GIBBONS AND PACEY A DRAW

Mike Gibbons and Pacey McFarland fought to a draw in a ten round contest before the greatest assemblage that ever gathered in America to witness a bout of any description at Brighton Beach, N. Y., Saturday night.

J. H. Ritchie of the Minneapolis Journal calls the fight a draw but states that if there was a margin of credit it belonged to Gibbons. The United Press gives the fight to McFarland, the Associated Press to Gibbons, The New York World to McFarland, The New York Times calls the battle a draw, the New York Herald to McFarland, The New York Sun to McFarland, the New York Telegraph a draw, the New York American a draw, the New York Tribune to Gibbons, the New York Press to McFarland, the Staats Zietung to Gibbons which according to the New York views gives five paper decisions to McFarland, three for Gibbons and three a draw.

GIANTS ARE BIG FAILURE

The New York Giants will probably go down as the biggest failure of the weird baseball season of 1915. The New York club is admittedly the highest salaried one in the National league and has the most "paper strength" of any with the possible exception of the Braves.

The Giants have not had much hard luck as hard luck goes—accidents and the like. True, they have had bad luck but Manager McGraw has won pennants in the face of far heavier odds than he has had to face this season.

McGraw freely blames his pitchers and it seems that he is justified.

"The National league has seen the rottenest umpiring in its history this season," said McGraw in an interview recently. "With a fair break in umpiring, the Giants might have finished better."

ARABIC INCIDENTS WILL CONTINUE?

Washington, Sept. 13.—It is stated on good authority that Ambassador Bernstorff will tell the state department in a conference this afternoon that such incidents as the Arabic will continue to occur until England disavows the orders to their commanders of merchantmen to ram submarines on all occasions. It is reported that Bernstorff will tell Secretary Lansing that no one in Germany believes that the United States is neutral and that if this country wants to prove that it is neutral it will have to take up the issue with London. The lack of confidence, according to the ambassador, is a great obstacle.
