Bemidji The Goal

On next Thursday and Friday the Northern Minnesota Development association meets at Bemidji. It is booked for a lively meeting. Subjects not on the program are expected to be considered. Among these are the holding up of the last allotment of the federal swamp land grant, action on the appointment of a state efficiency commission, and the program for future meetings.

The federal authorities based their action as to the swamp lands on a letter written by the president and secretary of the association which was taken as representing formal action of the association. No such action had been taken as no meeting had been held. But endorsement, it is understood will be asked at Bemidji, and in the opinion of the News Tribune, it should be given.

The movement for the reorganization of the state's administrative system had its origin in Duluth. It was discussed and endorsed by the association at the Brainerd meeting, this giving it its first strong support which called it generally to public attention. This subject is apt to be considered, and should be, at Bemidji, as the call of the association.

There is also a feeling that future meetings should have a carefully prepared and fully correlated program; that there should be papers, demonstration and exhibits dealing with Northern Minnesota settlement problems, something of immediate value to the settlers now here, and that abundant time should be given to each subject considered at any meeting.

These subjects of themselves would make an interesting and worthwhile meeting. While the program itself is a long one, and may crowd them out, these are the ones that will attract a large attendance at Bemidji.

The association has been of immense value to this part of the state. It will continue to be of value and so far we know there is no difference of feeling among all those who have been its most loyal promoters as to the future. All will agree on any program decided upon and as Bemidji gave the association birth, it will be Bemidji that will inject into it new life and more direct activity.—Duluth Tribune.

What Might Be Done.
What might be done if men were wise—
What glorious deeds, my suffering brother—

Would they unite
In love and right
And cease their scorn of one another!
Oppression's heart might be imbued
With kindling drops of loving kindness,
And knowledge pour
From shore to shore
Light on the eyes of mental blindness.

All slavery, warfare, lies and wrongs,
All vice and crime, might die together,
And wine and corn,
To each man born,
Be free as warmth in summer weather.

The meanest wretch that ever trod,
The deepest sunk in guilt and sorrow,
Might stand erect
In self respect
And share the teeming world tomorrow.

What might be done? This might be done
And more than this, my suffering brother—
More than the tongue
Ever said or sung,
If men were wise and loved each other.
—Charles Mackey.

A Confession.
"My wife refused to recite the usual speeches in the marriage ceremony," said the worried looking man.
"That showed originality."
"Yes. But it hasn't prevented her from allowing the lawyer to use the customary phraseology in applying for alimony."—Washington Star.

TWENTY-FOUR DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

The Last Month of the Year Is Here.
Tempting Fruit to Eat the Band.

MONEY PROBLEM IS CHIEF TOPIC

Finances Troubling National Suffrage Convention.

OPPOSITION TO REPORT

Committee Will Recommend an Increase in Amount of Per Capita Collected and Some of the Larger State Organizations Will Fight the Plan.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Financial affairs of the National American Woman Suffrage association form the chief topic of discussion at the forty-fifth annual convention of the association which began here in connection with the sessions of the National College Women's Suffrage association and the suffrage school to be conducted by the congressional union.

The association's financial affairs will be brought formally to the attention of the convention on Tuesday when a committee will present an amendment to the constitution to provide an additional tax upon the budgets of the constituent organizations. The members of these organizations already are taxed 10 cents annually for the support of the national body.

It is estimated more than 1,000 accredited delegates and alternates will attend the sessions.

Will Oppose the Report.
The first real business session began Tuesday morning with the presentation of the report of the committee that framed the financial amendment to the association's constitution. Already there have been expressed a variety of opinions on the advisability of adopting the amendment, especially among the membership of the larger state organizations and the great independent bodies which only within the last year or two finally became affiliated with the national association.

The independent bodies contend that as they are large and collect large sums for the advancement of the suffrage cause their tax for the support of the national body will be out of proportion.

On the other hand the national officers contend that the new financial scheme is made necessary if the national body is to push forward the campaign for universal suffrage in this country. They declare that the 10 cents a member tax is not commensurate with the dignity of the national body nor the cause that it represents.

President's Message Tuesday.
Washington, Dec. 1.—Congressional leaders agreed upon a joint session of the house and the senate at 3 p. m. Tuesday, at which President Wilson will read in person his annual message.

British Admiral Awaits Orders From American.

WASHINGTON IS PLEASED

Act of English Naval Officer in Mexican Waters Taken as Fresh Evidence of Friendly Feeling Between the Two Nations—No New Developments in the Mexican Situation.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Although Rear Admiral Cradock, commanding the British ships in Mexican waters, ranks Rear Admiral Fletcher by virtue of seniority, the British commander has notified the American admiral that he wishes to subordinate himself to co-operating with the United States forces. This fresh evidence of friendly feeling and hearty co-operation was received here with manifest gratification.

Any developments in the Mexican situation seemed to be moving under the surface; there appeared to be no change in the diplomatic situation and no indication that the American government was deviating from its attitude of careful watching and patient waiting for the elimination of Huerta.

All officials in immediate charge of the situation were away from the capital.
Rear Admiral Cradock has been advised by Rear Admiral Fletcher of the extent of the plans adopted by the American commander to safeguard British as well as American interests at Tampico and at Tuxtepec. The action of the British admiral in sailing away from Tampico is taken as evidence that he was satisfied with the adequacy of these plans.
