One good result has been caused by the opposition which has been made to the Elwell law by certain members of the legislature, anyway, for there are hundreds of persons in Minnesota who had regarded it as unnecessary and of little benefit who are not fighting that it may be kept upon the statutes. Roads are absolutely necessary for northern Minnesota's advance and by use of the Elwell law telling results have already been secured. By all means let law remain, unless, as we have before said, it can be improved upon by amendment and further legislation.

A proposition carrying much merit and what is in effect the taxation of state lands for local development is proposed in a bill introduced in the senate yesterday morning by Senator P. H. McGarry of Walker. It provides that in counties having more than 5,000 acres of state lands now paying nothing toward local improvements, the equivalent of five cents an acre shall be spent in firebreaks for the protection of state timber, the work to be done under the joint direction of the state highway commission and the forestry bureau, and the fire-brakes to be practical for road purposes. An appropriation of $112,500 annually is carried.

The Immigration Department. Talk of abolishing the state immigration department on the ground that it is of benefit to land dealers and real estate men only does not sink very deep. During its existence the department has advertised Minnesota in many states and by its efforts hundreds of settlers have been brought to Minnesota, many of whom are now substantial farmers here. Does the purchase of land in the state and the locating of farmers here bring benefit to land men only? How can those who oppose the immigration board answer this question. Every community is benefited by the influx of settlers and its merchants and business men in general are the gainers, not merely the land men.

Charles T. Kelley, of Menasha, president of the Northern Minnesota Development association, is spending much time at St. Paul and is doing all in his power to oppose the abolishing of the department. In speaking of the matter, Mr. Kelley said: "I do not believe there is one valid reason why this department should not be supported loyally, and instead of cutting off its appropriation for advertising, I am confident that the state would be many times the gainer should the appropriation be doubled for this purpose."

"During the past four years the advertising which has been done in the interest of Minnesota by this department and other agencies has increased the immigration fourfold over the previous four-year period. During 1914 there were more cars containing immigrant movables consigned to Minnesota points than to Canada and all the western state combined. Are those who are opposing the continuance of this department aware that there are several million acres of virgin soil in Minnesota waiting the homeseeker, and more millions of acres of partly improved farms where rural delivery routes, rural telephone lines, good roads, schools and markets are now available to the settler?"

EDITORIAL EXPLOSIONS A bill has been introduced in the legislature to restore capital punishment. There are cases where the death penalty is justifiable, but the state is getting along fairly well without it.—Fergus Falls Journal.

It'll take something more than the cry, "Out with the Democrats" to land a Republican in the White House two years from the 4th day of this coming March. A candidate who stands for something (not including standpatism) is the first essential.—Luverne Journal.

Northern Minnesota does not want to see the Elwell road law repealed as is proposed by pending legislation at St. Paul. The Elwell road law was one of the most progressive development measures ever put in the statute books as it affected the northern section of this state. It permitted of highway construction and financing under a fair plan and afforded an opportunity for the state to financially assist in its own up-building through the construction of more and better highways.—Virginia Enterprise.

A "blue sky" bill has already made its appearance in the state legislature and it is hoped it will become a law because such a law is needed in Minnesota. A similar bill was up at the session two years ago, but it was killed by the friends of those who believe, or profess to, that it is just and honest to take people's money without giving them anything in return. There are such people, you know, and they sometimes set into the state legislature. The object of the "blue sky" bill is to head off the sale of worthless stocks and bonds of all kinds, and to make it a criminal offense to misrepresent anything for the purpose of gain—it would make every man do business in Minnesota on the square. Minnesota has been a veritable Mecca for the swindler, and the harvest has been rich.—Hibbing Mesaba Ore.

TO PLACE MONUMENT FOR LUDOMILA ALEXINSKY Petrograd.—(By Mail to New York).—A popular subscription is being raised in Odessa for a suitable monument to the remarkable heroism of Mile. Ludomila Alexinsky, of the Red Cross.

In the battle of Gunbinnen in August, while helping to carry a wounded man out of the line of fire she was hit by a bullet in the hand. Immediately after her recovery she was transferred to the army in Galicia where she was present in three battles, during one of which she was under fire for 17 hours.

On another occasion a doctor whom she was assisting was killed by a shell, his body being blown against Mile. Alexinsky with such force that she was stunned. After a brief rest she was again returned to the front and helped to succor the numerous German wounded left behind at Raggow.

Later she went to South Poland and at the storming of Petrokov she was again wounded, this time in the shoulder. Blood-poisoning ensued and she died in great agony. Mile. Alexinsky was the seven-teenth Russian Red Cross nurse either killed in battle or died of wounds.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of his literary career was spent by A. L. Kuprin, one of Russia's most popular authors, in the trenches along the Vistula. It was while a pupil of the Moscow Military school that Kuprin began his activities as a short-hand writer. His first attempt nearly resulted in his expulsion from the school, the director finally consenting to his continuing his studies only on condition that he relinquish the idea of becoming an author. "It is much harder to be an efficient offer than a mere writer," observed the director. Kuprin was graduated with the rank of lieutenant, but resigned shortly afterwards. He enlisted in the army again at the outbreak of hostilities with Germany.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urines is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water seals and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for rheumatism, meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

Oil Treatment for Stomach Troubles A simple prescription made up of a combination of pure vegetable oils is producing wonderful results for sufferers from stomach, liver and intestinal troubles. The remedy, which is said to have originated in France, where it has been used for years by the peasantry, was introduced into this country by George H. Mayr, a leading Chicago druggist, who cured himself of severe stomach, liver and intestinal troubles by its use. Those who have used it say the first dose is sufficient to convince any one of its remarkable merit, and that within twenty-four hours the sufferer feels like a new person. This medicine, which has become known as Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, is sold by leading druggists everywhere, with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

THE object in making Ivory Soap is to produce the finest soap in the world, that is, soap containing no free alkali, no free oil, mild, pure, pleasing, perfect.

To this end the finest vegetable oils are imported from abroad, and the greatest care is used in manufacture.

The result is a pure, white, sweet-smelling, floating cake that cannot harm the skin of a baby and that leaves any skin scrupulously clean.
