. and 2 p. m. making the round trip to the dam each time. The schedule has been so arranged that picnic parties can go down in the morning and return about 5 p. m. or parties can go down in the afternoon and spend two hours at the dam. Fishing down river has been good this year and large strings of pike and rock bass are being caught daily. Captain Kelsey says that the Indian Girl will stop anywhere along the river to discharge or receive passengers.

Missouri women, supported by every woman's organization in the state, have entered upon a campaign for the ballot. Initiative petitions calling for the submission to the electors of a constitutional amendment to give women the right to vote for all city, county, state and federal offices in Missouri were placed in circulation last week, and reports to the headquarters of the suffrage association show that they are being signed at a rapid rate.

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, JUNE 2. PASTOR C. W. FOLEY.

Scripture—Matt. 6:1-18; Acts 2:1-11.

Hypocrisy and Sincerity.

Let it be noted first of all that these words were spoken to the children of God. Righteous acts, prayer, etc., are not privileges of those who are not children of God—Rom. 8:8 with Rom. 10:12-15 and 1 John 3:1, 2. The lesson taught in Matt. 6:1-18, is that of warning against ostentation, coveting admiration.

Time has wrought no change in humanity, save to develop the spirit, therefore the lesson is as timely as ever. Nothing requires such constant vigilance as the keeping of self in the background, and yet nothing is more important, since the presence of self completely annuls offered service. Read such as—Luke 14:11; Acts 20:17-21; 1 Cor. 15:9, 10; 1 Peter 5:5, 6; Romans the 12th chapter.

The first verse of Matthew 6th chapter contains the principle, and generalizes; therefore the word righteousness, or righteous acts is better than the word alms. Now that the principle has been laid down in this general way, we have specific applications made in a three-fold way.

The three things spoken of as righteous acts are alms giving, prayer, and fasting. All these are right engagements, but profit nothing when engaged in for self-aggrandizement. Such, however, is the admiration of men, but what an unsatisfactory reward that will prove to be at last. It is emphasized however, that that is the full extent of their reward.

We get the full force of the passage when we lay strong emphasis on the word have—they HAVE their reward." Darby says, "Perhaps one might say 'have got' in the same sense." In the testing time (1 Cor. 3:12-15) such works will not stand the fire, and the man shall suffer loss though he be not lost himself. There will be no reward then for him, he has had all he will ever get. How penurious the praise of man will appear then.

In this day of exploitation, for indeed it is such we live in, we have here a gracious and most wholesome lesson. Good deeds have a column in every newspaper and magazine; prayers are said, or more often read in every assembly, regardless of altitude toward the record which God hath given of His Son.

Man's pride is being pampered today so that the only wonder is that God does not hit it more crushing blows, send more ships to the bottom of the sea. These are days of impatience, men want to realize at once from their investment. Better to be patient unto the coming of the Lord—James 5:7, 8.

The Gift of the Holy Spirit.

This Pentecost lesson from Acts 2:1-11 is of great importance. Jesus said in John 14:16, "I will pray the Father, and He shall give you another Comforter." He comes to you now on the day of Pentecost.

The appropriateness of the Holy Spirit's coming at this time is not recognized, I believe, as is the appropriateness of Jesus' death at the Passover time, though it is equally so. Turn to the 23rd chapter of Leviticus and read the accounts of both the paschal and Pentecostal festivals. Note that each required an offering to the Lord from the harvest field, but they have marked difference.

At the Passover a sheaf was presented; at Pentecost, two loaves of bread. The sheaf was brought without a sin offering, the two loaves accompanied with one. The sheaf cut off typified Jesus who was cut off just as He grew, as a vicarious offering. He was sinless, the sin offering itself was He. The loaves which were offered on the day of Pentecost had leaven in them, which stood for sin, and does everywhere in Scripture.

These were typical of the 120 offered to God on the day of Pentecost. The loaves had leaven in them; the 120 had sin in them. A sin offering must be offered with the loaves; the 120 were sinners, and needed the mediating mercy of Jesus Christ. It is significant that these two occur together in Lev. 23rd chapter, since the antitypes belong together—Christ, the head, and the Church, the body—Col. 1:18; Eph. 1:22, 23.

The resurrection of the Head occurred on the first day of the week, so did the formation of the Body. In the light of this read the first verse literally—"And when the day of Pentecost was being fulfilled." It is plain now that there is but one Pentecost, and that is in the past. It is very confusing then to refer to revivals of the present day as a Pentecost. The Holy Spirit descended on that day and unified the body,

Many See "Miles Standish."

A packed house saw the grammar school pupils present "Miles Standish" last evening in the Armory. The pupils showed that they had been carefully trained and gave an excellent production. All of the drills were especially well executed but the Indian drill was especially well received.

Each of the principals took the part assigned in a highly satisfactory manner. The drills were well executed and the pupils taking those parts showed the results of careful work. Those who had charge of the drills were Miss Murray, Indian; Miss Hall, Indian; Miss McGillan, mountain march; Miss Parker, witches; and Miss Lyon, gun. Miss Backus coached the play.

The Men's Equal Suffrage league of New York, which formed a conspicuous part of the recent suffrage parade, numbers among its members some of the most prominent men of the state, including politicians, lawyers, college professors, philanthropists, clergymen, editors and financiers. It has local branches in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Albany and other cities, and has been carrying on active organization for the last two years.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN TONIGHT

Complete with Little Eva, Uncle Tom, Aunt Ophelia, Topsy, and Simon Legree, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will show in Bemidji this evening. Early in the morning the show people started putting up their tents and by noon the grounds took on a real circus appearance. The story of Uncle Tom and his many sufferings is one that seems never to grow old to the American public.

Gave a Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise was tendered Mrs. D. A. McFarlane yesterday afternoon by Mrs. C. E. Battles. Mrs. McFarlane was invited to the Battles' home for a quiet afternoon and a short time after arriving there was surprised by members of the Presbyterian Ladies Aid and a few friends who had come for the afternoon. The afternoon was spent socially and about 5 o'clock the members of the Aid served a dainty lunch. Mrs. McFarlane was presented with a silver berry spoon by the members of the Aid and a souvenir spoon of Bemidji by the other friends. Those present were Mesdames D. A. McFarlane, George Markham, J. F. Essler, A. A. Warfield, H. Koors, R. Brownlee, J. Congor, F. M. Pendergast, K. K. McIver, J. J. Opsahl, S. A. Collard, H. K. Olson and A. A. Lord. Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane will leave on Thursday for Duluth where they will visit a few weeks before going on to California where they plan to make their future home.

New Streets Being Cut.

Carl L. Hefron, owner of the property from Fourth street to Fourteenth street west of the residence section of the city, has a force of men busy clearing a portion of this land and cutting out streets. In the near future he contemplates putting it on the market for building lots. It has been the general impression that the property is low and swampy. This may be true of a small stretch between the tracks and Fifth street, but on to the grounds beyond Fifth street the land is high and dry and the ditches recently constructed have drained this property so that it is apparently suitable for building purposes.

There is a continual flow of water in this ditch, which is about four feet deep. From the old bank of Lake Irvine between Fourth and Fifth streets, the land begins to rise and continues north to Fourteenth street, thus giving a good fall of water.

New Suffragan Bishop.

Minneapolis, May 25.—By a total vote of 139 to 46, Dean F. A. McElwain of the Faribault cathedral was elected late Friday suffragan bishop of the Minnesota diocese of the Episcopal church to aid Bishop Samuel C. Edsall. The Rev. C. E. Haupt of Minneapolis was Dean McElwain's opponent in the balloting.

The recommendation of the committee of fifteen that a suffragan bishop be elected to assist Bishop Edsall, was carried at a session earlier in the day by a vote of 148 to 73, after a hard fight, in which the election of a roadjumper bishop was proposed and also the division of the diocese, both of which plans were rejected.

Mr. McElwain is known as one of the youngest men in the diocese, and has been at Faribault for one year. He is a graduate of Trinity college at Hartford.
