W. B. Stewart, County Supt. of Schools, announces Local Institutions With Government.

TO BE INVITED BY AND N. S. SCHOOLS

Lists to Be Secured and Immigrants Will Be Asked to Become Educated; Means Better America.

School teachers in Beltrami county will conduct day and night schools for immigrants, according to an announcement made today by W. B. Stewart, county superintendent of schools.

Many Do Not Speak English.

In making the announcement Mr. Stewart said:

"Government reports show that there are 2,953,011 foreign born in the United States ten years of age and up to 15 years who are unable to read the English language. Also that there are 2,896,696 from the ages of 15 years and over, who cannot be forced to an education by the compulsory education acts, who are non-English speaking.

To Educate Foreigners.

"A society in New York known as the National Americanization committee has co-operated with the United States Bureau of Education in securing interest in regard to educating the foreigners in the public schools. The United States bureau has had large posters printed asking the foreigners to come to schools which will be opened in every district in all the states. All rural and city schools have been asked to co-operate with the government by opening the schools.

To Advise Superintendents.

"The government department will advise the heads of the county schools of any immigrants who are locating in their county. In turn the superintendents will ask the teachers to locate the immigrants in their respective territory and ask them to come to the day school or arrange to take individual instruction at a night school. Of course, if night schools are established the teacher will be paid accordingly.

To Become Active.

"Beltrami county is going to become very active in this campaign to educate the foreigner. I have received 100 large posters which will be posted at various places in the county. The posters are printed in several foreign languages and advise the foreigner to make himself known at the schools. We realize that a better education will give the foreigner better opportunities, better homes, better jobs, better chance for their children and a better America."

CANADA WAR CRAZY, SAYS BEMIDJI MAN

Charles Nangle Returns With Daughter From Visit to Old Home; Says Much Patriotism Displayed.

"Canada is war crazy." This was the remark made this morning by Charles Nangle of the Nangle department store who returned last evening from a visit to his former home in Canada with his daughter, Claire. Mr. Nangle visited at Lucan, London, Toronto and other points.

Believe They Will Win.

"I never saw such enthusiasm in all my life as is being shown over there," he said this morning. Everybody is talking war and everyone is of the opinion that their side will win. They all say that they will fight to the last man and they show enthusiasm enough to make their statements certain. Mothers are proud of sending their sons to the war and express themselves of being sorry that they have not more to send.

5,000 in Training.

"At London we saw over 5,000 men in training. My daughter attempted to take several snap shots but she was warned that it was against the rules and that she would not be allowed to take them.

Land Seems Cheaper.

"Land in Canada, if anything, is becoming cheaper, at least at my old home at Lucan land is as cheap as when I left there in 1892. Beef and pork are very high priced, eggs sell for 25 cents a dozen, potatoes one dollar a bushel and butter sells for 38 cents a pound. The farmers are making money and the majority of them in the territory that I have visited are going into the cattle business."

Mr. Nangle and his daughter left Bemidji on their trip, September 30.

T. L. Shevlin of Crookston Lumber Co. Has Big Life Insurance

Thomas L. Shevlin of Minneapolis, 32 years of age, former Yale athlete, and president of the Shevlin company, Shevlin-Carpenter-Clarke company here, has insured his life for $1,000,000. Mr. Shevlin already carried life insurance of $500,000.

The closing today of the details for the $1,000,000 policy, which makes the total carried by him $1,500,000, puts Mr. Shevlin in first place in the United States, if not in the world, for a man of his age, in amount of life insurance carried.

Seven Others in United States.

Mr. Shevlin now is one of eight men in the United States who carry life insurance of $1,500,000 or more. There are 80 men in the United States, each of whom carries $500,000 or more.

Since the death of Frank H. Peavey, several years ago, there has been no citizen of Minnesota whose life was insured for as much as $1,000,000. Of the 80 men in the United States who individually carry $500,000 or more of life insurance, 14 are residents of Minnesota and 11 reside in Minneapolis. The writing of the $1,000,000 Shevlin policy puts Minneapolis, in life insurance, in the class with New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, where notably large individual policies have in recent years been written.

Four Agents Share Commission.

Byron H. Timberlake of the Providence Life & Trust company, the Prudential Insurance Company of America, and the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York; Lorin Hoyd, general agent of the Home Life Insurance company, New York; Telford K. Thompson of the Aetna Life Insurance company, Hartford, and W. Meade Robinson of the New England Mutual Life Insurance company, Boston, handled the business.

How Total is Divided.

The $1,000,000 total is divided as follows:
Aetna Life $150,000
Equitable Life 50,000
Mutual Life 100,000
Prudential Life 50,000
Home Life 150,000
New England Life 50,000
Travelers 200,000
New York Life 200,000
Massachusetts Mutual 50,000
Mr. Shevlin was declared a perfect physical risk. The insurance was taken because of Mr. Shevlin's prominence as a factor in the large business enterprises of the Shevlin-Carpenter-Clarke interests.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—C. B. Buckman, candidate for the Republican congressional nomination in the Sixth district, was at the Merchants hotel recently.

"It doesn't make any difference how many candidates are in the field. I shall make my own campaign and let them make their own," said Mr. Buckman.

"I have been through a good many hot political campaigns, but I have never yet abused or criticized an opponent, and I do not intend to do so in this campaign."

WIRELESS LINE MAY EXTEND TO TOKIO

John Doe May Sit in Office in Bemidji and Talk to Japanese; Connections Are Easy.

THIS IS THE WAY TO SIT IN NEW YORK AND THINK IN FRISCO

"Hello! San Francisco Bureau of the United Press?"

"Yes."

"Well, this is the New York office; Red Letter Editor speaking."

"Why, how-do-you-do, New York. What's on your mind?"

"We want a story, quick, about Cart, inventor of the wireless telephone that carries voices from Washington to Hawaii."

"I'll mail it tomorrow."

"Fine. Goodbye, San Fran."

"Goodbye, New York."

Note—The above assignment actually was given by phone from New York to San Francisco, over the lines of the American Telephone & Telegraph company. And here's the story.—Editor.

By C. D. Groat.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—J. J. Cart, A. T. & T. chief engineer, dreamer of dreams that come true (he perfected the wireless phone through which Washington officials recently talked 5,000 miles from the capitol to Hawaii, and with which the human voice may some day circle the globe, you know), was in San Francisco today the Red Letter Editor phoned his assignment to me from New York.

Accordingly, I found Mr. Cart and he told me something of his dreams for wireless telephony.

May Ring Tokio.

Some day, he opined, Bill Smith may sit in his office in New York, Chicago, Seattle or San Francisco, ring up across the continent on the wire and be connected with the wireless telephone to Tokio.

From New York, that is about 8,000 miles.

But, Bill Smith won't be able to use a wireless telephone to talk to Tom Jones down in another office building in the same town. The wireless isn't meant for that, and it won't supplant the telephone or the wireless telegraph.

The little man with the black hair, just tingling with gray, and the sharp black eyes peering out from under shaggy eyebrows, sat in the temporary office of the A. T. & T. Co., here and discussed his dreams of talking across the continent and thence to Hawaii, which had just come true.

Not Any Pocket Phones.

He personally has made wireless telephony a commercial possibility, but it was of his company that he spoke—scarcely ever, "I."

"We don't expect that there'll be such a thing as carrying a pocket phone around and connecting up with anybody anywhere in the world," he said.

"What we expect, though is that the wireless telephone will be available for ships, and particularly for small craft, so that one may talk to the other or to the shore."

"It is easier to talk wirelessly over water than over land, and while we have talked across the continent, we think the practical outcome will be that the man, say in New York, will talk across the continent by wire and be connected with the wireless. I think it will be possible for him in this way to talk to Tokio."

Very Easy to Talk.

"The real development we expect, however, to be on ships."

"You see it's very easy to talk across the country now," he said, putting up a connection between the United Press offices in New York and San Francisco for the correspondent.

It was very easy. Just like talking through an open door to a man in the hallway.

That, however, will be stretched

WIDOW DEFENDS HOME AGAINST DEPUTIES

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 16.—Mrs. Sarah Bigelow, 47, a widow, armed and barricaded, is defending her home against deputies who are attempting to foreclose a mortgage.

out so that it spans lands and the oceans. The feat accomplished in talking from New York to San Francisco and Hawaii, he pointed out, makes it a certainty that one may talk to Europe.

There are three main reasons, as Cart explained it, why wireless telephony cannot come into general use, that is, supplant the usual commercial telephone:

First, a great roar that spreads through the ether and transfers to the wireless set; second, the lack of secrecy; and third, the inability to spread so many communications on one "line" as can be done with the wire system.

Are Interruptions.

The roar he expects will be overcome to some extent. He has found he can hear clearly in talking to New York, but there are static interruptions. He is now working to smooth out his difficulty also on completing the system of response.

On his original tests there was transmission in only one direction, but Cart is now working out both sending and receiving instruments.

Carty has other big ideas back of those keen black eyes. But he isn't telling them.

"You know, Mr. Vail's orders are to do it and talk about it afterward," he said.

"What do you think will be the next great achievement in science?" he was asked.

"I wonder," he mused. "Science has made great steps, hasn't it?"
